The Youthful Fur Jaquette.

By ELEANOR GUNN.

Interest in furs for immediate wear, curiously enough, centers not on neckpieces to offset the tailleur, but on short jaquettes of various forms among which may be mentioned those that are embroidered or braided. Embroidering a fur coat seems on a par with gliding the lily or painting the rose, yet designers do not hesitate to use fur as a basis for all sorts of decorative effects.

A smart jaquette of summer ermine which is almost identical with the beige shade had the skins arranged in overlapping bands which produced a tucked effect around the edge of the jaquette. The Lavin green crepe lining harmonized exquisitely with the soft tone of the fur and matched the simple little pleated crepe dress with which it was worn.

Lavender green is a color the younger set seem particularly responsive to just now in felt hats and dull finished crepe. Another curious decorative effect is achieved by applying a thin skinned fur, such as burunduk or ermine on a longer fur. In the case of a short seal coat, burunduk in a wall of Troy design was applied around the edge of the jaquette. Jaquettes of the sports type frequently have appliques of bright leather as a decoration. The fur jaquette is quite as frequently worn over a suit as a one-piece dress these days, which cannot be said to call for fur.

Woman Has Her Way.

Some months ago a woman noticed that cars stopping at the regulation near side on Fortieth and Farnam held up traffic on the busy street, blocking automobiles in front of a grocery store. The woman was Mrs. L. M. Lord, prominent in local club circles. She knew how to proceed in civic matters, and went about on her work of reform.

Today cars stop on the far side, making the turn off Farnam before hesitating.

Woman had her way. And even the men are delighted. Why didn't we do it sooner? they ask as they alight from the cars on a cleared street.

Your Problems

Dear Martha Allen: I have a number of articles in fancy work which I would like to sell. Can you tell me where there is a salesroom where I could take them? I am short on money and in my home town it seems hard to sell them.—A Reader.

There is a woman's exchange in Lincoln, also one in Omaha. If your work is very well done, you might arrange with one of the department stores to sell it. It is always rather difficult to find a market for your hand work. You may have to try many places before finding an agency that will accept it.

For Chapter C. P.

Mrs. E. T. Munroe will entertain 20 members of Chapter C. P. P. E. Q. at a May breakfast Tuesday, May 27, in the Brandeis. Decorations will be in yellow and white.

M. R.: After greetings the host and hostess and exchanging a few words with them, it is very easy to pass on into the room and enter into conversation with friends who have already arrived. A man or woman who is a stranger to everyone in the room can expect the host or hostess, unless deeply engaged with newcomers, to rid the situation of any awkwardness and difficulty by making suitable introductions. At the majority of dinners numbering no more than eight persons, everyone is introduced. At larger dinners the hostess at least makes sure that each guest knows those who are placed beside him. When dinner is announced, every man either gives his left arm to the lady who is to be his dining partner, or merely walks in beside the one to whom he has been talking. If name cards are placed at every cover, the guests walk about the table until their seats are located, the man draws out the lady's chair, waits until she is seated, and then seats himself. It is necessary to watch and see that the hostess is seated first.

Would Like-to-Know: The very last word in scarfs is the inside pocket. Many of them are made with double thickness, which makes a pocket an easy matter. Wear your scarf tightly swathed around your neck after the "more throat" manner.

J. O.: There could be no objection to your acceptance of the invitation. I think you owe it to your fiancé to do so. Naturally, his people would be glad to know you.

K. R.: The French spelling of the new blue shade is "poudre bleue," but it is permissible to use the English form, which is simply powder blue.

To Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you will have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whiteners, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Kellogg's Bran

Now read this letter of thanks from Mr. Kane. It speaks for itself. Remember, it is because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran that it was so effective in his case—just as it has been in thousands of others. Only ALL bran can produce 100 per cent results.

My dear friend:
Imagine a young man weighing 165 pounds in the course of a few months parked in bed, a weakling weighing 94 pounds. An elderly lady whom I knew since I was a kid paid me what she thought was a last visit. Upon being told of my plight she immediately mentioned your product for such an ailment. Maybe some of us didn't look upon her views very lightly. . . . It was too laugh!

My dear friend, I am still laughing. . . . not at your product, but because I am able to tell you that the world at large, "Eat Kellogg's Krumbled Bran!" It should be called "Constipation's worst enemy." I owe you my heartfelt gratitude. I can talk, and whenever the opportunity presents itself, my mouth is always full of bran—Kellogg's Krumbled. Wishing you countless days of progress, I am

A Bit of Handiwork.

Cotton crash bedspreads stamped to daisy stitch in French knots and lazy daisy stitch are good style. A popular color scheme is black, pink and blue.

All bit of petit point needlework is very good to put on the corner of a silk bag—decidedly it gives it an expensive and distinctive look.

The tapestry effect so rich and good looking with Italian furniture is easily secured by darning on color printed designs on a tan runner for the library table.

The Baby's Crib.
The fad for reed furniture has entered the nursery, and there are the dearest, most attractive cribs for baby made of reed painted cream. The side drops, making it convenient to get baby out and attend to him or her. The inner sides of the crib are lined with dainty, soft silk, and, if one desires, there may be a canopy. Other pieces of furniture for the nursery also come in reed.

As We Stitch.

When trimming the linen blouse, vest or frock with drawn work the threads that are drawn and cut at one end are used to hem the edge without detaching the pulled thread at one end. Of course the drawn thread will not last for all the drawn work, but using it as far as it will go fastens it firmly.

Children's frocks are nearly all trimmed with a touch of hand work. Smocking is very good on Miss Three-Year-Old's organdie and black or some color that makes a pretty contrasting stitchery is used.

Large silk underarm bags come at ready stamped to bead.

Luminous Dolls.

To the doll family has been added a practical new member, the luminous doll. It is made of some breakable material that takes a radium wash. In outline and dress the doll looks like Jackie Coogan. It serves as home beacon for in a dark room it shines up bright and clear, acting as a location mark.

WOMAN AILING FOR A YEAR

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Happy Results

Newcastle, Pa.—"I was all run-down and everybody thought I was going into a decline. I had been ailing for a year with pains in my right side so that I could hardly stand on my feet. When I walked I felt as if something was falling. I was not able to do any work and had a nurse most of the time. She spoke to me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a fair trial. Some women think one bottle should cure them, but I did not stop at that. I took more and got better and am able ever since to do my own housework. There was a time, when I would complain of not feeling well, that my husband would say, 'Go to the doctor.' But now he will tell me to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, and it has always helped me. I have had druggists tell me that they had something better, but they don't tell me that now, for I take no other. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound now for five years. Any woman who cares to call or write, I will be glad to tell her how it helped me."—Mrs. MABEL LIST SHERRARD, 315 Newell Ave., Newcastle, Pa.
