

Miss Alice Mary Turney

The Social Glist of Brides and Hostesses

Miss Edward F. Leary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Turney announce the betrothal of their daughter, Alice Mary, to Maynard Armstrong Buchanan son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Buchanan.

The engagement is the culmination of a romance begun when Miss Turney was a freshman in Central High school, and continued later in the University of Nebraska, where Miss Turney, an Alpha Chi Omega, was chosen two years ago as one of the university's 70 most beautiful girls.

Mr. Buchanan is a graduate of Shattuck Military academy, at Fairbault, Minn., and attended the university where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Of unusual beauty was the wedding of Miss Dorothy Judson to Wallace Shepard which took place Thursday evening at the First Presbyterian church. It was carried out in white and gold of the Easter lilies, which were used in the decorations.

After two weeks in Colorado Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Shepard will return to Omaha to make their home. They will spend the summer at the Judson home in Fairacres.

One of the week's most charming hostesses was Mrs. Edward Leary, who was at home yesterday to 150 guests in honor of Velma Lois Sutton, coloratura soprano, who is to appear Saturday evening as soloist for the Omaha Symphony orchestra.

Spring flowers in shell pinks added to an already lovely setting. Mrs. Leary wore a striking gown of black and white chiffon, Miss Sutton, one in white; Mrs. Frank Boyd, whose guest she is, wore blue georgette, and Miss Mary Munchhoff a soft dress of white.

Assisting Mrs. Leary were Mesdames W. E. Martin, A. I. Creigh, J. W. Hughes, George Engler, Arthur Coad, J. M. Harding, Samuel Rees, N. C. Leary, Misses Helen Hussie, Eleanor Burkley, May Leary, Nan Murphy.

Omaha Altrusans Do a Modern Paul Revere in Michigan

Breaking All Traffic Regulations, They Expected a Night in Jail—Instead, They Made Their Train.

By GABBY.

THOSE Altrusa girls from Omaha were "just the limit" at the national convention at Kalamazoo, Mich., from which they returned this week. They haven't told the story on themselves, but had news travels fast, you know, and this is already spreading over town.

Conventionists had been taken over to Battle Creek, about 50 miles away, to see the sights, and find out the way to health and why "there's a reason." They were warned that they must be at a certain place at a certain hour to get the interurban back to Kalamazoo that night.

The Omaha delegation had been escorted all over the place by a young gallant, who finally deposited them at a lonesome-looking spot, saying it was "according to instructions." Consternation overtook the girls when they realized they were some distance from the station and that the hour for the train was upon them. They appealed to a passerby.

"You'll never make your train. There it goes now," she said, pointing down the street. "But wait a minute, maybe you can, if this man will help you out."

She hailed a genial appearing gentleman who was driving by. "Sure, get in," he ordered.

The girls will never be quite sure what happened. All they recall is a dizzy whirl through the main streets of town; not a stop or a stutter at any crossing; no regard, apparently, for traffic regulations; only a hazy, sick feeling as they pictured a night in jail.

Several miles out at a little wayside station, the driver overtook the train which they had missed in town.

"How dared you do it, they breathed hoarsely as they pulled themselves on to the car, muttering a feeble and frightened thanks. "Oh, that was all right, girls. You see I'm the chief of police."

THOUGH flowers will always remain sympathy's sweetest messenger, many popular substitutes are being used, especially for unfortunates who have to spend any considerable time in a hospital.

fish in their crystal sphere is claimed to be the short route to dreamland. To be sure it does not affect a cat that way, but this fact may imply a subtle compliment to the recipient of the gift.

A modern development of the old jelly-and-custard theme is suggested by Mrs. Amos Thomas, who sends a three-course dinner in thermopacks filled with hot or cold dainties and cleverly arranged to tempt an invalid's appetite. Mrs. Herbert Daniels contributes foreign pictorial magazine to the amusement of her hospital-bound friends.

"Don't write, send candy," is an unpopular slogan with sick persons. (Turn to Page Two, Column Two.)

Three Generations an Attractive Group

Mrs. A. M. Corrigan, Mrs. A. E. Becker, Miss Ina Corrigan

This unusually attractive three-generations group shows Mrs. A. E. Becker with her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Corrigan, and her granddaughter, Jenn. Mrs. Corrigan leaves for her home in St. Louis this week, following a visit here with her parents. She was formerly Miss Catherine Becker, Miss Jean, who is attending Dundee school, will remain with her grandparents until the end of the term. She came to them when her parents were moving from Cleveland to St. Louis several months ago. Mrs. Corrigan has enjoyed a renewal of friendship in St. Louis this winter with Mrs. Frances Murphy (Miss Marion Wedler), who went there in January as a bride.

