Banquet Planned for Press Club

Falls City Chamber of Commerce to Entertain Newspaper Men.

Stella, Neb., April 9.—Southeastern Nebraska Press club will hold its spring meeting at Falls City, Friday, April 18. The meeting will open with a dinner at noon at the Union house, at which the Falls City Daily Journal and the Falls City Daily News will be the hosts.

In the evening the press club will be entertained at a banquet by the Falls City Chamber of Commerce at the Union house. Some of the Falls City Chamber of Commerce members will speak after the banquet, and Ewing Herbert of the Hiawatha World and St. Joseph Journal will reply.

Ralph A. Clark of Stella will tell of "The Value of the Home Newspaper to the Small Town."

The theme to be carried through is "Advertising" and a plan will be taken up to strengthen the Nebraska State Press association as an agency, and to wage a fight against exorbitant commissions. The afternoon program is in the nature of a round table. Mr. Launch of the Warfield Advertising agency of Omaha will be one of the speakers and is expected to place before the newspaper folks the things the agencies wish to know to deal direct with the publishers.

Ole Buck of Harvard, field secretary of the Nebraska Press association, will take part in the round table. Nebraska newspapers are well organized, not only through the big state association, but in the small district associations. Southeastern Nebraska Press club is the district association for Richardson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Johnson counties, but when first organized four years ago embraced all the seven counties in the First congressional district. W. H. Orr of Falls City Journal is president; S. W. Thurber of Tecumseh Chief is vice president, and Miss Eunice Haskins of Stella Press is secretary-treasurer.

White Ribboners Celebrate Music Day at Gothenburg

Gothenburg, Neb., April 9.—White ribboners of Frances Willard union celebrated music day at the home of Mrs. W. J. Birkhofer. The purpose of the social was to express appreciation of the value of music in child life, in the home, the school and the community.

Mrs. Anna P. Boicot, piano artist, told the legend of harmony and inspired all by her translation of child vision.

Mrs. Louie Burson gave an interesting talk on "The Mother's Part." Miss Ann Kinnaman of the city schools sang a group from Carrie Jacob Bond, School Superintendent. Harry Burke gave a resume of the school's organized music and the high school orchestra of 15 pieces, under direction of Prof. H. Ziegenhein, played two group numbers.

Falls City.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the barns, sheds and some hay and grain at the farm of Ed Jones, south of Rufo, damage $1,000.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

When bluff meets bluff then neither wins. The matter ends where it begins. —Farmer Brown's Boy.

Sammy Jay Sees Two Bluffers.

For a few minutes there were four badly scared people in the Green Forest. They were Buster Bear's triplets and Farmer Brown's Boy. But the latter was frightened only for a few minutes. You see, he had known that those young Bears were somewhere about, for he had been following their footprints in the snow. He wouldn't have been frightened at all had it not been for the unexpected meeting with them. He had hoped to get within sight of them, but he hadn't expected to come face to face with one of them as he had when he came around the upturned roots of a great fallen tree. He had been so startled that he had yelled.

But the young Bears had received the greatest fright of their lives. They hadn't known that Farmer Brown's Boy was following them or frightened almost out of their wits when he yelled. They had promptly done the thing they had been taught to do in time of danger when they were very little, scramble up a tree. They had all chosen the same tree, and the way they had scrambled up, getting in each other's way and bawling as they climbed, had been one of the funniest sights Farmer Brown's Boy and Sammy Jay had ever seen.

Farmer Brown's Boy was no longer frightened. He began to laugh. He laughed and laughed, for those three young Bears were a funny sight as they clung to the tree as high up in it as they could climb, and whimpered.

But Farmer Brown's Boy's laugh didn't last long. In fact, it was cut off so suddenly that it almost choked him. Without any warning at all, there was a terrible "Woof, woof, woof!" and out of a thicket rushed a great Bear, with the wickedest looking eyes and the most awful looking teeth and with the most terrible sounding voice. To Farmer Brown's Boy's startled eyes that Bear looked to be twice as big as the biggest Bear he had ever seen. It was Mother Bear.

Straight at Farmer Brown's Boy she rushed, snapping her jaws and making a terrible noise. For a second or two he was too frightened to move. Then he realized that if he turned to run Mother Bear would know that he was afraid and would be on his track before he could go more than a few steps. So he did the wisest thing he could have done—he stood perfectly still.

Mother Bear stopped her sudden rush just a few feet from him. She glared at him, and he stared at her. There they stood, facing each other, while Sammy Jay, who was looking on, held his breath. For two long minutes neither moved. Then Mother Bear, still growling angrily, turned her head and looked up at the young Bears. They had stopped their crying and were looking down in round-eyed excitement. Mother Bear took a step or two toward that tree, then turned her head toward Farmer Brown's Boy and growled. He remained still, staring at her. So, turning to growl a dreadful threat after every few steps, Mother Bear retreated to the foot of the tree in which were the young Bears.

Then Farmer Brown's Boy slowly backed away. As soon as he dared to he turned and walked quickly, and then ran. "Phew!" he exclaimed. "I never was so scared in all my life! I bluffed that old Bear into thinking I wasn't afraid, but I was, just the same." And the funny part of it is Mother Bear at the same time was chuck-ling down inside at the thought of how she had bluffed Farmer Brown's Boy. You see, she had had no intention at all of attacking him. She was only pretending. (Copyright, 1924)

NEW GERMAN OIL SOLD UNDER WRITTEN GUARANTEE RUBS OUT RHEUMATISM

A remarkable new discovery of German Chemistry for the relief of rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia is establishing a new medical world. This marvelous oil seems to kill rheumatic pains just as effectively as these other German pain killers—Neocain for painless dentistry and Aspirin for headache pains.

Rheumatism in very many cases is due to internal abscesses (such as a blind pus pocket in a tooth which gives off poisons, and which are carried in the blood to the joints and muscles). This new German oil when applied to the affected parts, seems to quickly penetrate and be absorbed by the body tissue. Even in the most severe and stubborn cases almost instant relief has been obtained.

NOTE: The oil referred to above is known in this country as Eubler Oil. At the present time, the following druggists report that they have secured a limited quantity of Eubler Oil for distribution in this city. So remarkable have been the results from the use of Eubler Oil that these druggists are giving their customers a written guarantee to refund the price in full to any purchaser of Eubler Oil who fails to get immediate relief. (Sale at Beaton Drug Co., Merritt Drug Co., Barney Dugan Drug Co., Unitt-Doekal Drug Co., Saratoga Drug Co., Pope Drug Co. and Haines Drug Co.)
