Foolish Stock Brokers. Mars Will Teach Us. McAdoo's 400. $500,000 for Strikes. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The stock market had a fainting fit yesterday because the bonus bill went through. Railroad and other shares fell, and speculators had the blues.

They showed similar lack of intelligence when they declared that the federal reserve plan would ruin everybody. The federal reserve prevents panics and has already saved this country from at least two old-fashioned "Black Fridays."

Do intellectual gamblers that sell railroad stock believe that handing $150,000,000 to the soldiers in the coming year will diminish railroad travel and ticket buying? Don't they know that every dollar given to the soldiers will go into circulation and help business? Do they imagine that J. P. Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan and the Vanderbilt boys buy all the railroad tickets and keep prosperity alive all by themselves?

Sending photographs by wire is at last perfectly successful. This will mean more to the education of this earth than we can realize now. Merely gratifying curiosity or capturing criminals by telephotography on this little planet isn't the important thing.

What can be done here on wires can be done through the ether that separates this earth from other planets in our family.

We shall get from those planets radio portraits showing faces of their strange inhabitants and radio "blue prints" from Mars showing us how to dig canals to store the waters of the oceans when frost, rain and attrition make this earth perfectly round, leaving no natural cavities to hold the water.

If the earth were absolutely round, as it will be in a few million years, the ocean would cover it about a mile deep everywhere.

We must know how to prevent that. Mars, tens of millions of years older than earth, will teach us by radio.

If that sounds preposterous, remember that you would have said 20 years ago if you had been told that a preacher in Chicago some day would be heard in Los Angeles and New Foundland in the same second.

McAdoo, it is said, has already more than 400 democratic delegates. This indicates that he alone at this moment has any chance to get a two-thirds vote. If his men prove loyal. On the other hand, it is said that Mr. Cox, who once ran (very gently), has arranged with Al Smith a scheme to eliminate McAdoo early in the convention.

The average democrat will be interested in the Cox-Al Smith plan because it will alienate from the democratic party the great railroad and other labor support which belongs to McAdoo and that no one else could bring into the campaign. No man ever ran for president with the labor following that McAdoo possesses.

Republicans, democrats and independents may be interested in the statement, made on good authority, but not vouched for here, that La Follette will run as an independent republican unless the democrats nominate McAdoo, and will not run if McAdoo is nominated.

The reason given is that La Follette believes McAdoo would get the big railroad vote upon which he, La Follette, would count, in an independent campaign.

The national association of manufacturers was told yesterday that labor unions had recently lost 9 per cent of their membership. Only 20 per cent of workers that might be in unions being in them now. That may be, but the 20 per cent suffice to raise and keep up the salaries of 100 per cent of the workers, thus building up national prosperity.

It's also said that strikes cost the country more than $500,000,000 a year. That's serious and probably accurate.

Let the prosperous class that weep about the cost of the bonus see if they can't do something to solve the strike problem that costs three times as much as the bonus and more. To maintain a constant industrial civil war costing $5,000,000,000 every 10 years in a nation that denounces international war is idiocy. Labor and capital ought to change that.

In spite of bonuses and strikes there is money left. The great telegraph and telephone monopoly will issue 1,500,000 new shares of stock and the people will scramble to pay in the $150,000,000 at the rate of $100 a share. Ingeniously sold on the installment plan this stock issue will strengthen a great crowd of stockholders, increasing the company's support from the public.

Here's grief for the vegetarians. The juice of raw meat helps consumptives to conquer the disease, gaining weight, by rebuilding muscular tissues worn down by tuberculosis. Dogs artificially inoculated with consumption recover when fed on raw meat and die of the disease when fed on vegetables.

Friends of consumptives should not attach too much importance to this announcement, but they should realize how much diet has to do in fighting consumption. Vegetarians, idealistic and spiritual, should realize that the human body, especially when weakened by disease, requires the food most easily assimilated, which is meat.

Warm Weather With Rain Is Needed for Corn Crop

Beatrice, Neb., May 21.—Practically no corn in Gage county is up, and unless warm weather with rain comes soon much of the grain will have to be replanted. The spring, so far, has been the driest and coolest in years and vegetation of all kinds has made little growth. Winter wheat and alfalfa will make big crops provided the weather is favorable.

"Buck" Coffman and A. O. Jones, postmaster at Adams, drove to Beatrice, a distance of about 30 miles. In referring to the crop situation, they stated that wheat and oats look well, but that corn is backward because of the cool, dry weather.

Million Dollars Worth of Pearls Offered by Enthusiastic New York Swain Seeking Hand of Sweet Alyce

By International News Service. New York, May 21.—Saturday is the day set for a reply to the most recent offer of marriage to Alyce McCormick, Nebraska prize beauty, according to a statement made today by Charles Victor Miller, latest applicant for the beauty's hand. Miss McCormick will wear Miller's $1,000,000 collection of pearls and other gems at the fashion show here tonight.

