

Bryan Honored at Presbyterian General Assembly

Appointment of Commoner as Vice Moderator Gives Another Ultra-Fundamentalist Post.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 23.—Appointment of William Jennings Bryan, as vice moderator, first indirect mention of the Fostick case and an appeal that the church align itself in favor of the international court of justice vied with each other as matters of interest at today's session of the 15th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America.

The Bryan appointment added another name to the list of ultra-fundamentalists awarded important places by Dr. Clarence E. MacIntyre, elected moderator yesterday. All major committees, including that of bills and overtures, are headed by avowed fundamentalists.

Dr. MacIntyre made the Fostick allusion, in commenting upon the fact that the present assembly is being held in a Baptist church, he said that "inasmuch as some of the Presbyterian churches are entertaining Baptists, it is only right that the Baptists should entertain us." Dr. Harry Emerson Fostick, charged with alleged heresies, is an ordained Baptist minister occupying the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church, New York.

"We hope," Dr. MacIntyre added, "that we will not give the Baptists as much trouble as some members of that denomination have given us."

LAUDER TO SEEK PARLIAMENT SEAT

London, May 23.—The latest ambition of Sir Harry Lauder, famous Scottish comedian, is to become a member of parliament.

"I have several times been asked to become a candidate," said Sir Harry, "but while I have a strong desire to enter parliament, I have not had the freedom necessary to devote to the duties. But when I have completed my farewell tour next autumn I shall, in all probability, stand for election for the house of commons if the opportunity presents itself."

for Summer Days

Patent Sandals

for Growing Girls
Sizes 2 1/2 to 7

$5.95

The jaunty smartness of Napier's Sandals finds many admirers among the School Set. The patent "Bab" model illustrated is a very effective style to wear with summer sports frocks. In this sandal comfort and charm are admirably combined.

Napier's Shoe Shop, Jr.

Napier's Booterie
307 So. 16th St.

Haas Brothers

Specials Featured for Saturday at

Haas Brothers
The Shop for Women

In the Gray Shop—Fourth Floor

162 Stout Dresses

To Close Out in Three Groups—

$8.95 - $15.95 - $21.95

Dresses in sizes 42 to 56. Fashioned from rich silks into styles that are particularly adapted for the large woman. Your choice of styles and colorings is broad. Every dress is worth at least double.

Haas Brothers "The Shop for Women"

Brown Block

16th and Douglas

Spirit Shuns Court Room; Fails to Come to Defense of Medium

Portland, Ore., May 23.—W. W. Aber, accused of fraud in the practice of his profession of spiritualistic medium, attempted last night to give a satisfactory demonstration before a jury in circuit court of his ability to materialize a spirit, but after an hour's effort gave it up, saying the atmosphere of the court was too stuffy and not sufficiently harmonious to permit a successful test.

The seance had been arranged at Aber's request. He had told Judge George Rossman, who is presiding at the trial, that he could prove by practical test his ability to materialize spirits before the jury's eyes. The court consented to the test. A cabinet was set up in the grand jury room. The lights were dimmed, although Aber complained that they were not sufficiently dimmed, and a coterie of Aber's fellow spiritists were on hand to aid him and provide atmosphere. Present besides Aber and his co-workers, were the court, the jury and a few newspaper reporters. The public was excluded. Aber and his assistants formed the cabinet and a circle was made. There was a wait. It grew and extended. The tenseness at first apparent among the spectators gradually relaxed. Nothing happened and finally Aber announced that he would forego the effort. Then he collapsed in what his helpers said was a trance. He was revived soon and court adjourned. Aber's case came up on appeal from the municipal court, where he had been convicted under a fraud charge, on complaint of several persons, who had testified that they sat in at one of his seances, grabbed a supposed spirit, switched on the lights and found they were holding Aber himself.

Life Oppressive Without Laughs

Majority Patronizing Theaters Showing Local Laff Reel.

Where to see Local Laffs today:
Victoria theater Omaha
Lafayette theater Omaha
Empress theater Central City, Neb.
Electric theater Omaha
Lafayette theater North Bend, Neb.

