Mardi Gras Ruled by Muriel and Mogul

The queen of the Council Bluffs Mardi Gras will appear as the lady of the Muriel cigar advertisement, while the king will be the lordly gentlemen who attracts attention to Mogul fruit, it was learned yesterday.

Twenty-five women, led by Mrs. Franklin P. Wright were busy all day yesterday plastering the Council Bluffs auditorium with bills and posters and expected to have their task finished by this afternoon. They were directed by Edward B. Edwards, professional decorator, who volunteered his services to assist the Mardi Gras. The "billboard ball" idea is to be carried out in the decorations as well as the costumes, every inch of the ballroom being covered with advertisements ranging from the largest posters down to small handbills.

A rehearsal of the coronation ceremony, complete except for costumes, took place at the auditorium last night. Forty-seven persons will be on the stage when the coronation closes, including the may and the past sovereigns, the maids and attendants for both pairs of monarchs. Mrs. Alice Larenflight and Jackson R. Day, reigning king and queen, have assisted in planning and coaching for the details of this year's coronation.

The coronation will take place at 9 tonight, and no one will be allowed to enter the building during the ceremony. Guests and dancers are therefore urged to be present promptly.

Woman's Club Elects Quietly; Club House Postponed

Mrs. Philip Potter
President of Woman's Club

Deluged with a flood of propositions naming prices from $25,000 to more than $200,000. The committee asked for, and was granted, time to investigate thoroughly these new possibilities. Several properties near Central high school and others near Turner park are receiving favorable consideration.

Americanization work for immigrant women detained at Ellis Island was urged by Mrs. Philip Potter, chairman of the Americanization committee, in starting a movement to supply cloth and other articles to the detention rooms at the island.

Want Work for Women.

"Three hundred women of all nationalities, with nothing in the world to do, occupy this detention room every day," said Mrs. Potter. "They are kept for periods ranging from one day to three months. The children are sent to school, but the mothers can only hold their hands."

"Last November the woman's clubs of the country established a community store in this detention room, where cloth, yarn and boxes of sewing supplies were offered to the women. Each morning a long waiting line formed to get something upon which to work. Each morning the women at the end of the line were disappointed and turned away, often with tears; for there has never been enough material for everybody."

Omaha to Give Material.

Nebraska, said Mrs. Welch, has sent 20 boxes of remnants and sewing supplies, valued at about $400, to Ellis Island since November. The women turn the simplest materials into lovely clothing for their children with their bright embroidery in patterns characteristic of the nations from which they come.

Bags were passed out by Mrs. Welch and her committee, Mrs. W. A. Baldwin and Mrs. A. H. Clark, to be filled with sewing and knitting materials for this work and brought in at the next open meeting.

Drama League Program.

Miss Mary Irene Wallace, Omaha, will give a reading before the Drama League at its regular meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Burgess-Nash auditorium. Miss Wallace will read "Mary Goes First."

Adele Garrison "My Husband's Love"

Mrs. Bird Was Thorough in Her Cross-Examination.

My answer to Mrs. Bird's questions was prompt.

"Just as we were turning in at the gate a mounted policeman passed up and slowed down rather abruptly. He did not stop, but he looked searchingly at our license plate."

"Did he get your number?" Mrs. Bird queried crisply.

"My brother-in-law thought so," I replied.

"Of course he might have been looking for speeders who had escaped," she said thoughtfully.

"That is what Dr. Braithwaite said," I interposed.

"And then, again, he might not," she retorted, a trifle tartly. "Well, at any rate, I'll know by tonight whether or not there's any inquiry out for the children in police circles. I have a brother on the force. In the meantime—when does their ship sail?"

"Day after tomorrow."

"She made a clicking little noise with her teeth, expressive of extreme disapprobation."

"Too long a time to wait for this sort of thing," she commented. "Any special reason for taking this particular boat?"

"Don't misunderstand me," I said. "I do not think so," I returned. "I fancy Mrs. Underwood thought it was the earliest one they could get."

"Perhaps it is," she hedged instantly—Lillian's name evidently was an effective stop to criticism—but it will do no hurt to make a few inquiries and if there should be a chance to get passage on a ship leaving tomorrow or even tonight, I believe it would be a good thing to take it."

I suppose my face reflected my startled dismay at the unexpected which I thought must be behind her haste to get us off, for she shot a shrewd look at me.

