

Burton to Be Chairman of G. O. P. Meeting

Temporary Head Has Been in Republican Councils for 30 Years—An Orator of Note.

Washington, April 26—Selection of Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio, as temporary chairman of the republican national convention was indicated after a political conference today at the White House. Chairman Adams of the republican national committee, and David Mulvane, republican national committeeman for Kansas, and chairman of the convention arrangements sub-committee, present of Mr. Burton's name to the president, who approved the selection.

Representative Burton has held a commanding position in the councils of the republican party for more than 30 years. He has always been considered "regular" from the organization standpoint, and he is a skilled orator, fully capable of delivering an old-fashioned republican campaign speech to start this off at Cleveland, which is his home town. A lawyer by profession, Burton first served as a member of the house of representatives in 1888 and from 1905 until 1915 he was a member of the United States senate from Ohio. Returning to the lower house in 1920, Burton is now a member of the American debt funding commission, having been appointed by the late President Harding and as indication of the admiration in which he is held by President Coolidge he was offered the navy portfolio upon the retirement of Secretary Denby.

WOMEN VISITORS GET DUNN TO SING

More than 50 women in delegations from Lee Forby camp auxiliary, Spanish War Veterans, Grant post G. A. R., Woman's Relief Corps and central committee, Degree of Honor, called upon Henry Dunn in Square Six headquarters yesterday to wish him success and to tell him they will support him for re-election. They were not satisfied until he sang "Auld Lang Syne" for them. Comments on the efficiency of the police department brought J. C. Van Avery to headquarters with a copy of a national publication, "Motorcycle and Bicycle," in which appeared praise for the Omaha "pill-box" system established by Police Commissioner Dunn. City Commissioner Hopkins yesterday entertained two officials of Kansas City. They were A. R. Strickland, finance commissioner of Kansas City, Kan., and W. Drennan, city attorney of Kansas City, Mo.

The Square Six candidates expect to attend a meeting of street railway men at Swedish auditorium Monday night at 8. They have a scheduled meeting at Benson community building the evening of April 30, the Northwest Political club having invited them to address the meeting.

Stations Aid to Cities and Roads, Claim

American Railway Express Officials in Omaha Predict Better Business in Near Future.

"As a general rule new and better Union stations are beneficial not only to the city they grace, but also to the railroads and express companies which utilize them."

This declaration was made by R. E. M. Cowie of New York, president of the American Railway Express company, who, with a party of company officials, stopped in Omaha Saturday. When told of the move for a new Union station in Omaha, Cowie declined to discuss the need of a station here in a specific manner, pleading that he was not thoroughly posted on local conditions. But speaking generally he asserted his conviction that better terminals are excellent investments for all concerned interests.

Business Outlook Good.

"Business throughout the country cannot be called poor, but could be better," said Cowie. "I am convinced that it will be better, too; for there is every indication of excellent crops in most sections. A return of the foreign market would also be a great boon to American business. I consider the work of the House committee most constructive. Asked if express companies which have lost considerable farm produce business in the parcel post system could regain part of it by reducing rates, Mr. Cowie replied: "A hearing effecting such express rates was held recently by the interstate commerce commission. Our attitude toward reduction of rates on food commodities has not been antagonistic, but we have contended that if such a reduction is made there should be increases in rates on other merchandise to make up for the loss."

Farmer Needs Relief.
"The farmer undoubtedly needs some relief at this time. Whether a reduction would increase express business enough to counteract the loss is a question. We believe rates can be advanced on other grades of merchandise without a hardship on anyone."

"If someone had the political courage to put parcel post rates on a basis which would make the service self-supporting we would regain much business. But let me add that express business is good, and express service is better than ever before."

Incidents in Life of Bishop Told

Dr. Clyde Stuntz Tells of Father's Career at Honor Banquet.

"Inside information in the life of Bishop Homer C. Stuntz" was given 250 representatives of the 14 Omaha Methodist churches at First M. E. church Friday night.

The dinner was one tendered to the Stuntz family by the Methodist union of Omaha and Dr. Clyde Stuntz, son of the bishop, furnished the "information."

Bishop Stuntz was still too ill to attend the dinner. Several amusing incidents occurring during the time Bishop Stuntz was a missionary in India, where his son will soon be located were told. One serious story narrated how a church which now has 25,000 members was made possible through a conversation between Bishop Stuntz and a native from the hill country.

Incidents from the opium traffic fight in the Philippines in which Bishop Stuntz participated were told.

Miss Homer Stuntz was presented with a large basket of cut flowers as a token of the esteem in which she is held by Methodist congregations of Omaha. Rev. Arthur Atch, pastor of the Hancock Park Methodist church, made the presentation speech.

"If there ever was a man who had a passion for God and a passion for his fellow man, it was Bishop Homer C. Stuntz," he said. Rev. T. C. Webster, chaplain at the Methodist hospital, gave the prayer at closing. Mrs. W. Dale Clark offered a vocal solo. George Schultz of Trinity church was toastmaster.
