

Sixty-One Years in Business

C. C. Belden.

Sixty-one years ago tomorrow, May 5, 1863, C. C. Belden began his business career in a country store in Mesopotamia (not Asia, but Ohio). The event will be celebrated fittingly at the Thompson-Belden store, of which he is the head. It will be known as "Belden day" with bargain attractions, and at 6:30 a dinner in honor of Mr. Belden, given by the department managers in the store cafeteria.

Twelve employees have been with the store more than a quarter century. W. F. Negels, the secretary, has a service record dating from 1887. W. W. P. Horne, a director, has been in the firm since 1889; Robert Nicoll and Bertha Meyer, also directors, since 1889 and 1891, respectively. Others who have been there more than 25 years include Henry Parke, G. W. Palmer, Blanche Sedgwick, Emma Johnson, Helen Ehlers, H. J. Gillespie, Frances Dillman and J. A. Ladek.

Mr. Belden is president of the company; his son, C. R. Belden, is vice-president; J. H. Taylor, treasurer. He is a director of the National Retail Dry Goods association, of the National Retail Garment Men's association and of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce. He is a Mason, member of Happy Hollow club and an honorary member of the University club.

The store has been in its present quarters at Sixteenth and Howard streets since 1905. Prior to that it occupied locations in the old Y. M. C. A. building and at 1319 Farnam street.

Barber Shop Shorn of Homely Glamour to Weary Man by Intruding Bobbed Hair Fad; 'Ts Awful, Mr. President!

By WILLIAM W. LAMPMANN.

Homely custom is held sacred in the masculine heart. Let women take the places of men at the polls, in offices, factories, science, business, yes, in the street cars, but "lease kind providence, please don't let them take men's places in the barber shops.

But it is a vain prayer, for women have already taken to the male tonsorial parlors like static to a loud speaker. Still even in this crisis, some man-of-the-hour may arise, unite the masculine proponents of the "carve" her hair into shape. Her favorite clip is a real close shingle at the back with long wing-like sideburns hanging down to the corners of her mouth.

Each shop usually has one or two barbers at least who are expert at shearing feminine "hatches."

MINOR "REPAIRS" ARE GIVEN FOR SMILE.

"Oh, say," remarked one sweet young thing as she tripped into a shop the other day, "I've gotta date tonight with a fella I ain't never been out with before; is my shingle all sanctity of the barber shop and establish exclusive male shops.

At present barbers have become so accustomed to their feminine trade that "haircut" is almost an obsolete word. "Trim" is the term.

THAT GUILTY FEELING TO THOSE WHO DON'T

Of course any gentleman will tell you, ladies come first when there is a crowd waiting for tonsorial treatment. There is that guilty feeling if you fail to respect the eternal feminine.

What a nuisance for a man to be right, or do I need to get it trimmed a little?"

The obliging bob artist inspected the girl's head and ran the clippers over the back of her neck.

"That'll fix you," he smiled.

"Much obliged," his patron chirped, walking out.

Many girls are making use of the lack of union regulation governing prices for minor hair operations such as this to get hair repairs for a smile.

But can the barbers be blamed? Who wouldn't prefer to snip the golden locks of a pretty miss to scraping the jawl of one of us poor males. The work is more intricate, engrossing. The clipper "chauffeurs" are slighting male hair cuts while they strive to invent new styles and effects in feminine hair dressings.

But why say more? We men are being eased out of a noble American institution which had its origin in the founding of the republic. Something ought to be done about it, Mr. President.
