

Grand Jury to Probe Acts of U. S. Officials

Will Consider Not Only Bribery Charges on 2 Solons But Also Suggestions of Wrong-Doing at Capital.

Washington, March 5.—Not only the charges against two members of congress, but evidence relating to other suggestions of wrong doing by officials in Washington will be laid before a federal grand jury here immediately.

White House officials said today that all phases of evidence adduced recently by the Chicago jury and not passed on there because of lack of jurisdiction would be gone into by a grand jury here.

The subjects expected to come under inquiry involve charges that one or more high officials used official information for purposes of speculation; that liquor permits were wrongfully procured through use of money; and that officials' government files were turned over to persons not entitled to them.

For the present no official will discuss details of these charges nor discuss in what direction the inquiry may lead. The development has created a stir in official circles, however, second only to that which followed the oil disclosures.

President Coolidge announced last night that the charges against the two members of the house, involving acceptance of money in connection with the release of federal prisoners, would be thoroughly investigated by a grand jury. Prior to that the senate veterans' committee had held two sessions to consider the charges, and a resolution for an investigation had been introduced in the house.

John W. H. Crim, who was in charge of the Chicago investigation, has conferred with members of the senate and house, but he has declined to furnish them the names of those involved or any details, taking the position that the evidence requires further development before any of it can be divulged. It was developed incidentally at Chicago, in connection with the veterans' bureau inquiry which resulted in the indictment of Charles R. Forbes.

Mr. Crim also has reported to the White House, leaving to the president Coolidge the decision as to what action should be taken. Today's announcement was interpreted as an indication that the evidence is complete and that the senate and house would be expected to take action, regardless of who might be involved.

The investigation resolution introduced yesterday in the house by Democratic Leader Garrett was referred to the rules committee, and Chairman Small said today that no action would be taken on it for the present. He reached this decision after a conference with Mr. Crim.

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine. It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do. Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lousy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brains and "perk up" the spirits. Use and see.

Why March Is Most Dangerous

March is the most dangerous month of the year because the change of season is more than a good ordinary system can stand. Too often it is true that the sick "last only till spring." But if the system is fortified, if the impurities are driven from the blood, and the nerve tissue is served with wholesome and strength-giving pure food medicine, there is no danger in the change of seasons. Father John's Medicine is invaluable as a tonic in the spring. It strengthens the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter—builds up the body. It is this power that has made it so successful in treating colds and throat troubles. No weakening stimulants, morphine or other dangerous drugs.

Busy Musician

Louise Jansen Wylie

Lent, which brings some quiet to the society and club women, only stimulates the musicians to renewed activities. Among the busiest of Omaha's musicians is Louise Jansen Wylie, who is joint director with J. H. Simms of the vespers service held next Sunday, March 9, at 4:30 p. m., under the auspices of the American Guild of Organists, Nebraska chapter.

The Presbyterian choir, directed by Mrs. Wylie, and the All Saints Episcopal choir, directed by Mr. Simms, will appear with several prominent local organists. Mrs. Wylie will feature as soprano soloist with the choir in the motet, "Hear My Prayer," by Mendelssohn.

Mrs. Wylie also appeared as soloist, accompanied by a string orchestra in the concert of the Fortnightly club Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian church. She sang the finale of the program, an aria from "Der Freischutz," by Weber.

Suspicion Enemy to All Happiness

Dear Miss Allen: About one year ago I met a man with whom I fell in love at first sight. I am 20 and he is about 15 years my senior. At first my parents objected to my going with him, but after a while things straightened out. I knew him for some time when I went on my vacation with him. He treated me with the greatest respect and care. When I came home from my vacation my parents started to nag me to give him up, as he was too old for me. I was at a loss to know what to do. We had a quarrel and I left him. I have not seen him now for over six months, although he continues to call me up and write. I am sure he loves me, and I feel the same toward him. Do you think he really wants me because he loves me, or does he want me to go about with him again just to spite my family and forsake me? What causes your ugly suspicion? Why should this man want to win your love again merely in order to spite your people, and once having won it, why should he cast it aside? Don't be so melodramatic. You need not go searching around for all sorts of hidden motives. The man has shown a high type of regard for you, and has persisted in trying to win you in spite of all sorts of discouragement. If your faith in him and your loyalty to love is great enough you can undoubtedly overlook your parents' objections, which are, after all, based on nothing but a matter of a few years. If the man were eight or 10 years older than you his age would be regarded favorably. Four or five more years do not add much to the difference in your ages. What is at stake is your own sanity and devotion and depth of feeling. Only you can measure and test them.

Dear Miss Allen: I have noticed that many little gifts sold in the stores are accompanied by a rhyme. Could you suggest a way to reach the manufacturers who use these rhymes, or those who publish the numerous greeting cards? Sincerely yours, PERPLEXED.

In answer to your request for rhymes accompanying gifts, I do not know where you could sell your rhymes but I do know there is a fairly good market at present for such stuff. I would advise you to write to the Omaha Printing company, to Polly the Shopper, in care of The Omaha Bee, who will give you excellent information.

