

Nebraska News Nubbins

York—A third class postmaster examination will be held at York March 29. Gresham and Waco are the towns in the county to be supplied. The office of postmaster in York will be vacated June 4. York being a second class office, applicants will be required to send qualifications to the commissioner at Washington. A number of local men are expected to make application for the position.

York—R. E. Allen, the present incumbent in the county clerk's office, A. E. Carter and Herman J. Block, republicans, and H. S. King, democrat, have filed for the office of county clerk. M. M. Williams, republican, and John Morgan, democrat, have announced themselves for representatives from the Fifty-third district. Both have served in this capacity before. Mr. Morgan having been the representative at the last legislative session. Herman Diers of Gresham, democrat and progressive, is out for congress from the Fourth district.

Crete—At a special election, the proposal to issue bonds for a municipal lighting plant failed of attainment of the 60 per cent required.

Kearney—Mrs. Harold Kerwood, aged 19, died here today from burns received Thursday when a gasoline stove in the Kerwood home exploded. Mrs. Kerwood saved her 2-month-old baby by wrapping it in bed clothing and tossing it out the window. The child was uninjured. Mrs. Kerwood's husband and Vern Crippen, who rushed to the aid of Mrs. Kerwood, were slightly burned.

Blue Springs—Miss Minnie Smith, former assistant postmaster, has been elevated to postmistress by the resignation of J. W. Henthorn.

Columbus—The first radio law suit tried here was won by dealers who sold J. E. Fulmer a radio set costing $225, which Fulmer claimed was priced at $125.

Liberty—Everett Manley started suit against the Burlington for $60,000, alleging disability through two accidents while he worked as a section hand for the road.

Beatrice—Funeral services for the late Mrs. Louise Germer, pioneer of Plymouth, were held from the family home Friday, and burial was in Plymouth cemetery. Mrs. Germer was 69 years of age and is survived by her husband and five children.

Beatrice—J. W. Osborn, who has been engaged in farming near Pleasantdale, Neb., for several years, has arrived in the city and taken the position of night engineer at the feeble minded east of town. Mr. Osborn says he found that farming with him did not pan out just right as it cost too much to produce a bushel of grain for what it brought on the market. "The labor problem," he says, "is another vexatious question with the farmer."

Beatrice—Members of Post 74, United Commercial Travelers, and their wives, have called a meeting for Saturday evening at which arrangements will be made for the state convention of the organization which is to be held in Beatrice in May.

Table Rock—News has reached here of the death at her home in San Diego, Cal., of Mrs. Martha W. Hodges, 75. She was the wife of John Hodges, civil war veteran, and a sister of Mrs. E. J. Wood, wife of Edgar Wood, an old soldier living three miles southwest of Table Rock. The funeral and burial will be at San Diego. The Hodges resided in Pawnee county for more than two score years, moving a few years ago to the Pacific coast.

Table Rock—Word has been received here of the death at his home in Denver of Thomas McIntosh. He was a resident of this vicinity for many years, moving to Denver a few years ago. He is survived by his widow, two sons and a daughter who live in Denver. Mrs. McIntosh has three brothers and three sisters living in Table Rock, John, Norris and Will Aylor, Mrs. J. L. Covault, Mrs. Ella Mort, and Mrs. M. H. Irwin. Burial was at Denver.

Table Rock—An examination for candidates for postmaster at Table Rock will be given at Pawnee City March 29. The term of the present postmaster will expire, it is said, in June, and he expects to retire July 1.

Holdrege—Grand Chaplain Shepard of the Masonic lodge visited the Holdrege lodge Tuesday. There were about 190 Masons out to hear Chaplain Shepard, many of them driving in from surrounding towns. His address was on the way being done by the Masonic Service association.

Holdrege—James A. Magill, 65, was buried here Wednesday. Mr. Magill was an early settler, coming here about 30 years ago.

Humboldt—Doctor J. A. Waggener and Mrs. Waggener celebrated their 46th wedding anniversary Wednesday. They were joined by a few friends in a dinner at the family home. On February 25 Dr. Waggener celebrated his 45th anniversary as a practicing physician.

Newcastle—At a meeting of the board of county commissioners of Dixon county, the following deputies were appointed to assist County Assessor Veran: Hooker township, Oscar Fesshaber and Concord township, John Mills.

Fairmont—Mrs. Josephine L. Posson died at her home in Fairmont Thursday. She was an old resident of this community. She was in her 85th year. The funeral will be held from the Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon.

New Local LaFs on Screen Today

A new reel of Local LaFs, edited by The Omaha Bee, will be shown on the screen at the Sun theater today. Perhaps you were one of the prize winners. If so you'll see your name on the program. The entire Sun program changes on Saturday. Metro's "Scaramouche" is the feature picture, beginning a run of two weeks at the Sun.

