Two Solons Near Blows in Senate

Watson, Alleging Oil Committee Gone Far Afield, Comes to Open Breach With Ashurst.

Walsh Too Angry to Talk

International News Service. Washington, May 6.—Harsh and angry words were hurled back and forth across the senate chamber this afternoon when the most acrimonious partisan debate of the present session broke out over the oil in vestigation.

At one time it appeared that Senator Watson, republican of Indiana, would come to blows with Senator Ashurst, democrat, of Arizona.

The row started when Watson observed the Walsh committee had gone far afield in its oil investigation by searching for campaign material.

Walsh, betraying the strain under which he has worked for months became so angered at Watson's charges that he could scarcely speak.

Walsh started from his seat, shouting: "Now I am attacked on the floor of the senate just as I have been attacked outside and in newspapers."

"I am not attacking the senator," Watson said coolly. "You are, you are," Walsh cried. "You said I was actuated by no other purpose than to dig up political dirt."

"I said nothing of the kind," Watson retorted. "I said that, after the committee had discovered what it set out to do—after its case had been presented in court—it went far afield for political issues for campaign material."

"The investigation was either to discredit the president of the United States, or for purely political reasons."

"We established that Albert Fall was guilty of bribery-taking," interrupted Walsh.

"The courts will decide that," retorted Watson. "The senate is lower in public esteem than ever before and as the senate has deteriorated the president goes up," continued Watson.

"Did you say blown up?" interrupted Senator Ashurst, democrat, of Arizona.

"No, gone up," snapped Watson. "The plain intention of your speech is to encourage crime, to excite crime," shouted Ashurst.

"You wouldn't say that if we were in the cloak room," Watson shouted. "Oh, yes I would, I'd say worse than that," returned Ashurst.

Solons Agree to Make Jap Barrier Effective July 1

Senate and House Conferees Decision Understood to Be Unsatisfactory to Coolidge.

Washington, May 6.—Japanese exclusion as provided in the immigration bill will become effective July 1, 1924, under an agreement reached today by senate and house conferees on the measure.

The house section relating to alien seamen was adopted practically without change, although it had been stricken out in the senate.

Provisions for "selection of immigrants at the source" and for immigration visas by American consular officials abroad were already in virtual agreement and remained unchanged in the conference.

Preference "within the quota" will be given to parents of American citizens and to skilled farm labor, but in no case will such preference be permitted to exceed 50 per cent of a nation's quota.

Washington, May 6.—Indications were given at the White House tonight that the agreement of the senate and house immigration bill conferees to make Japanese exclusion effective by law next July, was unsatisfactory to President Coolidge.

Whether the president would consider the exclusion provision sufficient cause for a veto of the immigration bill was not disclosed, but it was said that he did not consider the two months remaining before July 1 at all sufficient time in which to negotiate an agreement or treaty with Japan for exclusion.

COOLIDGE SWEEPS MARYLAND, 12 TO 1

Baltimore, Md., May 6.—President Calvin Coolidge will have the solid vote of the Maryland republican delegation for a sixth term at the national convention as a result of yesterday's primary election.

Mr. Coolidge, who was the only presidential candidate to file in Maryland, was overwhelmingly endorsed in the most apathetic primary in the state's history. Not more than 10 per cent of the republicans voted.

The vote was in a ratio of about 12 to 1 for Coolidge.

Cumberland, Md., May 6.—Representative Frederick Zihlman, republican, of the Sixth Maryland district, was nominated for a fifth term at the primary yesterday, according to returns compiled today.

Washington, May 6.—J. H. Searies of Huron today was appointed federal prohibition director for South Dakota, succeeding William O. Knight, who resigned last October.

Simmons Is Beaten in New Fight

Habeas Corpus Writ for Nebraska Slayer Is Declared Ineffective by County Judge.

Only 17 Days Remain

By Associated Press. Butte, Neb., May 6.—Another chance for the life of W. H. Simmons, convicted to die in the electric chair May 23, was exhausted here today when County Judge Ford assented to the objections of the state legal department to habeas corpus proceedings in this county to further the condemned man's fight against execution.

Near Last Resource. Attorneys for Simmons, who was sentenced to die for the murder of Frank Pahl, Spencer garage man two years ago, have exhausted practically all resources to keep the prisoner from the electric chair.

