

Coolidge, Johnson Camps Both Say Nebraska Theirs

President's Forces Avoid Friction so United G. O. P. Will Be Easy; Johnson on Offensive.

Predictions of victory from camps of both the supporters of President Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson in the April 8 primary, and expressions of confidence from state organization headquarters of both candidates for the republican presidential nomination are contained in statements issued by the rival headquarters.

"We expect Nebraska to give a majority to Johnson and the delegates favorable to him at the primary, April 8," the Johnson organization statement asserts. "Our belief is based on the fact that the farmers and common people are for him, and they constitute a large majority of the voters in Nebraska."

"From the very beginning of the primary campaign the Coolidge state committee has assumed that President Coolidge would carry Nebraska at the primary and be nominated at Cleveland in June," the statement from headquarters of the Coolidge Nebraska organization declares.

"The committee has endeavored to conduct the campaign so as to offer no offense to any republican contestant and to make it easy for the supporters of any such contestant to fall into step with the majority of his political brethren for the main contest in November."

Assertion that at least five out of every seven republican voters favor the retention of President Coolidge and prediction that the seven delegates-at-large, chosen by Nebraska republicans to the Cleveland convention will be "guided by the expression of the men and women who elect them" and will "represent the expressed wish of the majority of such voters as long as there is a reasonable hope of bringing about the nomination of such candidates," is made by Coolidge headquarters.

"The committee in charge of the Johnson campaign in Nebraska does not presume to dictate to the candidates for delegates," the Johnson statement declares on this point. "It believes them to be honest men who will obey instructions of their constituents in good faith."

Breacher Pays City $1 to Appear in Court

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 29.—Another genuine, honest man was chalked up on the list of the local "conscience" fund the other day when the city council of this city received a check for $1, accompanied by a letter explaining what it was for, from Rev. M. R. Davis, now in McClusky, N. D.

In the letter of explanation, Rev. Davis said that he broke an electric light on a street lamp here back in 1916 "while I was returning from a basket ball game." He said that during a recent address he delivered before a young people's meeting on the subject of "Honesty" the Lord told him to make it good, and that he therefore was following the dictates of his conscience.

"Davis is a graduate of the local high school."
