Branding Iron to Go Back on Its Royal Hook After May 1, King Orders.

Every good knight of Ak-Sar-Ben who wants to remain a knight throughout the coming year must hurry and renew his membership. Such is the warning of Samson.

The limit of members has been set at 5,000. That is all that can be cared for at the Ak-Sar-Ben ball next fall. Already more than 1,400 have renewed their memberships and more are sending in their applications every day.

Business houses have begun to join as units. In South Omaha the Union Stockyards company has urged every employe to become a knight. The company has agreed to pay half the initiation cost. But the company's half is forthcoming only after a promise has been made by the new member that he will attend every den show possible through the summer.

Everett Buckingham, E. E. Grimes, H. L. Van Amburgh and Roy Richardson form the committee for memberships at the Union Stockyards company. They are working diligently every day explaining the aims of the organization. And with every attempt they land a new member.

The branding iron, well remembered from other years, has been taken from its hook in Samson's closet. King Ak-Sar-Ben by royal decree has signified his approval of using it to round up delinquent members after May 1.

But the king, in his decree, expressed a hope that this year the iron would not be necessary and further ordered that immediately upon the 5,000th member signing his check the iron is to be cooled, returned to its hook in the royal closet and the membership books closed.

"Ak-Sar-Ben is Omaha," Everett Buckingham is enthusiastic about the work that Ak-Sar-Ben has done and will do.

"Why Ak-Sar-Ben is Omaha," he tells candidates. "You live in Omaha, want to see Omaha progress so why not be part of its very life?"

Several other concerns in Omaha have joined the organization during the last week, and more are expected this week.

CHURCHES HOLD EASTER SERVICES

The pre-Easter evangelistic services being conducted at the First Christian church by Dr. W. A. Shullenberger of Des Moines, have been successful during the last week and will be continued each evening next week.

A week of pre-Easter services will be conducted in the tabernacle beginning Sunday, and closing Easter Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Mason will speak Sunday afternoon, preceding Mr. Brown, and Monday and Tuesday evenings Rev. Mr. Brown will continue from Wednesday evening through Easter.

Pre-Easter services will begin Sunday evening at the Mary Mann mission, Twentieth and Grace streets. They will be conducted by Rev. F. G. Rogers of Missouri.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 12.—Fourteen indictments in the criminal court and two in the federal court, faced Governor Warren T. McCray today, following disagreement of a jury, after trial on charges of embezzlement and larceny of $155,000 Indiana board of agriculture funds.

Trial on two indictments charging violation of the postal and national banking laws will be started in federal court April 21.

The jury in the first trial of the governor was unable to agree on a verdict in 27 hours of balloting.

MATE SLAMS DISHES FIRST WEEK

During the first week of their honeymoon Frank Frahm threw slaps at his bride, Margaret, she alleges in a petition for divorce filed in district court. They were married last May.

After that he slapped her on an average of twice a month and increased the number of slaps as time went on, says she. Last Monday, she alleges, he truck her and drove her from her home and grocery store at 4262 Ames avenue.

Two Women Divorced. Mrs. Myrtle Poland was granted a divorce from George Poland in Council Bluffs district court Friday. She testified that she kissed her husband only to "keep peace in the family." They were married in 1914.

Stockyards Men "Lassoed" for Samson Den

In South Omaha where branded steers are seen every day the thought of a white hot iron is not appealing. As a result, Everett Buckingham, E. E. Grimes, H. L. Van Amburgh and Roy Richardson have met with success in their campaign for members to Ak-Sar-Ben. The photograph shows the "bunch" from the Union Stockyards company who have signed up.

Here's Good News for the Lady Who Lost Her Hairpin

Gallant Gentleman Who Found It Offers It Back by Way of Favorite Paper.

That a maid has lost a hairpin is no cause to sigh or groan. Sure, they've all been losing hairpins since the flapper days of '21. But that chap deserves a medal. Which time never may tarnish black. Who has found an errant hairpin. And daves give the darn thing back!