"Don't misunderstand me," she said. "I haven't any special reason for fearing any interruption to your plans, but long experience in getting people out of tight places has made me wary of any unnecessary delay. Another thing. Have you anything to do—shopping for instance—before you sail?"

"I am not sailing," I explained, "but I had planned to take the children into the New York shops and provide them with suitable clothing for the trip. They were brought from home with insufficient outfits because of the haste in getting them away."

Her face darkened as I spoke, and when she replied her voice held crisp decision.

Another Shopping Ton.

"Mrs. Graham, I do not wish to dictate to you, but Mrs. Underwood has sent you to me, and expects me to put through the delicate business of getting you away from here. If I do it, I must have my own way—to speak plainly—about the movements of your party."

"Of course," I interposed hastily. "We have no other thought. I gather that you do not think it wise for the children to go to New York."

"Absolutely not," she returned. "They must not put their heads out. side their rooms until they go. Now—can you not get all the things they need without them?"

With a memory of the clothing I so recently had bought for the children across the road from the farm-house in order that their pretended flight might camouflage our real one, I reflected whimsically that when I finished with my present task I might set up a shopping bureau for distracted mothers. But aloud I only said gravely:

"Yes, I can provide everything needed in two or three hours' shopping."

Her eyes gave me their first approving look.

"Good," she commented. "There's a garage man I know who is absolutely safe in anything of this kind—Mrs. Underwood used to employ him—and I'll send him a message to come over here right after luncheon and take you to the city. He'll stay right on the job, take you anywhere, wait for you as long as you like, and bring you back here when you have finished. If I were in your place, I would look up the sailing lists very carefully this afternoon. And don't worry, I shall be strictly on the job here until you come back."

Says She Looks Twenty Years Younger

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not run off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."

Has No Substitute

There's no substitute for Kraft Cheese. You'll hear the same old bunkum, "just as good," "just the same as Kraft Cheese," etc., but that sort of talk means just what it always has meant; that you are going to get something different unless you insist upon having what you called for. Why accept the "just as good" when you can have the real thing?

Highland Park Endorses Mrs. W. R. Alvord.

Emphatic endorsement of the candidacy of Mrs. W. R. Alvord, Highland Park, Mich., for president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is contained in an open letter sent out by the Woman's club of the Detroit suburb which is the home of Mrs. Alvord.

The letter dwells especially on Mrs. Alvord's services to the five-year old Highland Park club, and is signed by Mrs. H. E. Wallace, president and Mrs. N. E. Schule, corresponding secretary. Among the candidate's achievements, it mentions her six years of service on the Highland Park board of education; her remarkable work on the town's recreation committee, and her assistance in organizing and establishing the Highland Park Woman's club.

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:

Gentlemen:

Your "Krumbed Bran" used by me as a cereal, has done more for me in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in the last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple. Yours truly, Arlington H. Carman, Patchogue, N. Y.

Mr. Carman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.

Kellogg's Bran STIMULATES the intestines. It cleans, sweeps and purifies them. It acts exactly as nature acts. And it is never necessary to increase the amount eaten. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief to the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. For Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be so effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's.

The wonderful, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran is exclusive. It is delicious—totally unlike ordinary bran. Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

His wife bakes biscuits that make him brag!

HOW his men friends stop-look-and-listen when Davis talks about the biscuits his wife makes. "Light? A thistle-down is heavy by comparison. Tasty? You think you are eating cake. All brown and gold, they make your mouth water to look at 'em. Come out to my house and I'll show you biscuits that are biscuits.

"How does she do it? Simple as A B C. Once she couldn't make a biscuit that would raise a smile on a shipwrecked sailor and then all of a sudden she got acquainted with Omar Wonder Flour. Since then, Oh Boy! Just as regular as the clock."

Omar Flour is the joyous wonder of all who use it. Home-made bread of Omar is a revelation in bread goodness. Cakes, pies, waffles, doughnuts, cookies, dumplings, gravies and cream sauces made with Omar Flour take on a flavor and a quality you never knew.

There's no patented process about Omar. The goodness comes from the wheat—selected spring and winter wheat, rich in gluten, from the world's finest wheatlands. How we make the Omar Flour is our only secret; the result is a fine good flavor that surpasses anything in flour you've ever known.

To know the pleasure of perfect baking, to know the satisfaction of always having things turn out perfectly—go to your grocer to-day and order Omar.
