

Tariff Hike on Wheat by Coolidge Due

President Expects Report on Wheat Duty Today—Will Act Within 48 Hours.

By Associated Press.
Washington, March 1.—An increase in the tariff rates on wheat as a result of the tariff commission's investigation was forecast Friday at the White House.

The commission's conclusions are understood to show a difference in the production cost of wheat in Canada and in the United States greater than is represented in the present duty of 30 cents a bushel.

The president expects to act promptly, in accordance with the report of the commission, under the flexible provisions of the tariff act.

He probably will increase the duty to 45 cents, the maximum allowed under the law.

By P. C. POWELL, Washington Correspondent The Omaha Bee.
Washington, March 1.—Prompt action by President Coolidge on the wheat report of the United States tariff commission was promised Friday at the regular newspaper conference with the president at the White House.

The assertion was made positively in response to questioning that it was the understanding of the president that the report would reach the White House probably tomorrow and it would show an increased tariff was necessary.

An equally positive statement was issued to the effect that if the expected proof of the lower cost of production in Canada were shown in the report of the tariff commission that the president would issue the order immediately. In official circles in Washington it was stated that beyond doubt the order for a higher tariff would be issued within the next 48 hours at least.

First Farm Relief Measure.
Largely through the efforts of Senator R. B. Howell, the White House became busy Friday in ascertaining from the tariff commission if any delay was threatened in finishing the report. It was stated at the commission that the final checking of the report was under way last night and everything indicated it would be delivered to President Coolidge sometime today.

Co-Ed Beauty Contest Winner and Lincoln Man to Wed at Bluffs

Mildred Taylor, picked by James Montgomery Flagg last year as one of the six most beautiful girls in the University of Nebraska, and William Bates Grainger of Lincoln, will slip quietly across the Missouri this afternoon and be married in Council Bluffs. The pair will be accompanied by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. J. Grainger, and the Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks, who will perform the ceremony.

The young couple will leave tonight for a southern honeymoon. They will spend a short time in Florida, going later to Cuba and Jamaica. On their return to Florida, they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Russell of Sanford, Fla., on a yachting trip. They will make their home in Lincoln.

Forty guests will attend the dinner. Mr. Grainger is the son of one of Lincoln's most prominent families and is engaged with his father in business in Lincoln. He attended the University of Nebraska and the University of Michigan and is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

church building was dedicated March 2, 1919. It seats 300 persons, but is now already too small for the whole congregation.

For over a year two services, one in German and the other in English, have been conducted every Sunday morning to accommodate the worshippers.

The anniversary service begins on Sunday morning at 10. It will be a joint German-English service with sermons in both languages. In the evening at 6 the annual rally of the congregation will be held in the assembly room in the basement of the church, beginning with a supper, served by the women of the church. On Tuesday evening at 8:05 Pastor Titus Lang will broadcast a Lenten sermon from the Omaha Grain exchange broadcasting station. Such sermons will be broadcast every Tuesday during Lent by Lutheran pastors.

Every business man and executive, while he may not be interested in the detail and technique of accounting, must know how to interpret accounts and accounting instruments. Accounting as a managerial instrument will be the basis of this course. The significance of unit and departmental costs, cost findings, interpretation of financial and operating statements and their application to efficient management will be developed.

Economics deals with the production, distribution and exchange of goods and services, and as such it is the basic science of business. Every business man needs it, because it gives an insight into the structure and working of economic society, shows the relation of his particular business to the business world as a whole and helps him to survive by adapting himself to the changing times.

The study of economics is essential, also, to every citizen, as most public questions are economic in character. It enables him to form an intelligent opinion on public affairs and puts him on his guard against the fallacies which threaten the wealth and welfare of our country.

Correspondence is one of the greatest mediums through which business is carried on. Better letter writing means more successful business transactions. Credit, collection, and sales letters mean dollars to the business man. The results obtained are in direct proportion to the worth of the correspondence.

English will be considered in this course as a useful tool in everyday life. The fundamentals of the subject will be reviewed. Examples from daily speaking and writing will be used to illustrate every rule. Members of the class are invited to bring in questions for discussion and business letters for analysis and criticism.