If you haven't attended the movie theaters where the Local Laff reel is being shown, you are in the minority. The Local Laff contest being promoted by the Omaha Bee on the screens of various movie theaters is causing considerable interest. Everyone enjoys a hearty laugh now and then. Life would be oppressive without laughter.

Enter the Local Laff contest at once. The prize jokes and the names of their authors appear on the movie screens. You may be one of the lucky ones. Send in as many jokes as you wish. Have them original and limit them to 30 words each. Get into the spirit of the game and you will enjoy it.

From the jokes that do not win the cash prizes the Local Laff editor selects three each day for this column. Today's are:

Little Jack, who had been in a fight, was knocked down by a neighbor boy. He was asked by his father what he did after he was knocked down.
"I don't know, daddy, but I just couldn't get up."—Herman F. Eber, McClelland, Ia.

"That the Duponts? Fool! Bogzars they are!"
"Really? But they say they spend over a million a year."
"My goodness, my dear! It's only to give the impression that they have money."—E. C. Wislan, 223 Beer Park boulevard.

"I saw, old chap, that hotel building me of an iceberg."
"How come?"
"Absolutely fireproof."—S. I. Howard, Hotel Castle.

M'KELVIE BUYS CAPPER PAPER

Lincoln, Neb., May 23.—The Nebraska Journal, Capper paper, has been purchased by the McKelvie Publishing company. It was announced today. The McKelvie Co., of which S. R. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska is one of the officers, published the Nebraska Farmer. Consideration for the sale was $100,000, according to officers of the latter paper. The Farm Journal will be consolidated with the Nebraska Farmer. It was announced.

3-YEAR-OLD GIRL VICTIM OF BLAZE

Grand Island, Neb., May 23.—Arlene, 3, daughter of James Rigsley, met death by burns late Thursday evening. Some rubbish had been burned and she bonfire was practically out when, unobserved, the child ventured to the place unaccompanied. When found its clothing had been almost entirely burned from the body. The child was immediately taken to the hospital but died an hour after the accident.

Sheppard Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Sheppard, who died Thursday at her home, Seventy-second and Center streets, were held Friday at 10 a. m. at the Stack funeral home. The body was taken to Superior, Neb., for burial.

Mystery Veils Slaying of Boy

Detectives Baffled in Hunt for Murderer—Ransom Theory Scouted.

(Continued From Page One.)
are pupils, left the institution shortly after 5 o'clock after unimpairing a baseball game, Richard P. Williams, called at the Franks home and about 9, in company with the boy's father and a friend, Williams said, they went to the school and made a search. At 10:30 Wednesday night a man who said his name was Johnson telephoned that the boy was being held for ransom and that further instructions would be received. These arrived yesterday morning in a special delivery letter almost at the hour the nude body of the boy was found by a workman on his way to work.

Ransom Demanded.
The letter demanded a $10,000 ransom and ordered that the money be of old bills of $50 and $20 denominations. The letter said further instructions would be received.

This letter, the authorities now believe, was written after the boy was dead. The authorities today also found similarities in the letter and one of a similar nature in a story in a recent magazine. The father went to the bank and withdrew the money as directed, placing it in a cigar box which he sealed. Then he awaited further instructions.

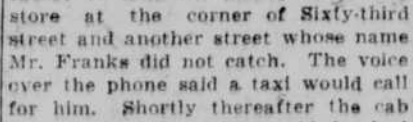

These came late in the day in the form of another phone call from the man "Johnson," who instructed the father to take the money to a drug store at the corner of Sixty-third street and another street whose name Mr. Franks did not catch. The voice over the phone said a taxi would call for him. Shortly thereafter the cab arrived, but the driver said he had been instructed by telephone to go to the Franks home and did not know where he was to take his fare.

In the meantime, although some investigators previously had thought the letter a phony, they were only intended to deceive, two telephone calls were received at a Sixty-third street drug store, the caller asking for Mr. Franks and proving that he knew him by accurately describing him to the drug store employee. A short time after this relative identified the body of the boy found in the swamp as that of Robert, and the police started an intensive hunt for clues, one of their first acts being to question Robert's instructors at the school for hours concerning the youth's habits and companions. Again today the instructors were questioned at length. None of them was able to throw much light on the case, according to the police.

