"Vengeance Is Mine."
Bees, Whales and Storks.
One Rich City.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Friendly warning to big men inclined to injure business and scare little stockholders, in revenge for the senate oil investigation.

Don't do it. It won't pay you in the long run, and, besides, it is written, "Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves. Vengeance is Mine. I will repay, saith the Lord."

Public officials have had a warning, learned a lesson. Some will get more than a lesson. Valuable truths have come out, others are coming.

On the whole it's a small thing, which really doesn't amount to much more than catching little Willie telling a fib. No reason for breaking up the family. Send Willie to bed and let business go on.

There is always something wrong. This country has an embargo on bees, from everywhere except Canada. Europe is short of honey because different diseases have attacked baby bees.

There is even worse news about whales than about bees. Whales are not coming up from the south pole as they used to come, off Canada from their mouths, and proof of evolution, in the two little hip bones concealed in their fat carcasses—although they no longer use the legs to which those hip bones were once attached.

The whalebone doesn't matter, for ladies now go loose around the waist, as a rule. But the whaling industry is in bad shape and England is sending a ship to find what's the matter.

The storks, big, picturesque birds perching on their nests upon chimney tops of the peasants and city houses, become fewer in Germany each year. Old peasants say storks don't like the republic, and miss the kaiser. The truth probably is that they don't find enough to eat. However, the German babies keep coming.

All the news is not bad. New York city teaches us that this is a prosperous country, adopting a 1924 budget of $375,900,000. That's one city spending nearly as much as it took to run the national government in Tom Reed's most extravagant day. It is more money than the early fathers would have dreamed of.

Mr. Mellon, secretary of the Treasury, says the national debt has been reduced $933,000,000 in the last year, and $4,800,000,000 in four and one-half years. Your glorious country now owes $21,781,966,852. It takes a big, prosperous country to owe as much as that. And while we ought to pay off rapidly, we could owe five times that amount, and more, too, and not be bankrupt.

Victor Murdock of Kansas is presented as a third party candidate for the presidency. It isn't likely that a third party can win this time, unless perhaps with Henry Ford to pull it through. But it would be hard to find a better man than Victor Murdock, a radical more sincere, intelligent, insistent, reliable.

Fight Looms in Iowa G. O. P.

Endorsement of Brookhart for New Term Threatens Party Breach.

Des Moines, Ia., March 4.—Supporters of Senator Smith W. Brookhart here are insisting that the republican state convention go on record as favoring his re-nomination today and threatened to oppose any effort for an instructed delegation to the national convention for President Coolidge should their demands be ignored.

Approximately half of the county conventions instructed their delegates to the state convention to support President Coolidge, but few of them took any action on pledging support to a state ticket.

This brought a new phase to the convention and may result in a hot contest on the floor.

Senator A. B. Cummins was virtually agreed upon by both the "regular" and the "lost battalion" factions to be chairman of the Iowa delegation to the national convention. He is one of the four delegates at large agreed upon. The two factions are in dispute over the selection of the other three.

Victim of War May Lose Home

Compensation of Disabled Service Man Cut Without Reason.

For three years John F. Woolsey, 3225 North Thirty-sixth avenue, received $100 a month from the United States veterans' bureau.

Today the Omaha post of the American Legion discovered that his compensation had been cut to $32 a month for no apparent reason and that the ex-soldier was in danger of losing the home on which he is paying $20 a month.

Upon learning of Woolsey's predicament Si Wheeler, chairman of the legion's liaison committee, immediately took steps to file an appeal with the veterans' bureau.

Prior to the war Woolsey was a cooper. He enlisted and went to Camp Cody, where he suffered an accident which resulted in a serious injury to his head.