S. L.: The groom should furnish the bridesmaid's flowers. The girl's parents should give the wedding, but the groom fees the minister and sends the bride and the bridesmaids their flowers. The bride, of course, tells him what kind of flowers to send the maids.

Trim It With Flowers.
Flowers of every color, size and material for trims are being sold at the novelty, millinery, ribbon and special counters and shown on the newest frocks. Wool, silk, ribbon, velvet, artificial flowers and various materials combined are all good. The flowers are worn at the waist line, front, side or back. They top sashes or streamers. They hang down in profusion on the end of streamers or are caught on to the dress material itself.

Morrie Schlaifer, Omaha Pugilist, Sued for Divorce; Wife Says He Was Home Only Two Nights in Six Months

Extreme Cruelty Charged by Mate, Who Admits Blows "Close to Pugilism."

Morrie Schlaifer, a pugilist, known as Omaha's "fighting fool," was sued for divorce Wednesday in district court by his wife, Hazel, who alleges extreme cruelty throughout their married life of four years.

She suffered "physical and mental pain and anguish," according to the petition, filed by her attorney, Irvin Stalmaster.

The direct cause which led to the suit is that after his fight at the city Auditorium last Friday night, Morrie did not return to their home in the Majestic apartments but went to Norfolk, Neb., where he was second in a prize fight.

Returned in Four Days.
When he returned, four days later, an altercation ensued in which, it is said, he slapped Mrs. Schlaifer. They were married in Chicago February 26, 1920, at the home of Ike Bernstein, who was then Schlaifer's manager. Until recently they lived at 323 South Thirty-third street.

"Did you marry him for love?" Mrs. Schlaifer was asked this morning. "No, I think it was sympathy," she said. "Did he need sympathy?" "Certainly looked like it to me. He was just about down and out."

"How long has he treated you cruelly?" "Just about all the time." "Did he practice pugilism on you?" "Sometimes it came very close to that."

The petition says Schlaifer earns upward of $15,000 a year. Hearing for temporary alimony has been set for next Tuesday at 9.

Without Funds
Mrs. Schlaifer says she is without funds, in spite of the large income of her husband. His earnings from last Friday's fight alone are estimated at more than $2,000. She said he has not paid the installments on their furniture for two months.

Mrs. Schlaifer was divorced from her first husband and has a young child. Summons in the case was rushed through because Schlaifer is scheduled to leave tomorrow with his manager on a schedule of prize fights in the east.

Gas Plant Options Taken.
Options on about 40 pieces of property between Twentieth and Twenty-first streets from Dorcas street north to the gas plant, have been obtained by the Metropolitan Utilities district. Members of the board declined to say Tuesday to what purpose the land may be put if it is acquired.

No Need to Be Dyspeptic

If Stomach Sours, Gets Gassy and Heavy, Sweeten and Lighten With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

One never grows too old to forget the delights of eating. And yet old people will sometimes play on these memories and bring on dyspeptic attacks even though the diet be simple. Every family should be supplied with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. From childhood to old age they daily overcome or prevent the distresses due to indigestion. They sweeten the stomach by giving it the alkaline effect as in health, they absorb the gases, they lift off the feeling of heaviness, they stop sour risings or heart burn, they actually assist in the digestion of food, and from all points of view are one of the most invaluable aids to health to be found. So, no matter what you eat, if your stomach rebels, always remember that a 60-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will keep your stomach sweet and thus aid to prevent much of the distress that comes late in life.

AFRAID SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Operation Advised, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made It Unnecessary

Glasgow, Kentucky.—"I was run-down, nervous, with no appetite. My side had given me trouble for five or six years. At times it was all I could do to live, and the doctor said I couldn't live but a short time longer without an operation. That was a two years ago. My sister-in-law recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She had never used it herself, but she said one of her neighbors suffered just like I did, and it cured her. After I had taken four bottles the pain left my side. I had a fine appetite to eat anything that was put before me, and I began to do all my work and my washing, something I hadn't done for years. I am a dressmaker, and this last fall I began suffering with my side again, so I began taking the Vegetable Compound again. I am on my fourth bottle, which makes eight in all I have taken. I feel so much better when I take it and everybody tells me I look better. My appetite improves and I feel stronger in every way. I am a very nervous woman and it seems to help my nerves so much."—Mrs. MAGGIE WALLER, Glasgow, Kentucky.

Morrie and Hazel Schlaifer.

Hazel Schlaifer's Story:

"We have lived in this apartment six months, and Morrie has been home just two nights."

Seated in the comfortably furnished living room of her suite at the Majestic, Mrs. Hazel Schlaifer, wife of Morrie Schlaifer, Omaha pugilist, set forth at length the domestic infelicities which caused her to sue her husband for divorce this morning.

"When I say two nights, I mean two nights," she emphasized. "Why, after every fight, I've had to hire taxicabs to help find him. These leeches that sponge off of him keep him spending his money in road houses around Omaha. Instead of coming home, that's where he would go."

"Morrie isn't a bad fellow. Yes, I still love him, I suppose, even now. But it was the road houses and the gang and other women that wrecked my home."