High Averages Scored by Pawnee Graduates
Pawnee City, Neb., May 23.—High school commencement exercises were held at the opera house this evening. Dean W. E. Sealock of the teachers' college of the University of Nebraska made an address. The class contains 40 Pawnee county boys and girls. Miss Gertrude Barr won honors with the exceptionally high average of 95.76. Miss Anna Irwin took second place with an average of 93.96, followed closely by Roland Wherry and Alice Potts with an average of 93.28 and 93.21, respectively.

Thos Washer

Wash day is wash hour when you own this washer. $2.50 delivers it, and you pay the balance in 24 equal payments.

ONLY $2.50 delivers the famous Thos Washer to your home

Wash day is wash hour when you own this washer. $2.50 delivers it, and you pay the balance in 24 equal payments.

Nebraska Power Co.

Sackett Denies Need of Primary Vote on Norris

State Chairman Assures Senators That Republican Candidates Favor His Nomination.

Beatrice, Neb., May 23.—Harry E. Sackett, republican state chairman, has addressed to Senator Norris a reply to the latter's recent letter suggesting a recall election. Referring to Senator Norris' statement that "self-alleged republican leaders" had demanded his (Norris) withdrawal from the ticket, Chairman Sackett declared "this was in no wise prompted by candidates on the state ticket, nor by the state committee." The chairman pledged the support of all state ticket candidates and the organization to the senator.

Supporting His Candidacy.
The text of Mr. Sackett's letter follows:
"Your letter to me of the 18th inst., given to the press at Washington for publication, has just been received, and in answer to your request that I, as chairman of the republican state committee in Nebraska, call a state-wide primary, to be held in the manner provided by law for the holding of the regular primary, and that at such primary your recall of the republican candidate for senator be submitted to the qualified electors, permit me to state:

"I see no reason for the calling of such primary nor is there any provision of the statutes of Nebraska providing therefor. None of the candidates on the state ticket, individually or collectively, have at any time intimated or suggested that you withdraw from the ticket. On the contrary, they are openly supporting you. The same is true with the republican leaders' denouncing you and committee women.

"The letters which you state you have received from 'self-alleged republican leaders,' denouncing you and demanding your withdrawal from the ticket, were in no wise prompted by the candidates on the state ticket, nor by the republican state committee.

Letters Express Personal Opinion.
These letters, no doubt, were intended as an expression of the personal opinion of the ones writing them and cannot be construed to represent the sentiment of the party's organization in this state.

"At the primary election in April, the same voters who took part in that primary and who gave you a pronounced majority for senator, also by their votes nominated the candidates on the state ticket. There is, therefore, no reason for the calling of a second primary election.

"You will have the support of the republicans in this state who believe that the choice of the voters expressed at the primary shall not be nullified."

Aged Pair Sold to School Girls
Samardick Declares He Will Jail Husband, 73, and Wife, 79.

"It's either sell liquor, starve or go to the poorhouse," declared Mrs. Mary Westergaard, 79, who appeared at the federal building with her 73-year-old husband, Charles, to put up a $1,000 bond for their second violation of the prohibition laws. The Westergaards are the oldest of fenders ever arrested in Omaha, according to federal records.

Samardick became angry when he heard that the aged couple accused him of persecution.

"I am going to put you both behind the bars," said Samardick, pointing his fingers at the couple. "You care nothing for police, who allowed you to go free several times, care nothing for the federal court or Judge Woodrough. You faithfully promised him that you would stop selling the stuff."

Samardick said the Westergaards have a reputation for selling to high school boys and girls.

Westergaard for years was an employee of the city. He and his wife live at 1035 South Twenty-third street.

York Welcomes Trains.

York, Neb., May 23.—After being without morning train service on the Burlington railroad since last fall, York people are rejoiced to hear that trains Nos. 37 and 38 are to be put back about June 15.