The jewels are said to be sufficiently persuasive for any young woman to consider becoming Mrs. Charles Victor Miller. Miller, in a letter to Miss McCormick, suggested that permanent ownership of the lovely gems was very easily within her power. In the letter Miller wrote:

"Miss McCormick: I have observed your graceful, womanly presence on the stage of exhibition during this last week. I confess that I am thrilled by your beauty and your charm. Because of this, may I offer you the privilege of wearing a collection of pearls and gems one night during this last week of the exposition? It is my hope that these beautiful adornments may speak for me and influence your heart toward me. The lovely things which women covet I have. They are yours, Alyce, for the asking."

Miller, who is a collector of antiques, gave a dinner last night in honor of Miss McCormick, which he cooked himself. He has a reputation for culinary skill. It was said that Miss McCormick was very much impressed with her latest suitor—his sincerity, his jewels and his cooking.

According to Miller, Miss McCormick has promised to say "yes" or "no" on Saturday.

Admiral Fullam to Speak Here on Aeronautics

Former Commander of Pacific Fleet to Give Addresses Here With Aircraft Films.

Rear Admiral William Freeland Fullam, retired, former commander of the Pacific fleet from 1914 until 1919, will give two addresses at the Chamber of Commerce next Monday, an illustrated address at Technical High school next Monday afternoon, and another at Central High school Tuesday morning.

Admiral Fullam, who comes to Omaha under auspices of the National Aeronautic association, will stress the importance of development of aerial transportation in America to keep pace with other countries.

School Lectures Free. His first address here will be as guest of the Chamber of Commerce at a public affairs luncheon Monday noon. That afternoon at Technical High he will give a lecture to the public at which he will show an exceptional film of various types of aircraft in action. This lecture will be repeated at Central High Tuesday morning.

Admiral Fullam was graduated from the Annapolis naval academy in 1877 at the head of his class. In 1880 he was promoted to ensign; from 1883 to 1904 he was head of the ordnance department of the academy; and in 1886 was made junior lieutenant. During the war with Spain he commanded the S. S. New Orleans in the engagement in Manila bay, and later took part in the Cuban pacification. In 1912 he was commandant of the Great Lakes training station and from 1912 to 1914 was aide to Secretaries of the Navy Meyer and Daniels and superintendent of the naval academy.

In 1915 Admiral Fullam was placed in command of the Pacific reserve fleet, and the following year commanded the Pacific patrol. From 1917, until he retired from the navy in 1919, he was senior officer in command of the Pacific fleet.

Among the medals with which he has been decorated are the Santiago Campaign medal, the West Indian campaign, Cuban pacification, Mexican service and Order of the Rising Sun of Japan.

Chapter Sought Here

In his tour Admiral Fullam has been successful in bringing about the preliminary steps for the formation of chapters of the National Aeronautic association in 15 cities in all parts of the country. At the night meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Monday, which is open to the public, Admiral Fullam, Gould Dietz, A. H. Fetters and other members of the Omaha Aero club will attempt to recruit members to secure a charter in the national association for Omaha in order that the city may show its interest in being kept on the national airplane lines.

Read What This Famous Scientist Says about Coffee

Professor SAMUEL C. PRESCOTT, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, after three years' scientific research, says Coffee gives comfort and inspiration and is the servant of civilization

"It MAY be stated that after weighing the evidence, a dispassionate evaluation of the data so comprehensively surveyed has led to no alarming conclusions that Coffee is an injurious beverage for the great majority of adults, but, on the contrary, that the history of human experience, as well as the results of scientific experimentation, point to the fact that Coffee is a beverage which, properly prepared and rightly used, gives comfort and inspiration, augments mental and physical activity, and may be regarded as the servant rather than the destroyer of civilization."

This statement, coming from such an unquestioned scientific authority, will be a source of satisfaction and relief to every true lover of Coffee and establishes the fact that Coffee is a wholesome drink for the overwhelming majority of adults.

For Better Coffee Every Day, Follow These Rules

- 1—See that the Coffee is not ground too coarse.
- 2—Allow at least a tablespoonful of ground Coffee to a cup of water.
- 3—Be sure the water boils. Then pour it over the freshly ground Coffee.
- 4—Serve at once.
- 5—Never use ground Coffee a second time.
- 6—Scour the Coffee pot.

Ask your dealer or write direct to us for a copy of the NEW booklet, "For Better Coffee," which explains these rules in detail. Joint Coffee Trade Publicity Committee, 64 Water Street, New York.

The planters of Sao Paulo, Brazil, who produce more than half of all the Coffee used in the United States, are conducting this educational work in co-operation with the leading Coffee merchants of the United States.