Parents Complete Plans to Attend Commencements

Plans for busy dates, by planting, senior proms and the like, which are occupying student minds in the east just now, have a counterpart in the west in ten miles of certain parents, whose thoughts of railway tickets, baggage checks and summer traveling wardrobes are settling.

Soon these parents will be entraining for various points on the Atlantic coast to attend their young hopefuls' commencement exercises. Mrs. Sam Burns will leave the latter part of May for the east, where she will attend the graduation ceremonies of her daughter Bernice's class at Miss Masters' school, Dulles Ferry. Miss Burns will enter Smith college in the fall.

Four families will go to Wellesley. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Harper leave the first of June for Wellesley. They will motor down for the graduation of their daughter, Juvenita and for her subsequent departure with a party of her classmates for a summer abroad under the care of Prof. and Mrs. Ward of the Wellesley faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Leusser will meet their son, Paul, a sophomore at Dartmouth, in June and with him will go to Wellesley when Miss Virginia Leusser graduates.

Mrs. George W. Platner will also go to Wellesley. She and her daughter, Josephine, will spend a month in the east after the graduation exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Patton will leave about June 12 for Wellesley, to be with their daughter, Frances. Her fiancé, Ralph Campbell, whom she will wed next year, will not be able to be in Wellesley for commencement.

Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Wherry will motor to Onalide, Ill., in June for the graduation of their son, Walter, from Onalide Military school. The young man will enter the University of Nebraska in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Adams plan to go east in June to attend the graduation of their son, Burke, from Cornell university. Mr. Adams, Jr. is taking a group of his classmates to Europe June 21.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ritchie will go east for the graduation of their daughter, Emma, from Miss Sommers' school in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Margaret Hynes will go to Hill school, Pottstown, Pa., to be with her son, William. Later they will spend the summer abroad with Mrs. Nelson Updike and Nelson, Jr.

Former Omaha Girl Writes From Lucknow, India

From Lal Bagh Girls' school at Lucknow, Miss Jean Bothwell, who went to India more than a year ago, to enter Methodist missionary service in a secretarial capacity, writes to Mrs. J. D. Buchanan of Omaha, under date of April 2. She has spent considerable of her time thus far in studying the language. Her letter says in part:

"Lucknow is hot, hotter, and rapidly getting hotter and then we will shut up shop and go to the hills. I will be glad when it comes time to climb the hill, as the winds are rather trying. We rise early and start school at 6:30 these days, and the whole thing is over by 12 o'clock. I have been staying in the office until about 1 o'clock and then come up here to my room for rest or whatever I please until 5:15 time, about 2, which is served in our rooms. Then one needn't emerge until after sundown when the winds die and a peaceful coolness comes to ease up the strain."

"Last year I had five months in the hills because of language study but this year only six weeks, as school begins again in July. We have about 150 girls in the boarding department. Right now I am training a group for a drama, as they call it, to be given at the close of school for a farewell to the graduating class. They are such nice girls and it is great fun to work with them."

Former Omaha Girl Writes From Lucknow, India

"We wear pith helmets everywhere in the daytime because of the sun, and there is no beauty about them unless they are cleverly disguised. So all we need hats for are evenings and church."

For Recent Bride.

Among affairs of the week honoring Mrs. Stephen Brown (Miss Maude Miller), whose marriage last summer was recently announced, included a shower given by Mrs. Lyman Cross at her home Friday night. Miss Arline Cerucross will give a luncheon on Tuesday and Miss Eleanor Line a luncheon Wednesday at the Athletic club and Miss Marie Carveth will entertain Saturday afternoon.

Miss Claire Daugherty, Miss Florence Hyde, Becky Peters, Mrs. Wallace Shepard, Miss Eleanor Burkley

Leaguers Leave

Mrs. Glen Wharton and Mrs. Henry Bohling left Friday to spend two weeks in Denver with Mr. and Mrs. Grover Coors, Mr. and Mrs. Berrian Hildges and Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Elliott. While there they will attend the national convention of the Junior League, which will be held May 7-10.

Delegates will be there from 45 cities where the Junior League has branches, a chain which stretches from Portland, Me., to Honolulu.

Mrs. Marion Towle, Mrs. Albert S. Bernson, Mrs. Paul Gallagher, Mrs. Louis Meyer, Mrs. John Loomis and Mrs. Conrad Young will leave Tuesday for Denver.

Engagement.

The engagement of Miss Janet Chase of Lincoln, who is a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Charles Burke, and of her cousin, Mrs. Walter C. Klopp, this week-end, was announced today.

Miss Chase's fiancé, George Edward Selligan, Jr., of Lincoln is also a guest here.