Nomination of Corey to Loan Body Confirmed
Senate Approves Selection of Four New Members Over Protest of Senator Wheeler.

Washington, May 23.—The senate in executive session has confirmed the nominations of L. J. Pettijohn of Kansas, Elmer S. Landes of Ohio, M. L. Corey of Nebraska and E. E. Jones of Pennsylvania to be members of the federal farm loan board.

President Harding a year ago gave the four recess appointments and upon the convening of congress last December, President Coolidge sent their names to the senate.

The selections were opposed by some farm organizations and the fight against them was led by Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, who, after the senate banking committee had reported them favorably, brought his fight to the floor.

During two days, the Nebraska senator waged his battle on the floor, criticizing the board and its methods, his statements being answered by both republican and democratic members of the committee.

The senate went into executive session on the question and after a session of two and one-half hours confirmed the nominations. The vote was not announced.

HEARING ON GRAIN RATES IN RECESS

Kansas City, Mo., May 23.—The grain rate hearing before the interstate commerce commission on the complaint of the Kansas City Board of Trade, stood temporarily adjourned today.

Attorneys were given until July 22 to file briefs with the commission.

The hearing was being conducted before Burton Fuller, examiner for the interstate commerce commission. The local board of trade complained they were discriminated against in shipments of grain and grain products out of Kansas City to the southeast in favor of Omaha shippers.

The birds in the Old Orchard knew when she left, but not one of them made a sound to tell Chatterer. So Chatterer remained in his hiding place hungry and forlorn a long time after there was any need of it. It wasn't until Striped Chipmunk came scampering along the old stone wall and poked his head in where Chatterer was hiding that Chatterer knew that the way was clear.

"Huh!" exclaimed Striped Chipmunk. "What are you hiding in here for?"

"It's no business of yours!" retorted Chatterer shortly, for he was in a bad temper. Then he started to come out.

His little cousin, Striped Chipmunk, scampered away hastily. He saw what a bad temper Chatterer was in, and he had no desire to fight with his bigger cousin. Chatterer poked his head out and looked around hastily. The way was clear. He wasted no time. Out he came and started for the Green Forest, running along the old stone wall and doing his best to keep out of sight. But he didn't succeed. Sammy Jay had been keeping sharp watch. His sharp eyes discovered Chatterer at once, and he began to scream, "Thief! Thief! Thief!"

At once all the other birds flew over and took up the cry. Chatterer ran as fast as he could, but he was stiff and sore from the wounds he had received from Mrs. Flicker, and though he did his best he couldn't keep out of sight of the sharp eyes watching him. Instead of racing along boldly as is his usual way, he kept dodging in and out of openings among the stones in the old stone wall. He was speaking back to the Green Forest. Yes, sir, he was sneaking back.

All the way back he was followed by a screaming, jeering crowd of birds. For once in his life he himself was silent. He wanted nothing so much as to get out of sight. All his impudence had vanished. There wasn't even a shred of it left. He knew that they knew what had happened to him. He was ashamed. Yes, sir, he was ashamed. He wasn't ashamed of what he had tried to do, but he was ashamed of having been caught at it. Of course it was the wrong kind of shame. Once in the Green Forest Chatterer managed to escape the sharp eyes of his tormentors, but he still ran like a sneak until he reached home.

(Copyright, 1924.)

The next story: "The Dishonest Watchman."

14 Graduate at Phillips.
Phillips, Neb., May 23.—At graduation exercises of the fourth and largest class to be graduated from the Phillips Consolidated High School Superintendent C. Ray Gates, Grand Island, was the speaker. He explained the tax problem. Fourteen were graduated. Caps and gowns were used for the first time.

Nomination of Corey to Loan Body Confirmed

Senate Approves Selection of Four New Members Over Protest of Senator Wheeler.

Washington, May 23.—The senate in executive session has confirmed the nominations of L. J. Pettijohn of Kansas, Elmer S. Landes of Ohio, M. L. Corey of Nebraska and E. E. Jones of Pennsylvania to be members of the federal farm loan board.

