Mabel Normand's Chauffeur Held to Answer for Attempt to Kill.

Los Angeles, March 19.—The latest hearing of the charge against Horace A. Greer, former chauffeur for Mabel Normand, film actress, of attempted murder against Courland S. Dines, Denver oil operator, resulted today in Greer being held to answer for the shooting to the superior court. New phases developed in the case are: Wounds on Dines body apparently caused by three bullets, instead of one as previously reported. Remarkable improvement in Dines' memory, embracing his admission to Justice J. Walter Hanby that he was drunk at the time of the shooting. Dines' admission that he was in quite a "rage" at Greer's insistence on Miss Normand leaving the Dines' apartment for home. Of the four who admittedly were at the Dines apartment three were in court today, Dines, Greer and Miss Purviance. Miss Normand is in the east. Greer was ordered held to answer to the superior court. His bail of $3,000 stands.

Good Roads at Less Cost, Aim of Head of State Highway Club

W. H. Blakeman of Norfolk to Speak at Chamber of Commerce Today.

W. H. Blakeman, Norfolk, believes that good roads are indispensable to the progress of a state or city. Of course that is part of his daily routine as president of the Nebraska Good Roads association. But he really believes in it, and that is one of the reasons he is president of the body.

At Hotel Conant last night he stated his position clearly, and outlined some of the plans for obtaining a suitable number of good roads in the state. He will address the joint good roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce today noon.

"Nebraska, we know, is way down in the list of good roads. That is a fact which is not good advertising, but is nevertheless a fact," he said.

"There is $4,000,000 of federal aid money waiting for Nebraska and its roads. The $3,000,000, the $4,000,000 which the state and counties would raise, would do much in bettering the roads of the state.

"A 2-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline would help raise the requisite amount of money quite easily. This is one of the matters the state association is trying to push. Another is a non-political state highway commission. This would take roads and their building out of the hands of politics.

"The Lincoln highway is the most important road in the state. It should be completed first. The Meridian highway should come next. The Blue-pole highway which should begin at Omaha and go through the north of the state, through Wyoming, joining the Yellowstone highway at Douglas, Wyo., is progressing rapidly. This road is of prime importance to Omaha.

"Madison county commissioners have evolved a plan to lower the cost of finishing roads. They bid with contractors on the work and then submit at a 10 cent profit. This profit goes into more gravel and saves the county money.

"Nebraska has good earth for construction purposes and also has several valuable gravel deposits which may be utilized to finish roads throughout the state until they can be hard-surfaced."

Charles H. Dewey, Omaha furniture merchant, buying goods at the fair in New Orleans.

This historical fact is significant of the Purchasing Power of the Omaha territory as early as 1876

JUST as it took all the courage and energy of that daring pioneer, Charles H. Dewey, to discover if Nebraskans would buy good furniture, so has it taken years of continuous enterprise and study to establish just how much merchandise Omaha and territory will consume in a given period and arrange for its economical shipment and handling; securing the lowest prices and the best discounts for prompt payment.

The burden of this task and all it means has rested for thirty-one years, through good times and bad, upon the shoulders of two Omaha citizens, E. W. Dixon and C. M. Wilhelm.

To ship furniture, linoleum, stoves or other bulky merchandise in solid cars saves the retailer from 5% to 10%, to say nothing of the extra discounts of from 5% to 15% generally allowed by the manufacturers on carload purchases. To take the cash discount means yet another saving of from 1% to 7%. Add these savings together and you have aggregate discounts of from 11% to 32%, ultimately to be passed to the consumer in better value merchandise by Orchard & Wilhelm Company.

The "Graphic Meter" shows the growth of the Orchard & Wilhelm Company business since its establishment. The volume of that business is the truest indication of the company's purchasing power, a matter well worthy of reflection, because purchasing power means better assortments and better values.
