

Germes Discussed by Health Head

South Omaha Merchants Hear Dr. A. S. Pinto on Immunization.

In relating the ravages of contagious diseases, D. A. S. Pinto, of the city health department, urged immunization as a prevention and means of eradicating the typhus and diphtheria germs, which he said spread so rapidly if allowed headway. Dr. Pinto, who addressed the South Omaha merchants at their weekly noonday meeting Monday spoke on "Public Health."

"Omaha until three years ago, was afflicted with 75 diphtheria fatalities annually," he said, "but since the gospel of immunization has been spread, this has been reduced to 37 and will be lower if our people adhere to our rules of prevention."

He urged immunization of children just entering grade schools as one of the best methods of eradicating diphtheria.

"We should recognize prevention more strongly than cure," he stated. "Seventy-five hundred children have been inoculated with anti-diphtheria toxin within the last three years, and we have not had one case reported."

Dr. Pinto, declared had not our troops been inoculated during the world war, the death rate from typhoid would have been appalling. The mortality of the American army during the Spanish-American war from typhoid fever was more than 20 times the number slain by implements of war. This he claimed was due to lack of preventative methods.

The water supply and the milk supply under jurisdiction of the health department also was discussed by Dr. Pinto.

"A city hospital, centrally located, is a thing we sadly lack," he said, urging organizations such as the South Omaha merchants to stand behind such an issue.

Dr. H. P. Swoboda, presided and introduced the speaker.

Farm Hand, Victim of Heart Attack, Leaves $10,000 Estate but No Will

Death of William Rudolph, 55, farm hand at the farm of Ham Harder, near Papillion, Monday evening, revealed him to be worth $10,000.

Rudolph complained of being ill Monday evening and retired early. The next morning he was found lying on the floor, dead, from heart disease.

Rudolph, according to County Attorney E. Collins, who knew him well, was a man of little education, but conservative by nature.

"He came to this section, almost penniless, 20 years ago," Collins said, "and had been working as a farm hand ever since."

"He was known to loan farmers, around Springfield and Papillion, considerable sums of money, and his wealth was accumulated by having his earnings loaned out on interest. Although he was unable to read and write little, he had a keen knowledge of the financial end of the farm industry."

Certificates of deposit, notes and bonds at the American State bank at Springfield and the Clark bank at Papillion, amounted to over $10,000, Collins said. Rudolph leaves a sister, Mrs. Minnie Watterman, Bedford, Wis., who was notified Tuesday. Funeral arrangements are pending her arrival. He left no will.
