Ideal Girl Need Not Be Good Cook--Must Have "Good Social Appearance"

Girls are just what men expect them to be, it is often maintained. And what, in a man's opinion, is the ideal girl?

Five manuscripts on the subject, written by men students at Omaha university, were read Tuesday morning at a meeting of the Y. W. C. A.

"The ideal girl doesn't have to know how to cook, but she must have a good social appearance," said one.

"She must have brothers and sisters," demanded another, "as an only child is always spoiled."

"The ideal girl is the one I love," set forth one of the scribes, without further elucidation.

"A crowning glory of red hair, hot dawg" was the requirement as given by one dapper youth.

More serious was the fifth ultimatum: "She must have higher ideals than I have."

Character, looks and disposition seem to be the considerations. Rather discouraging to the girl who can make a good butter Scotch pie, unless perhaps she should have a mop of auburn locks, or be one of a large family.

Miss Heaton Weds

Miss Claire B. Heaton of Omaha and Frank E. Honeyman of New York were quietly married Thursday night at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Florence Burkett, 2416 Fowler avenue. Rev. William Guss performed the ceremony. Mr. Honeyman and his bride have departed for a three-week motor tour.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Edith Hughes served as matron of honor and W. Earl Thurber was the best man.

A wedding supper at the home of Mrs. Florence Burkett followed the ceremony.

Marjorie Menold Sets Wedding Date

Miss Marjorie Menold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Menold, has set Tuesday, June 10, as the date for her wedding to John Stooker of Nebraska City. Plans for the ceremony are indefinite.

B. P. O. Does

Among the official delegates to the Benevolent and Patriotic Order of Does' convention which will meet at the Elks' club rooms Friday will be Mrs. E. C. Byerly of Omaha, Mrs. Frank A. Putnam from Droye No. 1, Omaha; Mrs. W. P. Heath, Chadron; Mrs. G. L. King, McCook; Mrs. E. G. Wood, Lincoln. One hundred and fifty are expected to attend the convention. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

West Omaha Mothers Elect

Mrs. James Carr was elected president of the West Omaha Mothers' club Wednesday at the home of Mrs. R. H. Baldwin. Mrs. T. J. White was chosen vice president; Mrs. Elmer Johnson, secretary and treasurer.

William Piskay talked at the meeting on amateur photography.

A luncheon May 29 at the home of Mrs. R. C. Dozier will close the year.

Medical Women Elect

The second annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of Medical Women was held Tuesday evening at the Athletic club. Dr. Inez C. Philbrick of Lincoln, Neb., was elected president, succeeding Dr. Emelia Brandt of Omaha; Dr. Martha E. McVean of Nebraska City, was made vice president; Dr. Mary E. Hammond of Lincoln, secretary and treasurer to succeed Dr. Alice M. Kani of Omaha.

Gates-Godfrey

Mrs. Charles H. Godfrey announces the marriage of her daughter, Margaret Gretchen, to Amos W. Gates, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gates, Wednesday evening, May 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates left immediately for an extended trip throughout the west and will be at home after July 15 at Oakdale farm, their country home in Sarpy county.

For Mrs. Abbott, Jr.

Mrs. Naason Young will give a luncheon bridge on Wednesday for Mrs. Chauncey Abbott, Jr., a recent bride. Mrs. Young and Mrs. Abbott were girlhood friends in Lincoln.

Food Sale

Mrs. T. J. Mackay, assisted by Mesdames I. B. Rubin, E. C. Brown and A. E. Woodman, will be in charge of a food sale to be given by the ladies of All Saints parish on Friday, May 16, on the main floor of Burgess-Nash company.

Final Day of May Time Tea Room

Wednesday was men's day at the First Presbyterian May time tea room, the first "for men only" since the start of the annual spring institution, and in appreciation men literally took the place by storm. Reservations had been made for 125, and 195 Rotarians arrived.

It was the record meeting of the organization.