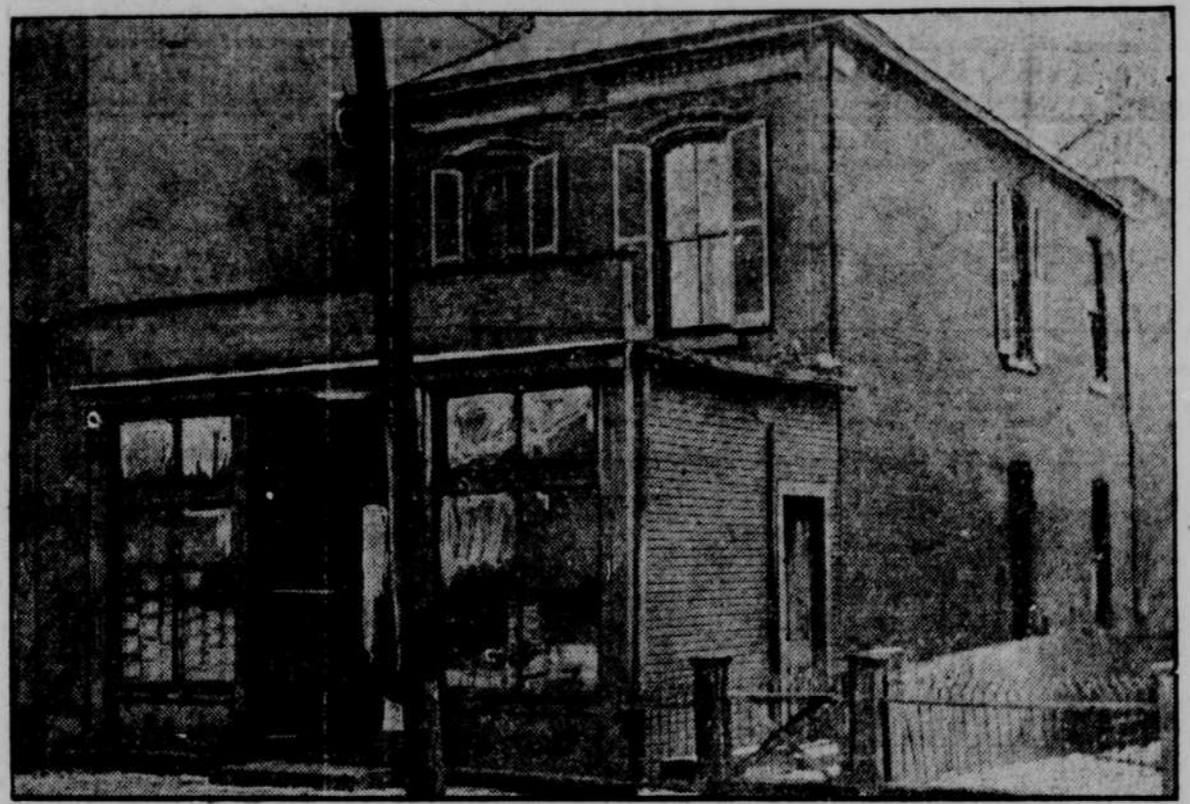

Injury Neglected.
Through neglect his injury was not treated and when he finally was sent to the hospital for examination it was discovered that he had suffered a partial paralysis that so affected his nervous system that he is unable to work and damaged his eyesight so that he is unable to read.

Woolsey has a wife and two children and is buying his home on monthly payments. His wife was only recently released from the hospital, where she underwent an operation, and he has a hospital and medical bill to pay.

Adjudged Disabled.
Three years ago Woolsey was adjudged disabled and allowed $100 a month. In addition he spent about half this time in government hospitals at St. Louis and Waukasha, Wis., but efforts to correct his illness met with failure.

"This is merely another example of how the United States veterans' bureau reduces compensation without reason," said Si Wheeler, chairman of the American Legion's liaison bureau. "Of course, this man will ultimately be restored to full compensation because he is plainly disabled, but it may take six or seven months, and how is a man with a wife and two children to live on $32 a month in the meantime? It means

House in Which Harry Sinclair, Oil Millionaire, Was Born

Benwood, W. Va.—Harry Sinclair, millionaire oil promoter, owner of the world renowned race horse, Zev, and one of the storm centers in the Teapot Dome tempest, has the added distinction of being a simon-pure product of that great American thoroughfare—Main street.

Sinclair was born August 6, 1876, in Benwood, W. Va., five miles south of Wheeling. He was the son of John Sinclair, an obscure and struggling druggist. The house in which he was born still stands at 718 Main street, a smoke blackened brick dwelling, rapidly falling into ruin.

The American Legion and Red Cross will have to provide for him, which we will do willingly enough."

House Votes Ship Body Probe

Washington, March 4.—A sweeping investigation of the shipping board was authorized today by the house.

After brief debate a resolution was adopted providing for appointment of a special committee to conduct the inquiry.

Four republicans and three democrats, to be designated by Speaker Gillett, will serve on the committee. The inquiry was proposed by Representative Davis of Tennessee, a democrat on the merchant marine committee.

Nebraska Pioneer Pneumonia Victim

Fred Thiering Worked for Sarpy County Mill for $8 a Month.

