

Husband Asks Heart Balm and Wife, Too

Testifies at Mate's Divorce Hearing He Wants Her Back; Has Sued Rich Oil Man.

John C. Skov wanted his wife back in spite of evidence he claimed he had that her affections have been alienated by Arthur Atkins, Kearney oil man of wealth. He testified in domestic relations court Tuesday in the suit brought by his wife, Elvena Skov, for divorce. She left him April 1, 1923, and came to Omaha. She is living at 728 South Seventeenth avenue. "I wrote and told her that if she didn't come back to me and our boy I would file an alienation suit against Atkins," Skov testified. "And I told him, too, that if he didn't persuade her to come back to me I would file suit." Later, Skov filed a $25,000 suit against Atkins. It is now in district court in Kearney. Miss Skov denied anything improper in her friendship with Atkins. "Do you seek a divorce so you can marry again?" she was asked. "Heavens, no!" she exclaimed. "Did you ever write or speak to Atkins since you came to Omaha?" "No." "Is there any possibility of a reconciliation?" "Never." "Why not?" "After being accused as I have I never could feel the same toward Mr. Skov."

Mr. and Mrs. Skov were married in Council Bluffs March 30, 1909, and lived for a time in Chicago. Verdict—Pleading guilty before Judge Colby of the district court to writing no fund checks amounting to $11,500. Roy Andrews, 18, North Platte, Neb., was sentenced to the boys' industrial school at Kearney until 21 years of age.

Men Who Are Making Omaha

Most Rev. J. J. Hartz

Most Rev. Jeremiah J. Hartz is a native of St. Louis, where he was born in 1852. He was educated at the parochial schools and at the University of St. Louis and studied theology at St. Vincent academy, Cape Gerardeau, from which he was graduated and ordained a priest in 1875. In 1903 at Rome he was consecrated archbishop and placed in the ancient see of Manila, Philippine Islands. He presided there for 13 fruitful years and in 1916 was transferred to the vacant see of Omaha.

In eight years Archbishop Hartz has been successful in most effectively extending the church in Omaha. He has constructed several new churches, established 13 new centers of church and parish activities and has opened nine new parochial schools as well as a high school at the cathedral on Fortieth street. In addition to this he has directed work of establishing the Father Finnegan Home for Boys, the organization of the Christ Child society, and has restored interest in the St. Vincent de Paul society. He has encouraged the construction of the new nurses' home at St. Joseph hospital and has aided the Knights of Columbus in their work. In addition he has set up the Christian Instruction league, to look after the religious training of the Catholic children who attend the public schools and has provided new churches for the Italians, the Croats and the colored Catholics. One of his outstanding enterprises has been the establishment of the school where missionaries for China are trained. With all this and other matters to take up his time he has given much attention to the beautifying and adornment of the interior and exterior of St. Cecilia cathedral, which in time will be one of the most impressive of church edifices in all the west. St. John Collegiate church has been greatly enlarged. Our Lady of Lourdes church near Hanscom park has been built and Sacred Heart church has been cleared from debt and consecrated in these eight years. Archbishop Hartz is as popular as he is active. He gives much time to good works not particularly connected with that of the church and takes deep interest in everything that promises good for the community.

New Trial Granted Alleged Accessory to Auto Theft
Columbus, Neb., April 1.—Holding that evidence in the case of Robert Francis, tried in district court here a year ago, was not of a nature to sustain the verdict of guilty of auto theft which the jury returned against him, the Nebraska supreme court has entered an order reversing the verdict and remanding the case to the district court here for retrial. The highest court took the view that the evidence was sufficient to convict Francis of being an accessory to the theft of the car, but not to prove that he was the principal. Since his trial the law has been amended so that an accessory may be prosecuted and convicted as a principal in larceny, but the court says the defendant was "fortunate" in that the amendment was not in force until some months after the offense was committed.

18 Gunmen Raid Village Election

Two Election Workers Shot, Whole Town Terrified, by Armed Invaders.

