Lovely Woman's Crown of Glory a Wreath of Thorns When She Tries to Buy a Hat

Lovely woman's crown of glory has become a wreath of thorns. At least it is when taken to the milliner's to find a new spring bonnet.

Those social standpatters whose heads of hair are too lovely to become a bobbed sacrifice, bemoan the lack of hats of suitable head size, for they have to have their hats made to order.

Perhaps this accounts for the charming originality displayed in the headgear of Mesdames Malcolm Baldrige, Guy Kiddoo and J. E. Megeath, whose auburn heads are enhanced rather than concealed when they are hatted.

For a very different reason Mrs. Henry Luburger has her hats fashioned for herself, for she is such a tiny person that none of the hats, not even for those made for clipped heads, are small enough for her.

Mrs. Edith Day, Mrs. Herbert Davis, Mrs. Benjamin Sylvester and Mrs. William Noble have cause to rejoice in their wealth of hair until a new season brings in the necessity for new bonnets, and new bonnets the horrid problem of finding those big enough to fit.

Mrs. Robert Reasoner only lately has joined the ranks of those who can buy them "as is." To do this she has had to clip out a great deal of her golden locks, which, although they are not bobbed, have been "thinned" to meet the mode.

Miss Carlson Weds

Miss Emma Carlson became the bride of Carl S. Miller at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in Council Bluffs. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Burton Shepperd, pastor of the Methodist church, Council Bluffs. Miss Pauline Clausen and James Miller, brother of the groom, attended the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller left immediately after the ceremony for St. Paul, Nebraska, where they will be guests of the bride's mother, Mrs. Inger Carlson. They will be at home in Benson after April 13.

Prairie Poets' Club

Your Problems

by Martha Allen

Dear Miss Allen: I am 20 and in love with a man several years ago this March. In the beginning I saw him two or three times a week, and now that his business takes all of his time I only see him on Sundays. He asks me for dates and he ditches me once in a while, but he always gives a good excuse. As I love him I think it is all right. He tells me he loves me and does not care for any other girl but me, and he tells me he is going to marry me. He does not want me to make dates with others, and he wants me to give my girl friend up, which I have, because she is not a good girl. Do you think it is right? Does this man love me? Put my right. WORRIED.

It is hard to tell any woman whether a man loves her or not. That is something you are able to know better than an outsider. It is perfectly all right, however, for him not to wish you to go with other men because when you are engaged this is a privilege the man you are engaged to may ask of you. You say he wants you to give up your girl chum because she is not a good girl. This is certainly commendable in the man, for any man who loves a woman wants her to make good friends, who will be helpful and lift you up. You are right in having him tell you the reason he has for not keeping his engagements with you. This is no more than he should do.

Perplexed Fifteen—Your problem is not a difficult one if you have strength of mind. A girl of 16 can straighten round shoulders if she will. Arm exercises taken regularly would be good for you. Fling your arms back, keeping them level with the shoulders, also fling them upward with vigor; but, more than all else, keep your chest up. Don't stick it out, just hold it up and breathe deeply all the time. It is a mistake, of course, to exercise just one part of the body. Why not get the daily dozen or any good consistent and complete set of exercises and build up your entire system?

Reader: All magazines buy stories. Send the way they get them. The difficult thing is to write something good enough to sell. I wish you luck.

FACE BROKE OUT IN RED PIMPLES. Trouble Spread to Neck and Arms. Cuticura Heals.

"My face broke out in red pimples; my left cheek and forehead were covered with them, and on my right cheek was a patch of scaly, sore eruptions. Later the trouble spread to my neck and arms. The breaking out kept me awake for hours it pained so badly.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using the free sample for three days the eruptions started to heal. I purchased more and in three weeks I was healed." (Signed) Miss Bessie D. Poshard, Carmel, Ill., Sept. 25, 1923.

A New Art

Omaha will be privileged to see the new art, an art with light as its medium instead of sound as in music. The Omaha Society of Fine Arts will have two performances on April 24 at the Brandeis theater, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, when the Clavilux will be shown.

The Clavilux is the "color organ." It is an instrument which speaks with color and form. The instrument resembles a pipe organ in appearance. It has six circular finger boards which produce and control the colors and forms.

Two years ago came the reports of its first appearance in New York City. The magazines took up the cry and the inventor, Thomas Wilfred, was hailed with the acclaim as a great innovator.

Centuries ago sound was brought under control in the vibration of strings and reeds. As a glowing climax to the developments in optics and electricity comes this superb achievement in color control.

Within the past year a portable "color organ" has been built and Thomas Wilfred, who is now in California completing his tour to go back and spend the summer in his laboratory.

U. of O. Notes

"There's the car for us!"

"What we wanted"

-a reliable engine smooth, powerful and economical

-a smart distinct iv car

-a safer car for us all

-a beautiful, enduring finish

-an all season touring car

-most car for our money

"What We Found"

-that the Oakland six-cylinder engine is the sweetest-running and most capable engine in its class. The reason for this—its advanced design—is very evident when you make close comparisons;

-that the True Blue Oakland Six is by far the best looking car within our price range. Its Fisher bodies certainly have a distinctive appearance all their own;

-that four-wheel brakes, controls on the steering wheel, automatic spark advance, and disc wheels definitely mark the Oakland as a safer car to drive;

-that Oakland uses a remarkable new finish—Duco—which lasts indefinitely, does not mar or check and can be cleaned easily, even without the use of water;

-that Oakland's new permanent top insures smooth, tight fitting curtains and, if we wish, a snug Glass Enclosure, which for $60 extra gives closed car comfort to any Oakland Touring Car;

-that, considering its advanced construction and many refinements, the True Blue Oakland Six, at its remarkably low price, is unquestionably the car for us.