Fred Thiering, 89, a native of Germany, died Monday at his home at Fort Crook, Neb., after 10 days' illness from pneumonia. He was born at Holstein, Germany, March 23, 1835, and came to America in 1858. He married Miss Magdaline Gulck of Omaha in 1874.

On his arrival in America he went to St. Marys, Ia., where he secured work in the flour mill of Peter A. Sarpy, later being sent to Sarpy county, Neb., to cut wood for fuel for the mill. He received $8 a month, besides having to furnish his own supplies.

Boys Land.
He worked until Sarpy owed him $150, which Sarpy was unable to pay. Sarpy agreed to sell Thiering 160 acres of land for $300, $150 being for wages due and $150 cash. In order to secure the required $150 cash, Thiering and a neighbor friend, Mr. Zwiebel, hauled crushed rock from the Platte river to Omaha for the first pavement used between Sixteenth and Seventeenth on Farnam street.

After gaining possession of the farm, he sent for his mother and then built a log cabin, which still stands on the farm.

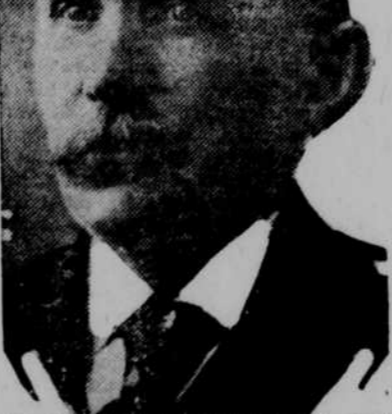

Children Survive.
Mr. Thiering is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Albert Stoltenberg and Mrs. Fred Schneckloth; two grandchildren and a brother, William, all of Fort Crook.

Funeral services will be held Thursday from the Union church and burial will be at Bailey cemetery.

Everybody has at least one favorite joke. That's the one to send to the Local Laf Editor, The Omaha Bee. It may be a prize winner.

Bossie Waives; Bound to Trial

Complains of Sore Chest; Bond Tangle Straightened Out.

Claude F. Bossie, former Omaha city clerk, appeared in municipal court Tuesday morning and waived preliminary hearing on a charge of embezzling more than $2,000 of the city coal fund.

He was bound over to district court and his bond fixed at $4,000.

Bond which was offered by Mrs. Nanzato Pirruccello, wife of Antonio Pirruccello, based on property in her name on the northwest corner of Seventh and Pierce streets, was refused by Municipal Judge Arthur Baldwin on the ground that it was improperly drawn with reference to coverage on the part of the wife, this clause having been left out of the bond form as originally printed.

Bertillon Record.
After waiving preliminary hearing, and before leaving the station, Bossie was taken to the police Bertillon department in charge of Lieut. A. C. Anderson, where he was photographed, measured and fingerprinted, for police records.

He offered no objection, according to Lieutenant Anderson.

The records give Bossie's height as five feet, 10 1/2 inches; weight, 134 pounds; medium complexion; gray eyes and dark brown hair.

He was born in Tenery, Cal. in the "occupation" blank he is listed as "ex-city clerk."

To Consult Physician.
Paul Garotto, Bossie's attorney, left the court room to prepare a new bond, for $5,000, in which Mrs. Pirruccello specifically waives coverage. This new bond was accepted, and Bossie was released.

Bossie appeared at police station chewing on an unlighted cigar. He again laughed and joked with former acquaintances, but complained of a sore chest. He said he planned to consult a physician after waiving hearing.

Mayor Signs Complaint.
Bossie was charged with embezzlement of $2,082.50, in a formal complaint signed late yesterday by Mayor Dahlman.

Seating himself in his great swivel chair the mayor gave a little sigh, reached to his lips a trifle and reached to take the document from Stahnaster. He glanced over it, asked a few questions and swung to face his desk. He picked up a pen, dipped it in the ink and motioned to Municipal Judge George Holmes to come in. Without hesitation he signed his name to the paper.

Judge Signs, Too.
The judge, after swearing the mayor or, signed as a witness.

Audit of Bossie's coal department books was not completed until 4:55 yesterday afternoon.

Appearing as cocomplainants with the mayor were the names of James Hector William Rooney and Otto Bauman.

Wife May Sign.
Property on which Bossie's bond is based is under Mrs. Pirruccello's name.

It originally belonged to Pirruccello, but was sold sometime ago, during the pending of a suit against him by Sebastiano Vinciguerra, husband of Louise Vinciguerra, growing out of a shooting.

Later the property was returned to the Pirruccello family, but the deed was made out to Mrs. Pirruccello.