Of course, if he's giving it back to the girl he helped lose it—well, that's different! But just imagine stumbling upon a peculiar design of hairpin (there are such things, they say), and announce to Omaha's multitudinous mass of femininity: "You may have this hairpin, madam, when you have proved conclusively that it is yours!"

It takes courage to do a thing like that. As far as I know, Caesar, Richard the Lion-Hearted, and Napoleon never dared undertake such a thing. The chances are that if they had they never would have become famous as generals, for armies and hairpins don't mix very well, except in domestic cases.

But here is a person of a different caliber than ever the renowned man who had a Brutus. This modern Caesar is not baffled by a hairpin. Instead, he makes bold to state in black and white in today's classified advertisement columns of The Bee that he has found a fancy hairpin and will restore the same to that woman who can prove it is her property. It is very possible that our hero has an arduous and nerve-racking month's work ahead of him. We hope only those who wear aristocratic Marie Antoinette hairpins will apply.

But Mr. Aesop would not let this opportunity go by. He would put his whiskers reflectively and say: "You can find anything, from a husband or a home to a hairpin, in the classified ads!" If you're from Missouri read The Omaha Bee classified columns and be convinced.

M'CORMICK LOSES IN ILLINOIS VOTE

Chicago, April 12.—Unofficial complete returns from all but 19 precincts in the state tonight indicated the nomination of former Governor Charles S. Deneen over Medill McCormick, incumbent, in the republican race for United States senator, by a plurality of 4,616 votes.

The vote for 5,725 of the state's 5,744 precincts is: Deneen, 353,339; McCormick, 351,383.

A recapitulation of returns at Chicago was started today and the official count will get under way next week. McCormick supporters were reported to be preparing to ask for a judicial recount as soon as the formal canvass is completed, asserting that a comparison of the vote polled for governor and senator in a number of Chicago wards and some downstate counties revealed discrepancies.

Boys Will Trim Store Windows and Write Ads

Executive Positions in Omaha Business Houses and Public Offices to Be Held by Youths.

Boys will trim the retail store windows, write the advertisements and act as salesmen and floorwalkers on "Boys' day in industry," one of the days of National Boys' week, April 27 to May 3, George Pray, chairman of the retailers' committee, said Saturday.

"Boys will be chosen for their places according to the line of study they are pursuing in school wherever possible," said Mr. Pray. "Advertisements will be signed by the names of the boys who wrote them. Cards in windows will indicate what boys trimmed them."

E. D. White, general chairman for this day, estimated that 2,500 to 3,000 boys will hold executive positions in Omaha business houses and public offices on that day. In banks the boys will work beside presidents, cashiers and tellers. In factories they will inspect manufacturing and learn methods of selling and distribution.

Live Models to Display Corsets for Seven Firms at Brandeis Store

Women's forms aren't what they used to be, corset specialists declare, so in order to save the figure and grace of youth seven big corset manufacturers have co-operated with the Brandeis stores to put on a fashion revue of corsets.

At this revue, which is to be held April 15 to 19 on the eighth floor of the store, the art of correct corsetry will be demonstrated. No more slouchy figures with swaying hips. Twelve live models will parade on the stage of the auditorium which will seat 1,000, in order to show the correct corset for the hour.

Slim women, small waists, average, full and stout women will wear corsets to show how to retard advancing weight of years. Free admission tickets for women only will be distributed at the corset department of the Brandeis stores, third floor.

The demonstrations will be held daily from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2:30 to 4 p. m. In addition to the fashion parade, health lectures, music and a dancing act will be given.

The original painting of a girl in a well known corset which is valued at $2,000 will be on exhibition. In this painting is shown the curved line down to the waist and over the hips that is said to hold the secret of a beautiful figure.

The show is the first of its kind to be held in Omaha, according to Karl Louis of Brandeis stores. Formerly, single corset manufacturers sent out their models for special shows, but on this occasion seven manufacturers have co-operated in an effort to save the figure of the women who have cast aside their corsets.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Multified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonsful is all that is required. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
