

Graff Charges Bryan Tries to Steal Support

Coolidge Headquarters Joins in Bombardment of the Governor for Lack of Sincerity.

Lincoln, March 11.—Governor Bryan got both barrels today. First shot came from his rival for the democratic nomination, Charles Graff. Then Coolidge headquarters pulled the trigger. Both shots charged insincerity and fake pretense. Mr. Graff said:

"Upon my return to Lincoln I find that some things have been transpiring here that cause me much disappointment. The day I filed a reporter asked me if I were in the coal business at my home in Bancroft. I remarked that I was, to the extent of being a member of our co-operative company there, which is composed of the farmers of my home community."

"I noticed in his remarks in the press regarding this answer that he failed to state the facts but left the impression that I was a coal and lumber dealer at Bancroft."

"I further notice that the governor upon reading this statement and being asked stated that he was sure that it was a mistake as he felt assured that I was not in any commercial business in my home town. In this statement he was right."

"During my absence from the city, as stated before, I find upon my return that the governor through his appointees and helpers, has been very liberal with his offers of places on the state's payroll to some of the men who are closely identified with me in my campaign."

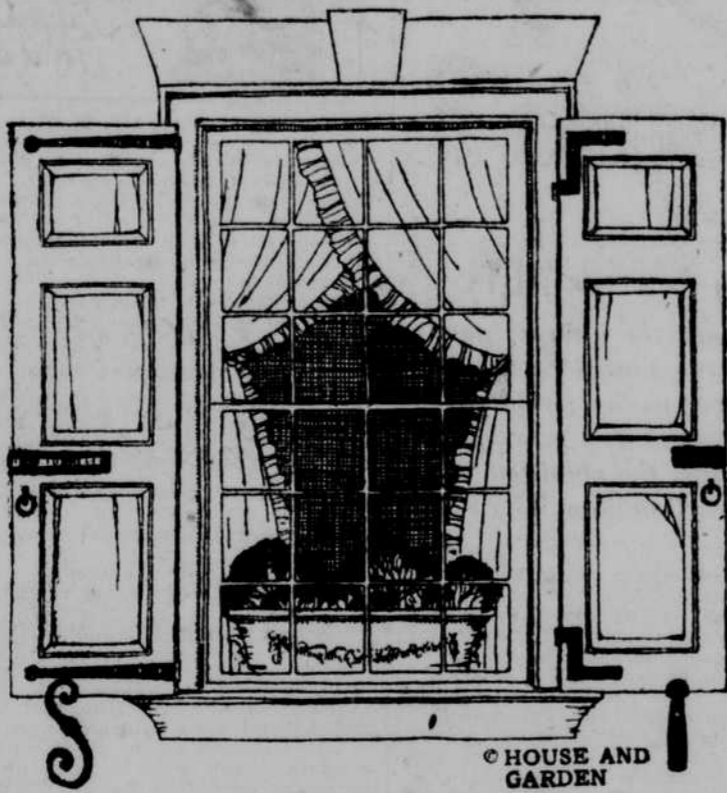

"Right here I would like to be able to say as much for the governor regarding this matter as he did about my coal business but I regret that I cannot. I find that while my coal interests were a 'myth' his offers of places on the state's payroll at this time to my closest friends is a reality."

From Coolidge headquarters came the following:

"A few days ago attention was called to the failure of the democrats to accord recognition to the women on their delegate ticket. Governor Bryan was much peeved about it and used the short and ugly word. Frequent calls on the telephone had irritated him. Well he might be. In past years republican women have been known to change their registration in order to help the Bryan brothers in their political contest with Senator Hitchcock, Arthur Mullen and others. To be reproached by women is not a pleasant situation."

"This year Governor Bryan has practically had control of the selection of delegates to the national democratic convention. The democratic national committee recommended that double the number of delegates be selected with a half vote each and that one-half the delegates be composed of women. This recommendation was disregarded and the delegation as made up does not contain the name of a woman. Not one woman from Nebraska will answer to the roll call in the democratic national convention. Perhaps the women may feel rewarded by the fact that that strong advocate of suffrage, ex-Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, was united with Brother-in-law Tom Allen in the petitions which were circulated placing these two men on the delegate ticket."

HOUSE AND GARDEN

One of the tests of good architectural design is the perfection of its detail. Even so small a thing as a door knocker can ruin an otherwise perfect effect.

Another instance of the governor's control is shown by the fact that one of his assistant code secretaries, George E. Hall, is named on the delegate list. Hall is not the only state employe on the delegate list. There are no contests for delegate positions to the democratic national convention. Governor Bryan and his friends have smoothed it all out with this end in view. Doubtless, the women will appreciate the fact that Arthur Mullen, another lifelong champion of suffrage, has been given a clear track for democratic national committee man, through the shunting of Billie Thompson on the sidetrack as a candidate for supreme judge.

Tell Me, Jonquils

Jonquils gold tell me true
Does my lady love but you?
Please be kind tell me, do—
What she whispered low to you
When I laid your blossoms fair
Near the gold of her bright hair.

When her lips like red wine
Brushed your cheek with touch
divine,
Did she murmur then of me,
Say that mine her heart would be?
Or was that sweet blush all for you?

Need of Trained Labor Stressed

Any Job Worthy of Study, L. E. Hartley Tells South Omaha Merchants.

"Regardless of man's station in the wheel of industry, it is worthy of training. Evening schools are being fostered to educate and train men in their respective vocations," said L. E. Hartley, state supervisor of vocational education, in his address to the South Omaha Merchants at their weekly noonday luncheon yesterday. "Labor is viewed in the wrong light—'white collar' men fail to dignify this branch of industry which comprises the majority of activity in our commercial life. Any job is worthy of training. Statistics show that only 2 per cent of school children carry on their education beyond high school and only 8 per cent beyond grammar school.

"The serious problem in America today is to get young men to consider anything except 'white-collar' positions."

The employment situation was discussed by the speaker. A comparison of exports, raw and finished, of the three leading world powers, by Mr. Hartley, revealed that this country shipped more raw and less finished products than the combined shipments of the other two. This fact, he declared, was one of the main reasons for the immense throng of unemployed in this country.

Preceding the speaker's address, a resolution passed by the merchants expressing condolence over the death of J. W. Murphy was read. Community singing was under the direction of Max Vance. About 75 attended.
