Omaha Lawyer to Fill Rohrer Vancancy Here Appointment Made at Washington After Urged by Howell and Norris; Delay Was Predicted.

Washington, April 5.—Elmer E. Thomas of Omaha, lawyer, today was appointed federal prohibition director for Nebraska. Thomas succeeds U. S. Rohrer, who resigned to take effect April 10.

By P. C. POWELL, Washington Correspondent. The Omaha Bee, Washington, April 5.—Appointment of Elmer E. Thomas as prohibition commissioner for Nebraska was announced today by Federal Prohibition Director Roy Haynes.

A letter notifying Thomas of his appointment was mailed by Haynes today. Thomas will take office as soon as the letter is received and he takes the oath of office.

Following persistent reports from Omaha that efforts were being made to block the Thomas appointment, Senator Howell today called on the prohibition commissioner, urging speed in the appointment of Thomas.

An hour later, Howell was notified that the appointment had been made. The appointment of Elmer Thomas to succeed U. S. Rohrer as federal prohibition director for Nebraska came Saturday morning on the heels of announcement from Washington that Nebraska might go for some time without a dry head.

David W. Blair, commissioner of Internal Revenue, had the recommendation of Thomas, signed by both Senator R. B. Howell and Senator George W. Norris, for several days. Thomas was recommended following a meeting of dry forces in Omaha 10 days ago.

At that time, he stated he would not accept the appointment, but it since has been understood that he would reconsider should the appointment be made.

J. Dean Ringer and Robert P. Samardick were also mentioned for the post. Rohrer resigned "by request" following announcement from Washington that there was "too much friction" between the law enforcement agencies in Omaha.

Four boys were playing marbles on North Seventeenth street Saturday morning when City Detective Summit arrested them.

Many marbles—agates, "glassies," commies and other kinds—were taken from the store, besides cigarettes, matches, candy and the loot was hauled away in two little wagons.

The police have been watching all games of "migs" since the time of the robbery, Thursday night.

The arrested boys were Clarence Bohaffert, 15, 1439 North Seventeenth street; Walter Babb, 14, 1529 North Nineteenth street; Russell Estes, 14, 2902 North Twenty-first street; and Wilfred Cook, 13, 4210 North Twenty-fifth street. They were turned over to juvenile officers.

He speaks French, Russian, Bohemian and German besides his native English.

He has the unanimous endorsement of the bar of Washington and Burlington counties.

Sutphen Moves Piano; Union Stage Hands Leave the Job

Joy Sutphen reported "business as usual" at the Brandeis theater Saturday morning following the walk-out of seven stage hands Friday night during a dress rehearsal of pupils of Miss Mary Cooper for a recital to be given this evening. New stage hands have been hired.

The trouble started at the rehearsal when Miss Cooper asked to have a piano moved. There were no members of the piano movers' union present and the union men who were on duty held that they were prohibited by the constitution and by-laws of their organizations from moving pianos even a few inches, according to Sutphen's statement.

Thereupon Mr. Sutphen cut the Gordian knot by moving the piano himself.

Retounded at this assault upon their union, the men walked out. Later the musicians joined them in sympathy.

Miss Cooper has hired other musical talent for tonight and the recital will go on.

Even to Council Bluffs the news of the walkout spread Friday night and stage hands refused to take down a batik drop which Miss Cora Quick had borrowed from Miss Cooper and was using in a theater there. The drop was finally taken down and sent to the Grand hotel, where Miss Cooper got it.

The union men declare Sutphen is prejudiced against union labor.

"I Accept"—Thomas; Samardick Pleased

MR. THOMAS—"I haven't been notified of my appointment yet. But I will accept. I told both our senators that I would. I am going to see Robert Samardick right away and talk to him about becoming my assistant."

HENRY DUNN, Police Commissioner—"The police department will cooperate with Mr. Thomas as it has with other federal officials."

JOHN PSZANOWSKI, Inspector of Police—"We always cooperate with Rohrer. We'll do the same with Thomas certainly."

ROBERT SAMARDICK, General Prohibition Agent—"I am much pleased that Mr. Thomas got the position of director. He deserves it for his years of devotion to the dry cause. I haven't decided whether I will accept the position of group chief under him."

DAN PHILLIPS, Head of the Sheriff's Squad—"I am glad Mr. Thomas is a new director. He can depend on aid from this office."

A capacity audience viewed the second annual recital of the Cora Quick School of Dancing at the Broadway theater in Council Bluffs Friday night. Sixty pupils, many with talent near professional quality, took part.

Jean Sherman and Marie Peterson, as "The Mechanical Dolls" won merited applause, as did little Florence Ruth Keyes in "The Flirt," other who appeared in solo work were Elizabeth Ann Swanson, Betty Kelley, Betty Lou Pates, Patsy Michael, Betty Ann Larsen and Jere Rensselaer.

Among the older pupils the work of Frances Browder, Mary Louise Ball and Maxine Aldrich pleased the audience particularly. Miss Ball is dead and dances entirely by imitation.

Effective group work was done by the above three girls, with Ethel Evans and Bernice Elchorn, in their "Garland Plastic" and "Soaring." The latter number was the manipulation of a great veil, with colored lighting effects.

Other pupils who had places on the program outside of class groups were Henrietta Voss, Frances Lanson, Donald Laustrop, Henrietta Peterson, Beads White, Jane Hawkins, Doris White, Carla Muller, Dorothy Coho, Marie Petersen and Margaret Laustrop.