President Harding a year ago gave the four recess appointments and upon the convening of congress last December, President Coolidge sent their names to the senate.

The selections were opposed by some farm organizations and the fight against them was led by Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, who, after the senate banking committee had reported them favorably, brought his fight to the floor.

During two days, the Nebraska senator waged his battle on the floor, criticizing the board and its methods, his statements being answered by both republican and democratic members of the committee.

The senate went into executive session on the question and after a session of two and one-half hours confirmed the nominations. The vote was not announced.

HEARING ON GRAIN RATES IN RECESS

Kansas City, Mo., May 23.—The grain rate hearing before the interstate commerce commission on the complaint of the Kansas City Board of Trade, stood temporarily adjourned today.

Attorneys were given until July 22 to file briefs with the commission.

The hearing was being conducted before Burton Fuller, examiner for the interstate commerce commission. The local board of trade complained they were discriminated against in shipments of grain and grain products out of Kansas City to the southeast in favor of Omaha shippers.

The birds in the Old Orchard knew when she left, but not one of them made a sound to tell Chatterer. So Chatterer remained in his hiding place hungry and forlorn a long time after there was any need of it. It wasn't until Striped Chipmunk came scampering along the old stone wall and poked his head in where Chatterer was hiding that Chatterer knew that the way was clear.

"Huh!" exclaimed Striped Chipmunk. "What are you hiding in here for?"

"It's no business of yours!" retorted Chatterer shortly, for he was in a bad temper. Then he started to come out.

His little cousin, Striped Chipmunk, scampered away hastily. He saw what a bad temper Chatterer was in, and he had no desire to fight with his bigger cousin. Chatterer poked his head out and looked around hastily. The way was clear. He wasted no time. Out he came and started for the Green Forest, running along the old stone wall and doing his best to keep out of sight. But he didn't succeed. Sammy Jay had been keeping sharp watch. His sharp eyes discovered Chatterer at once, and he began to scream, "Thief! Thief! Thief!"

At once all the other birds flew over and took up the cry. Chatterer ran as fast as he could, but he was stiff and sore from the wounds he had received from Mrs. Flicker, and though he did his best he couldn't keep out of sight of the sharp eyes watching him. Instead of racing along boldly as is his usual way, he kept dodging in and out of openings among the stones in the old stone wall. He was speaking back to the Green Forest. Yes, sir, he was sneaking back.

All the way back he was followed by a screaming, jeering crowd of birds. For once in his life he himself was silent. He wanted nothing so much as to get out of sight. All his impudence had vanished. There wasn't even a shred of it left. He knew that they knew what had happened to him. He was ashamed. Yes, sir, he was ashamed. He wasn't ashamed of what he had tried to do, but he was ashamed of having been caught at it. Of course it was the wrong kind of shame. Once in the Green Forest Chatterer managed to escape the sharp eyes of his tormentors, but he still ran like a sneak until he reached home.

(Copyright, 1924.)

The next story: "The Dishonest Watchman."

14 Graduate at Phillips.
Phillips, Neb., May 23.—At graduation exercises of the fourth and largest class to be graduated from the Phillips Consolidated High School Superintendent C. Ray Gates, Grand Island, was the speaker. He explained the tax problem. Fourteen were graduated. Caps and gowns were used for the first time.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Few there are who ever will speak To one who proves himself a sneak.

—Old Mother Nature.

Chatterer Sneaks Home.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel had made up his mind that he would be kept a prisoner in the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard all day. If not actually kept a prisoner by Black Pussay he would be kept a prisoner by his fear of Black Pussay. You see there was no way for him to know if Black Pussay should leave. He didn't dare to poke his head out to look around.

Black Pussay did watch that hole between the stones of the old wall for several hours. She did it because she had nothing else to do. She did it because she had a great deal of patience. But even patience comes to an end sometimes. It was dinner time at Farmer Brown's house. By at once all the other birds flew over and took up the cry. Chatterer ran as fast as he could, but he was stiff and sore from the wounds he had received from Mrs. Flicker, and though he did his best he couldn't keep out of sight of the sharp eyes watching him. Instead of racing along boldly as is his usual way, he kept dodging in and out of openings among the stones in the old stone wall. He was speaking back to the Green Forest. Yes, sir, he was sneaking back.