They arrived en masse, putting the kitchen force of social leaders in a panic.

A panic, however, which was soon quelled and the prompt service which ensued was a triumph of which professionals would have been proud, though some of the best Presbyterians were slighted for the honor of their women folk who lavished their favors on those of other affiliations. Dr. Jenks himself was seen gallantly yielding his seat to an outsider.

Friday is the last luncheon day and hostesses will be: Mesdames E. F. Marshall; Frank Fogus; J. A. Medlar; G. Perry Hendricks; Robert Dempster; 24 Palmer Findley; 6; Walter Preston; 6; W. D. McHugh; 8; W. D. McHugh, Jr.; 6; Lyana Rbbinson; 5; John Golden; 8; Mary I. Creigh; 4; N. H. Loomis; 6; A. J. Love, 10, and Miss Daisy Doane, 4.

Mrs. Duncan Attends Georgetown Reunion

Mesdames John Madden, Adolph Storz, Russell Harrison, and Joseph Byrns met Monday at the apartment of Mrs. George Duncan for an alumni meeting of the Georgetown convent graduates.

Mrs. Duncan and General Duncan will leave May 21 for Washington, D. C., where Mrs. Duncan will attend the 125th reunion of the convent on May 29.

Studio Party

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gatchell will give a studio party Saturday evening, May 24, at their new studio apartment in Aquila Court.

Miss Kimball Honored

Miss Elizabeth Fradenburg will entertain at bridge Saturday evening at her home in honor of Miss Catherine Kimball of Oakland, Cal. Miss Kimball will arrive Friday to be the guest of Miss Fradenburg until Tuesday.

Scene From Central High Play

Here's the man from Kokomo as he will appear in Booth Tarkington's play, "The Man From Home," to be presented as the senior play for Central High school Friday and Saturday nights at the school auditorium. Russell Suhr will play the role mentioned, and the young equestrienne shown will be Miss Ethel Grainger Simpson.

This scene is taken from the prologue to the play. It will be a gay scene, representing a "safe" ballroom in Hotel Regina St. Margaretha, in Italy. Singing, dancing, quips and jests will start off the drama.

Mrs. George Marshall leaves Friday for Cherokee, Ia., where she will spend some time with her daughter.

Your Problems

by Martha Allen

Disappointment in Love.

Dear Miss Allen: Love makes me miserable. It never has brought me happiness. The minute I let myself care for a man he hurts me. I've been disappointed and disillusioned over and over. The only way to find peace and security is to close your heart against love.

ALICE

Imagine saying the only way to make a garden is to keep the sunlight out! But that would be precisely as sensible as to insist that life can be made to bloom and give out fragrance and perfume and joy without love to warm it to life and beauty.

So when you start to cry out against love and to say that it has hurt you—stop to think of this question: What have you done for love? If you really love, you will not think of yourself. You will not count what is due you. You will not be over-concerned with your own satisfactions.

Love offers understanding, generosity and honest loyalty. It does not sit around and figure out whether it is getting its full meed of reward for its offerings.

Disappointment in what you call love may mean disillusionment by an unworthy person—or remorse for your own selfishness. A big, honest, generous love can never disappoint—for when it goes (as sometimes it must go) it leaves behind it richness and fullness in the heart where it dwelt.

Love will bring you joy the minute you stop calculating what it owes you, how long it is likely to stay with you, whether it will be followed by other visitors if it turns out to be a guest and not a tenant of your heart. Love will bring you joy if you give it generous welcome and full freedom to go or stay—plus every incentive to remain.

Tot: Far from it being wrong to repeat the name, I think it is an excellent custom to use the other person's name immediately following the introduction, it helps you remember it and shows you have heard it correctly. One of the greatest faults in introductions is the failure to speak a name distinctly enough so those being introduced understand.

Mrs. Richard Peters will be at home informally on Friday for Mrs. George M. Reed of Portland, Ore., guest of Mrs. R. C. Peters.