The Moon also changes programs tomorrow with "Secrets of Paris," a story of the underworld, as the new film. A new photoplay comes to the World as part of the change in program. The Strand and Rialto change programs Sunday with Norma Talmadge in "The Song of Love" at the Strand and "Icebound" at the Rialto.

Men Who Are Making Omaha

Whenever a speaker starts out to eulogize the newsboys, he is sure to refer to them sometimes in the course of his speech as "little merchants." Now and again one of them grows up to be a big merchant. Lessons in salesmanship, gained in the exciting occupation of "hustling" the papers, come in handy in the real game of business life.

A Goldstein started that way. Born in St. Paul in 1880, he came to Omaha with his parents in 1888, and attended the public schools. Out of school hours he sold papers on Fairnam street, and on the day of Cleveland's election, 1892, he sold enough of The Omaha Bee extra edition to net him $25. Of course, such an energetic youth could not be kept at that sort of work, and he took on a job with Otto Seifert in his drug store. From there he went to Fairbury, to Nebraska City and to Clay Center, gathering experience and knowledge of the retail merchandising game. His first venture as an owner was at Centerville, Ia., where he opened a retail store in 1903, which he still owns.

Omaha still had a hold on him, and four years ago he came back to open the "Silk Shop." A year later he took over "Vogue," and last year he and his associates formed the firm and opened the business of Goldstein-Chapman company. Very recently the firm celebrated its first anniversary, with an increase of more than 100 per cent in the number of departments represented in their line.

Mr. Goldstein is married and has two children. He is a member of several secret orders, of the Athletic Club, the Adsett League, the Chamber of Commerce and the Highland Country Club. His hobby, as may be understood from his rise, is work. He loves to watch Omaha grow.

AT THE THEATERS

A titled beauty in the person of the Countess Nydia d'Arnell is with the Ed Wynn company at the Brandeis in "The Perfect Fool." She is a discovery of Ed Wynn. "The Perfect Fool," who heard her sing at a social affair given at Newport recently and with his Wynn-esque ways inveigled the little countess to affix her name to a contract. Miss d'Arnell speaks seven languages fluently and was educated abroad. Her mother is a Californian, her father a Polish nobleman, and Miss d'Arnell was born in New York. "The Perfect Fool" will be presented for two more performances today, matinee and evening.

Danny Dugan shows the steps which won him the title of champion society dancer of New England, when he appears at the theater this week with his dancing partner, Madelyn Meredith. Danny has won more than 60 tournaments in the east. Eddie Sanborn, a boy xylophonist, is also in the act.

There is something more than the really worth while comedians, singers and dancers in Joe Hurtig's "Hollywood Follies," the Columbia burlesque starting this afternoon at the Gayety. There will be a chorus that upon points of vocal attainments and pulchritude is entitled to first rank honor. Marty Collins and Jack Pillard are stars of the cast. Ward and Oliver do a very clever musical act. Juliette Belmont is prima donna. Estelle Naeck is the soubrette, and Jacques Wilson the ingenue, while the big company of entertainers is rounded out by the Hollywood here naders, a jazz band of 12 clever instrumentalists. Tomorrow's matinee starts at 3.

Collins and Harlan, phonograph stars, and Ruth Mix, daughter of Tom Mix, are the dual headliners in the new 7-act bill at the World, beginning today. Other acts on the current show include Jed Dooley and company, La Rosarita Trio, Julia Curtis, Fred Weber and company, the Hannans and Arthur Hays.

The Bert Smith Comedy players starting an indefinite engagement at the New Empress tomorrow are regarded as the best popular priced musical organization now on tour. Their opening bill scheduled for six acts is entitled "Oh Daddy Oh," and is described as a hurricane of hilarity and song.

Terrell has 692 votes. Ed Lanning, 1321 Pinkney street, has 459 votes; Abe Winer, 1515 North Seventeenth street, 391 votes; Frank Schmidt, 1414 South Fifteenth street, 230 votes; John McCormick, 1143 Park avenue, 180 votes; Arthur Cook, 2714 North Fortieth street, 162 votes; Kenneth Golden 3337 North Fifty-ninth street 109 votes.

REEL REMARKS

By the M. P. Editor.

Marilynn Miller, wife of Jack Pickford, is back in Los Angeles with her husband after six months absence and will announce her plans soon. At present she is occupying her time in study, taking dancing from Kosloff and voice culture. Jack is to appear in a series of pictures to be produced at the Pickford-Fairbanks studios during the absence of Mary and Doug.

Conway Tearle says he has a part entirely to his liking as Robert Vantime in "The White Moth." I can be as stiff and bored as I like," he says, "I don't have to be impetuous. I hate impetuosity except in a woman. It's childish in a man."

Lou Tellegen, who studied sculpture under Rodin in Paris years ago, plays the part of a sculptor in "Between Friends." His work in this part has so livened his interest that he will begin modeling again.

George Ade will write the titles for Thomas Meighan's latest picture "The Confidence Man."