The failure in an appeal to the state board of pardons and paroles for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment, the condemned man's attorneys obtained a writ of habeas corpus here.

This was served upon Warden W. T. Fenton of the state penitentiary in Lincoln and he was ordered thereby to deliver the prisoner before the bar at county court here May 8.

State legal department officers, however, sent assistant Attorney General Floyd Dorr to the court here and he raised the objection for the state that the writ served upon the warden was ineffective, inasmuch as Fenton is a state officer and not under the county court's jurisdiction.

Judge Ford sustained this objection and dismissed the habeas corpus proceedings.

This leaves but 17 days for Simmons to carry on what has so far been a losing fight for his life.

England Given U. S. Navy Picture

View Depicting Squadron Joining British Fleet Presented by Kellogg.

London, May 6.—Frank E. Kellogg, the American ambassador, made a short speech today at the British admiralty in presenting a picture depicting the sixth United States battle squadron joining with the British grand fleet during the war, the gift of the officers and men of that squadron to his majesty's admiralty board.

Mr. Kellogg, who was accompanied by Captain Charles L. Husey, naval attaché of the embassy, was received by Lord Chelmsford, first lord of the admiralty; Admiral Earl Beatty, first sea lord; Rear Admiral Hodges, and the entire admiralty board in the historic board room where the picture will be hung with the other more ancient ones picturing the scenes of England's naval glory.

Mr. Kellogg said the gift was intended as America's recognition of and admiration for the British sea power in the war. It would be a remembrance of the close co-operation and friendly alliance between the two navies.

Woman, Unaided, Climbs Out of 30-Foot Well After Fall

Grand Island, Neb., May 6.—A special dispatch from Sargent relates to an unusual incident. Mrs. Ruth Adams, a saleswoman in a department store, while wandering over an old vacant lot on her father's farm, approached an old abandoned well, the covering of which gave way, precipitating her 30 feet below. She was not only uninjured, but had by hand-over-hand work on the iron pipes, bracing her feet against the soft dirt, climbed to the top without assistance, being aided only on the last lap up the opening. She was at work Monday as usual.

Cy William's Homers Enable Phils to Beat Giants

Cy Williams' two home runs in the game with the Giants Tuesday aided materially in Philadelphia's 5 to 4 victory over the New Yorkers. Williams' circuit clouts for the season now total five.

Oscar Fuhr, former Omaha hurler, pitched the Boston Red Sox to their sixth straight victory. The Washington Senators were the victims. Peckinpaugh, Senator short stop, was spiked in the second inning and was removed from the game.

Babe Ruth was responsible for the Yankees' defeat over the Athletics yesterday, the Bambino driving in two runs in the fifth and scoring the winning run in the eighth.

Nick Cullop allowed St. Joseph four hits and the Buffaloes trimmed the Saints 6 to 2. Cullop was in hot water in the first three innings, but after that settled down, holding the Joes scoreless.

Bluffs Girl Is Kidnaped From School, Belief

Radio Search Started When Miss Fails to Return From School After Man Calls.

Fear that Katherine Hunt, Council Bluffs school girl, has been kidnaped was expressed Tuesday evening by her school teacher and relatives when the girl failed to return home from her class.

A message was broadcast over station WQAV with a description of the girl asking for information regarding her whereabouts.

Katherine is a pupil at Avenue A school in the Bluffs.

Tuesday afternoon, according to the teacher, a man shabbily dressed and representing himself to be the girl's uncle and messenger from her mother, called at the school and asked for her.

The little girl left with the man, the teacher said, and has not been seen since.

Her mother is Mrs. W. H. Walker, 1704 Avenue F, Council Bluffs.

Katherine has dark hair and blue eyes and was wearing a yellow dress when at school, the teacher said.

Omaha and Council Bluffs police have been notified to search the two cities for her and her "uncle" companion.

Police Raid Butler Vote Stronghold

Second Pair in Custody

Police late Tuesday afternoon raided a Dan Butler-for-Commissioner headquarters at Twenty-fourth and Lake streets.

R. H. Johnson, 523 North Fifteenth street, and R. H. Black, 1706 North Twenty-fourth street, both colored, were arrested and held for investigation.

