Educated in the Fremont public schools, Mr. Johnson also attended a railway clerk in the mechanical detime. A little later he built the Empress theater in Fremont, an amusement house which is still considered one of the finest in the state. In June, 1917, he went to New York and enlisted, going to France with the First division as an engineer and remaining until after the signing of feed and clothe starving German chilthe armistice, when he returned to dren. Fremont. Since then he has twice visited Paris.

It was on the west coast he found a business that interested him greatly-the growing of what he calls the 'everlasting" flower. He has invested some money in the enterprise, which is being conducted near La Jolia, Cal., and declares that the ranch in which he is interested is now success fully growing 17 varieties of the flower, which, without chemical treatnt, retains its form for a long period of time after it is cut.
