World Is Better, Says Welfare Chief.

"Socially, morally and physically the world is better than it was," said Dr. John A. Lapp in addressing a luncheon gathering at the Hotel Fontenelle. Dr. Lapp was introduced by Mrs. A. V. Kinsler, president of the Christ Child society, under whose auspices he is speaking here. Not only is the speaker head of the National Catholic Welfare association, but his name is well known for special service surveys of Toronto, Des Moines, Chicago and other cities, and as head of the Indianapolis legislative reference bureau.

"If I had gone to sleep 10 years ago and awakened today in a social service gathering, I wouldn't know what the speakers were talking about. We had scarcely thought of mental problems at that time."

"In the 'good old days' people were twice as unhealthy as they are now. From 19.8 per 1,000 20 years ago, the death rate has been lowered to 11.8. Taking the country as a whole, this means that 885,000 were saved, who would otherwise have died last year. Of this number, 250,000 were babies."

Speaking of the Chicago community chest, Dr. Lapp said that it takes $50,000,000 a year to pay the bills for Chicago's social work. "Where would a business of such vastness be conducted without a thorough-going plan?"

Chicago is a city of 3,000,000 people. It is a rich city. How many people in the city do you suppose give $2 or more to social work? There are 100,000 people there giving as much as $2 to any single agency, and 87-1/2 per cent of the givers contribute to only one agency of the 230 in the city.

"A budget is not scientific when it costs from $600,000 to $1,000,000 to raise $6,000,000, which is the case in Chicago."

"Twenty-five million people, approximately one-half of all citizens qualified to vote, did not go to the polls at the last election, the supreme election of modern times. Some of this number were in institutions, others were ill or disabled, and others were women just granted the suffrage, who could not be expected to become animated in their first few months of enfranchisement. This means, however, that a greater opportunity is given those who do vote."

"I believe we can accomplish more through legislation than in any other way."

Dr. Lapp spoke last night on the topic, "Social Optimism," developing the same lines as in his speech at noon, and discussing the general problems of social organization. He talked in the afternoon on "Health" to the nurses at St. Joseph and St. Katharine hospitals.

Eastern Star Officers

Mrs. Ida Bumstead and Mrs. Charles R. Kalm.

Other state officers from outside Omaha, who were present for the occasion, include Clendene W. Mitchell, associate grand patron, Chadron; Mrs. Bessie M. Mickey, Osceola, associate grand patron; Mrs. Augusta Baer, Lincoln, grand chaplain; James C. Robinson, Waterloo, grand marshal; George S. Dunlap, Lincoln.

Adele Garrison "My Husband's Love"

Mrs. Bird Showed She Knew How to Handle Children.

With the exception of Roderick, who shrank a bit closer to me, the three Harrison children turned questioning but eager eyes upon me at Mrs. Bird's invitation to go into her kitchen and sample her sugar cookies while I attended to driving the car inside. It was but another instance of their dead mother's rigid training, which despite its lack of the human mothering touch they so sorely needed, yet had produced several admirable results. One of these was caution as they now opened for me there would be no danger of any one of the four being enticed away by a stranger. Palpably they were all attracted by the program so invitingly place behind the wheel. "Shall I open the gates?"

"Please," I replied. "I'll back right along here until I get to them."

"Road all clear behind," he said with a quick sweeping glance. "Not even a stray bicycle nor a pedestrian."

I backed and turned toward the gate, but before I had passed through it, I heard the exhaust of a motorcycle, and a traffic officer passed us, slowing up perceptibly as he did so. He did not stop, however, and when Edwin had closed the gates behind me and jumped upon the running board of the car which I held waiting for him, the putt-putt of the officer's cycle was dying away down the street.

"Did he—look us over—as if—I faltered.

"He looked searchingly at the car, certainly," Edwin replied gravely. "That is, he looked at the license plate. But that does not mean anything. He probably has been given the number of some speeding car which had caused an accident and is looking for it."

The explanation was a most plausible one, and I tried to think no more of the incident. But while I achieved an outward calmness of demeanor when, after putting the car in the garage, I ushered Edwin and Harriet into the house, my nerves felt as if they were banjo strings which some rough, inexperienced hand was twanging furiously.

Roderick on a Rampage.

The outside door was not locked indeed, it was a trifle ajar, and knowing that Mrs. Bird was busy with the children in the kitchen I did not wait to knock, but pushed the door open and entered. As we did so, we heard a sound of yelling from the kitchen—Roderick's voice, and Harriet started toward the sound, but I put a restraining hand upon her arm. I had seen Mrs. Bird and she had not, and I fancied the little woman might have her methods of dealing with a recalcitrant.

"My auntie said I might slide down stairs and jump, and I'm going to right now, you nassy old sing," he shrieked.

Mrs. Bird's voice sounded with crisp pleasantness.

"Mary—is that your name? Will you please go to that lower shelf and hand me down a new cake of soap? No, little boy, it isn't any use to kick. You can't reach me, and you are going to sit right here until I let you up."

There was a tense silence in the kitchen, and Edwin, Harriet and I looked at each other in amazement. There was more than amazement in Harriet's eyes, however—a resentful flash, which I knew expressed her objection to anyone but herself disciplining the small nephew who needed control so badly.

"Surely she won't dare," she whispered, but Mrs. Bird's voice sounded clearly, determinedly again.

"Now, Roderick, do you see this soap? I never permit a child in my house to call me names or to scream for things as you have just done. If you do it once again, I shall wash your mouth out with the soap. If you will sit still on the chair and be quiet until your auntie comes back, I will stop holding you down. Now what are you going to do?"

Distinguished Visitor.

Dr. W. P. Wherry will be host at a smoker to be given Friday evening at his home honoring Dr. J. Parson Schaffer of Philadelphia. The 35 guests will attend the dinner given at the University club earlier in the evening.

No More Gray Hair
—Says Science

Wonderful Clean, Colorless Liquid Restores Original Color

Results in a Week
Science again has scored a triumph in the discovery of a very remarkable liquid known as Kolor-Bak. If you are gray, just apply this liquid to the hair and scalp and your hair will soon take on the actual color it had in the past. Not a trace of grayness will remain.

Kolor-Bak comes in the form of a clean, colorless liquid, containing properties which quickly restores the lost color to the hair and give it renewed vigor. And note that the one preparation is for all colors of hair. No special solution required for each color—no samples of hair required.

You will find also that with Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "dyed."

Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells (called follicles or papillae) in the scalp, because these cells have become inactive from illness, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is a proved substitute for the natural pigmentation.

For Dandruff, Itching Scalp and Falling Hair
Kolor-Bak also works wonders in the most persistent cases of dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, as it thoroughly cleanses the scalp and hair. Many who do not need it on account of grayness use it for its cleansing, tonic properties.

Is Age Controlled by Glands?
Dr. Serge Voronoff of France, famous physician and surgeon, who has devoted years to research and experimentation with glandular treatment, says: "A man is worth only as much as his glands."
Dr. Arnold Leland says in his book, "Old Age Deferred," in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions if changed by age and disease by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of healthy animals."
"The new scientific formula—Glandogen—embodies this method. Glandogen is a highly concentrated gland compound in convenient, compact tablet form which combines the important extracts of the vital glands of healthy young animals with other efficacious ingredients. Hundreds of keen-eyed men and women are today taking Glandogen."