Sergeant Pat Payne and Detective Ben Danbaum staged the raid.

Cluttering Streets. The raid of the headquarters was made on complaint of residents in the vicinity of the place. They charged that the streets were being cluttered with literature attacking City Commissioner Joseph Koutsky.

Police were summoned to the neighborhood several times before they responded. At first they believed the complaint came from some disgruntled person, they said. But after receiving five or six other complaints, they went out to investigate.

Several men were in the room when the officers entered, but only the two who were alleged to be behind the movement of putting out the handbills were placed under arrest.

Two Others Held. At Central police station, the two arrested men admitted they had hired persons to circulate the handbills in question. Both of them made signed statements.

They were held for further questioning.

Two other men were arrested Monday night under similar circumstances when they were charged with passing out handbills without a license. They said they had been hired by employees of a contracting firm to distribute literature denouncing Koutsky.

POSSES SEEKING JAIL FUGITIVES

Steam Boat Springs, Colo., May 6.—Posses of citizens today are scouring the mountains and passes in the vicinity of this city for Ed Garrison, convicted murderer, and Charles Stark, alleged bootlegger, who escaped from the Rout county jail here some time early this morning.

Sheriff Charles Newman declared it as his opinion that the men had been aided in their escape by outsiders. An outer screen protecting a window of the jail had been torn from its hinges and a window pane was broken.

Carnes was convicted last November of the murder of B. F. Williams, town trustee of Oak Creek, Colo., during a quarrel.

Amite City, La., May 6.—After escaping several enraged mobs, Mrs. Annie Dykes and John Hogan, confessed slayers of Hollie Dykes, the woman's husband, today were placed in the county jail here for safekeeping. The windows of the cells face a courtyard holding the gallows from which six Italians are doomed to hang Friday unless federal courts intervene.

Body Found in River; Wife and Man Are Accused

Night Watchman Said to Have Admitted Slaying Woman's Husband With Car.

Bogalusa La., May 6.—John Hogan, a night watchman, and Mrs. Collie Dykes were arrested today charged with the killing of Mrs. Dykes' husband, a city employe, last Tuesday. Dyke's body was found by accident, while searchers were seeking the body of S. C. Flynt, principal of a school at Poplarville, Miss., who was drowned in Pearl river Monday near the spot where Dykes' body was found floating.

Hogan is said by the authorities to have admitted at the coroner's inquest that he killed Dykes, striking him on the head with a boat paddle while they were fishing. Mrs. Dykes, according to the authorities, confessed that she planned the murder of her husband. She also admitted, the authorities said, that she had fed her husband crushed glass but it failed to make him seriously ill.

Mrs. Dykes is 44, while her husband was about 40, and Hogan 45. Mrs. Dykes did not witness the killing, Hogan stated.

Hogan has four children and came here recently from Pacayune, Miss. His wife died several weeks ago. The Dykes had two children.

The fact that Dykes had not been missing for almost a week had not been reported to the police and finding of his body was the first clue the authorities had that he had been murdered.

Amite City, La., May 6.—After escaping several enraged mobs, Mrs. Annie Dykes and John Hogan, confessed slayers of Hollie Dykes, the woman's husband, today were placed in the county jail here for safekeeping. The windows of the cells face a courtyard holding the gallows from which six Italians are doomed to hang Friday unless federal courts intervene.

A corps of special officers, heavily armed, has been stationed around the building to prevent possible violence.

Sixteen Pupils Honored by Hastings High School

Hastings, Neb., May 6.—Sixteen boys and girls have just been elected to the Hastings chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools by Principal R. W. Johnson and council of teachers. The pupils are charter members and were elected from the 11th and 12th grades. They are: Floyd Baugh, Ethel Brandes, Wayne Brewster, Hildegarde Brommer, Kenneth Brown, Florence Frink, Delbert Gisch, Nell Helkus, Willard Minkner, Margaret Platt, Henry Schmitt, Elizabeth Shively, Margaret Strayer, Karr Taylor, Roy Van Borsing and Helen Van Gilder. Membership is based on scholarship, service, leadership and character.