By International News Service.
Chicago, April 1.—Eighteen gunmen, traveling in four automobiles, invaded Cicero, where the village election was being held today, raided polling places, shot two election workers, drove voters from the polls and spread terror in their wake through the western Chicago suburb. Reserve squads of police from Chicago, deputy sheriffs and highway patrolmen were rushed to Cicero to battle with the gunmen and preserve order. The outbreak today follows numerous pre-election disorders yesterday and last night, when several election canvassers were slugged and Rudolph J. Hurt, democratic candidate for president of the village board, was driven from his headquarters with bullets whistling at his heels by a mob which raided it. The intrusion of a new political faction in the election in an effort to break up the village machine is believed responsible for the disorders. The victims today were Roman Delstowicz, a democratic precinct captain, and an unidentified election clerk. Neither was seriously hurt. Polling places were shot up, however, and ballots strewn over the streets and floors. Additional police reserves were sent to Cicero later in the day when gangsters imported into the village beat several police guards at election places and were reported to have kidnaped other officers. After numerous attacks on voters, citizens fled to their homes in terror and by noon streets of the village were virtually deserted except for police squads. A search was started to locate Frank Zaretsky, reported kidnaped by four men in an automobile. Election commissioners here sent deputies to the scene when they received reports that owners and proprietors of disreputable roadhouses in and around Cicero were sending scores of girls to the polls and voting them illegally.

FIFTEEN OFFICERS GET DECORATIONS

Washington, April 1.—A quarter of a century ago the United States army was engaged both in Cuba with Spanish forces and in the Philippine islands, with insurgents, but it was not until Monday that 15 soldiers who distinguished themselves at that time were rewarded for their bravery. These two men, now officers of high rank, receiving citations for gallantry in action and were awarded the right to wear the silver star on the appropriate campaign ribbon. The reason for the long delay in making the awards was due to the fact that until recently no law had been enacted by congress authorizing the awards of decorations or citations. Among those who received citations were Brig. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, now assistant chief of staff of the army; Maj. Gen. William G. Haan, retired of Milwaukee; Col. Edward Anderson, Col. Henry C. Fisher, Col. Henry Hannigan, Col. James V. Heidt, Col. Monroe C. Kerth, Col. Thomas J. Kirkpatrick, Col. William T. Wood, Lieut. Col. Joseph S. Hardin, Lieut. Daniel Wells and Lieut. Marion H. Mabson. Posthumous awards were made to Col. James Q. Irons and Lieut. Col. Peter Davison.

"Enforce Law" Is Dry Edict

Worthington in Rohrer's Chair Promises to Co-Operate With Others.

The national prohibition laws must be enforced. These were partial instructions given to local federal prohibition agents today by J. T. Worthington, who today succeeds L. S. Rohrer, deposed director for the enforcement of the liquor laws in Nebraska. Worthington stated that he would gladly make every effort to co-operate with other law enforcement agencies of the state and county. Worthington, who is a field supervisor from Washington, is expected to be in Omaha for at least another week, unless something happens in Washington whereby Elmer Thomas loses out for the director's job. Worthington's four agents in Nebraska are Karl Schmidt, O. E. Forsling, Eugene Battin and Burt Hancock.

Nebraska City, April 1.—Harry Sypher, charged with assault and awaiting trial in district court here, failed in an attempt to make his escape from the county jail here late Monday. An iron bar had been broken off the bed in his cell and used as an instrument to dig through the stone wall of an unused cell. Sypher is accused of having assaulted Mrs. Albert Fleischman near Unadilla, nearly a year ago and was recently brought from Colorado for trial.

Dean Stockton Defends Modern College Student
By Associated Press.
Vermillion, S. D., April 1.—Students today are more straightforward and frank and less hypocritical than formerly, according to Dean F. T. Stockton of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of South Dakota. The outcry of college deans and presidents against the present college generation is generally unwarranted and is the result of a state of mind which is not in sympathy with youth, Dean Stockton said.

Sculptor of "The Chrysalis" Unmoved by Criticism Vermillion, S. D., April 1.—That no criticism of fundamentalists can injure him as an artist in any way, is the opinion of Carl Akeley, hunter, explorer, and sculptor, who has been visiting his brother, Dean Lewis Akeley of the college of engineering at the state university here. "The Chrysalis," depicting the evolution of man, was recently branded as untrue to human and artistic experience and rejection by the New York Academy of Fine Arts. Mr. Akeley has been on a lecture tour of the middle west, and leaves today on the return trip to New York. He spoke on his experiences as a big game hunter in Africa.
