New Champions, Survivors of Field of 40, Walk Away With Title Game-Show ality, if one may judge from their Good Teamwork.

HICAGO, April Colo., a Rocky of 1,290 inhabitants, was the reigning prin-cipality of the basket ball world Saturday, as, the Van Matre brothers, Law, McGlynn McCurdy prepared to start the gold basket ball emblematic of the national interscholastic championship. The new national champions, survivors of a field of 40, walked away with the title game, drubbing Yankton (S. D.), 25 to 6, in the closing match of the tourney.

Windsor had fought its way to the finals with victories over Warrensburg, Mo.; Sioux City, Ia.; Panguitch, Utah, and Manchester,

The runners-up who seemed completely baffled by the well-oiled team play of the Windsor wizards, had advanced to the final round over the Cliff of Dallas, Emporia, Kan., and Detroit Northeastern.

Windsor was a factor in last year's meet, winning its first three games, but they somehow were not taken into consideration early in the present tourney. They won with such little difficulty that the experts overlooked them.

Law, the rangy center, and F. Van Matre, the running guard, were stars of the walkaway victory tonight, but the defensive work of McCurdy was not to be overlooked. The South Dakotans could not get started against the tight defense of the mountaineers. They scored a pair in the opening period, but were held scoreless in the next two. They added their final score in the last frame. They were never in the run-Letitsch looped the first basket of the game and the Dakotans only score until the final period. Law, center for Windsor, followed it with three in a row. The Coloradoans were off. Thereafter Yankton hardly