Shenandoah, Ia., May 6.—Miss Ella Murphy, a member of the English faculty at State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, has been elected to teach English in Pekin university, Pekin, China. She will sail the first of August. Miss Murphy, who was educated at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., and the University of Wisconsin, has taught at Austin, Minn., Shenandoah and East High in Des Moines.

Butler's Running Mates Fail to Show Strength; Stroud-McGowan Beaten

Early Returns Indicate That Voters Ran True to Form in Making Their Selections for City Commissioners—Sutton, Reynolds and Kiene Unable to Keep Up With Butler.

Lack of Counting Boards Slows Definite Returns

BULLETIN. On 25 precincts Butler had gone into the lead over Courtney. The vote on these 25 precincts, which was considered sufficient to forecast the election of Butler, was: Butler, 2,397; Courtney, 2,244.

Early returns indicated that the entire Dahlman ticket was elected. The mayor's slate ran well ahead of all opposition in the early returns. The vote also plainly showed that supporters of the Dahlman ticket were voting for six men only.

Butler Profits. The early returns also showed that Dan Butler was profiting by the "vote for only six" slogan. On the face of early returns Sutton, Reynolds and Kiene, Butler's running mates, were out of the race and Stroud, Rosenthal and McGowan also were hopelessly beaten.

Race Is Close. The race between Courtney and Butler, on the face of early returns, was neck and neck. Courtney was displaying surprising strength in several sections of the city. Included in the early precincts which returned a slight margin for Courtney over Butler were precincts in the Park Avenue district, in Dundee and Minne Lusa.

On the first 12 precincts received Courtney was leading Butler by 88 votes. Result Problematical. The vote, however, was varied, and downtown precincts predominated, so it was impossible to foretell what the final result might be. Politicians were inclined to believe Omahan Elected Head of K. of C.

Francis P. Mathews Chosen as Deputy in State at Annual Convention.

Kearney, Neb., May 6.—Francis P. Mathews of Omaha was elected state deputy of the Knights of Columbus in Nebraska today at the 20th annual convention, at which 41 of the 45 councils in the state were represented.

Other officers chosen were Dr. E. G. Zimmerman, Lincoln, state secretary; Dr. J. C. Tighe, Madison, state warden; J. Howard Helme, Norfolk, state treasurer; and Father Dumphy, Stanton, state chaplain. Dr. Tighe, E. O. Dungan of Chadron, Father H. Masternung of Kearney, John Fitzpatrick of Omaha and John Casey of Falls City were elected delegates to the national convention.

The convention in resolutions endorsed organization of a junior auxiliary organization to be fostered by the Knights of Columbus, favored the holding of district meetings during the course of the year, subject to call of officers; designated the True Voice, published in Omaha, as the official organ of the order; urged revision of the state bylaws and rules to consider financing a scholarship in Notre Dame university, Indiana, for the training of a boy leader as a part of the program to promote boys' activities, decided to extend future state conventions over two days because of the large volume of business to be transacted, and ordered representation at the installation of Bishop Beckman of Lincoln.

A committee to assist in the laymen's retreat movement was urged in another resolution. Discharge of the Catholic Community Center committee at Lincoln and the Creighton stadium committee at Omaha was also ordered.

A banquet tonight concluded the meeting.

Summary of The Day In Washington. The senate engaged in a political debate involving the various investigations.

The house patents committee heard more composers' complaints of radio broadcasting. Edward L. Doherty, jr. was called before the federal grand jury investigating oil charges. A house committee began investigating the bureau of engraving and duplication charges. Separate republican leaders agreed to seek a compromise on the surtax rates in the revenue bill. C. W. Middlekauff, assistant United States attorney at Chicago, testified before the Daugherty committee. Speaker Gillett ruled the Barkley bill to abolish the railroad labor board must wait two weeks for action. President Coolidge let it be known that he regards as very undesirable certain amendments made to the tax bill by the senate. Charges of serious deterioration in the navy, it was said at the White House, are regarded as generally unfounded by President Coolidge. Democratic senate leaders decided there was too much legislation undisposed of to determine whether they would agree to adjourn for the political conventions. Japanese exclusion, effective July 1 next, was agreed upon by senate and house conferees on the immigration bill, who completed agreement upon all other disputed points.