"He met a woman here in Omaha while I was in the hospital. I didn't name her in my suit because I didn't want to. The women don't take Morrie seriously. They just kid him about how good looking he is and then when he comes home, and say 'Look me over, kid. Ain't I good looking?'"

"He beat me, too. He came home two days ago and beat me, and then offered me $1,000 to give him his freedom, but I told him he would have to pay me for all his dirty work. The last fight with Simonich, Morrie made almost $2,600. He never gave me a cent of that. It's the same thing after every fight. When

Judge Enters Contract With 78-Year-Old Bridegroom He Recently Adjudged to Be Mentally Incompetent

LEVI KEISER, 78-year-old bridegroom, has signed a contract with the judge who declared him incompetent a few weeks ago. It was admitted by Judge G. N. Parmenter of Wahoo Wednesday. The contract was entered into at the time Keiser's appeal bond was raised.

The contract, as completed and signed by Keiser and the judge regulates the handling of the trust fund which the judge insisted must be established during the wait for the decision of the higher court.

Mortgages in Trust.
Judge Parmenter sent for Keiser several days ago when objections to the size of the appeal bonds for Keiser were made. Kelson Morgan, chief counsel for the defense in the trial, feared a prohibitive bond and asked that the bond be made $3,000 on condition that all mortgages held by Keiser be placed in trust.

Both the judge and Keiser agreed to this and the judge suggested that a contract be drawn up between Keiser and the court.

The contract as first framed stipulated that all of these mortgages be placed in trust in the hands of G. H. Hanson, Wahoo banker. The document was filed in court.

Morrie fought Jones here, he made $2,000. Did I get one cent of that money? I should say not! "He only came home in the afternoons and picked a quarrel with me and demanded a divorce."

"I've stood for things that no woman would stand for. He hasn't a thing on me. It's just the other women that have been kidding him."

Mrs. Schlaifer intimated that Morrie wanted a divorce in order to marry another woman.

She said she has seen her husband but once since his fight last week. Now she plans to move to Denver. Pictures of Morrie Schlaifer in various belligerent poses, together with facsimiles of the features of other lights of the Omaha sporting world, adorn the walls of the apartment.

ment was handed to Keiser, who read it over carefully.

Keiser Demands Changes.
"I won't sign this as it is," he declared when he finished reading it. "There are several additions that must be made first."

The court agreed to the additions and the contract as signed contains the additional stipulations that the trust fund will be handled without cost to Keiser, that all mortgages and notes held in trust and falling due through failure to pay interest or taxes will be foreclosed only by Keiser, and that all agreements or renewals of the mortgages and notes will be made by Keiser.

In the contract the banker merely is holder of the mortgages and notes. Keiser continues to receive his income of $9 a day and escapes the cost of a safe deposit box in which to keep the papers.

Keiser, in the opinion of the court, is incompetent and unable to handle his own affairs.

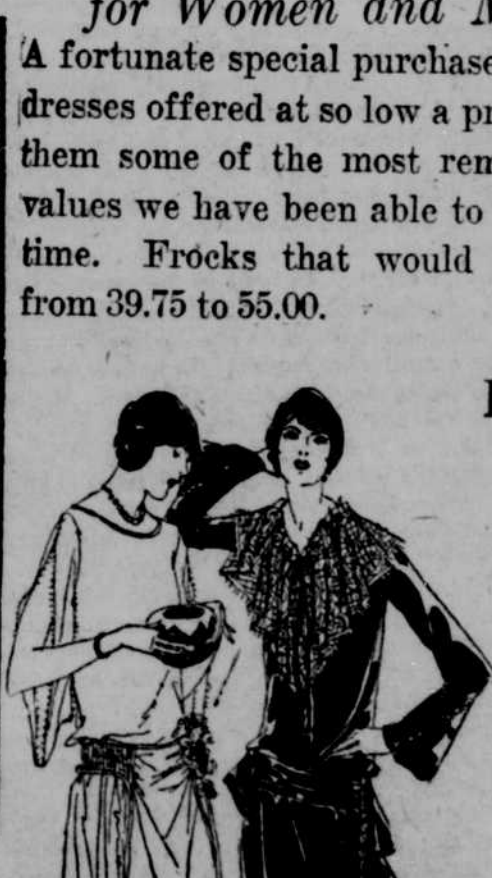

Woodrugh to North Platte.
Federal Judge Woodrugh will open court at North Platte next Monday. From there he will go to Salt Lake City to complete unfinished business. He will return April 1, when the eastern division of federal court will convene in Omaha.

Woodrugh announced that he would give a decision in the Moler injunction case that has been pending for a month. It deals with the powers of a federal judge to padlock private dwellings where a liquor conviction is procured. The specific case is that of William Moler, charged with possession of wine.

For Mrs. Andrews.
Mrs. Charles McDonald will entertain the members of her history class, Wednesday, March 12, at luncheon in honor of her guest, Mrs. George Whitefield Andrews. Mrs. McDonald plans a tea at a later date for her guest.