All the way back he was followed by a screaming, jeering crowd of birds. For once in his life he himself was silent. He wanted nothing so much as to get out of sight. All his impudence had vanished. There wasn't even a shred of it left. He knew that they knew what had happened to him. He was ashamed. Yes, sir, he was ashamed. He wasn't ashamed of what he had tried to do, but he was ashamed of having been caught at it. Of course it was the wrong kind of shame. Once in the Green Forest Chatterer managed to escape the sharp eyes of his tormentors, but he still ran like a sneak until he reached home.

(Copyright, 1924.)

The next story: "The Dishonest Watchman."

14 Graduate at Phillips.
Phillips, Neb., May 23.—At graduation exercises of the fourth and largest class to be graduated from the Phillips Consolidated High School Superintendent C. Ray Gates, Grand Island, was the speaker. He explained the tax problem. Fourteen were graduated. Caps and gowns were used for the first time.

The birds in the Old Orchard knew when she left, but not one of them made a sound to tell Chatterer. So Chatterer remained in his hiding place hungry and forlorn a long time after there was any need of it. It wasn't until Striped Chipmunk came scampering along the old stone wall and poked his head in where Chatterer was hiding that Chatterer knew that the way was clear.

"Huh!" exclaimed Striped Chipmunk. "What are you hiding in here for?"

"It's no business of yours!" retorted Chatterer shortly, for he was in a bad temper. Then he started to come out.

His little cousin, Striped Chipmunk, scampered away hastily. He saw what a bad temper Chatterer was in, and he had no desire to fight with his bigger cousin. Chatterer poked his head out and looked around hastily. The way was clear. He wasted no time. Out he came and started for the Green Forest, running along the old stone wall and doing his best to keep out of sight. But he didn't succeed. Sammy Jay had been keeping sharp watch. His sharp eyes discovered Chatterer at once, and he began to scream, "Thief! Thief! Thief!"

At once all the other birds flew over and took up the cry. Chatterer ran as fast as he could, but he was stiff and sore from the wounds he had received from Mrs. Flicker, and though he did his best he couldn't keep out of sight of the sharp eyes watching him. Instead of racing along boldly as is his usual way, he kept dodging in and out of openings among the stones in the old stone wall. He was speaking back to the Green Forest. Yes, sir, he was sneaking back.

All the way back he was followed by a screaming, jeering crowd of birds. For once in his life he himself was silent. He wanted nothing so much as to get out of sight. All his impudence had vanished. There wasn't even a shred of it left. He knew that they knew what had happened to him. He was ashamed. Yes, sir, he was ashamed. He wasn't ashamed of what he had tried to do, but he was ashamed of having been caught at it. Of course it was the wrong kind of shame. Once in the Green Forest Chatterer managed to escape the sharp eyes of his tormentors, but he still ran like a sneak until he reached home.

(Copyright, 1924.)

The next story: "The Dishonest Watchman."

14 Graduate at Phillips.
Phillips, Neb., May 23.—At graduation exercises of the fourth and largest class to be graduated from the Phillips Consolidated High School Superintendent C. Ray Gates, Grand Island, was the speaker. He explained the tax problem. Fourteen were graduated. Caps and gowns were used for the first time.

Thompson-Belden's

for the summer season

Drawnwork Voiles

Hemstitched Linens

Exquisitely Dainty $5.95
are flower-tinted voiles, hand-drawn and made, every stitch by hand. Although in the section of house dresses, one would never dream of working in a frock so fine. Four styles. Sizes 16 to 46. SECOND FLOOR

A Special Offering of New Spring Slippers

Sorosis Models $7.45

Tan suede strap slippers with military heels.
Tan suede strap slippers with Spanish heels.
Black satin slippers, military heels.

Gray suede sandals with flat heels.
Gray suede slippers with military heels.

The styles are newest, and there is almost a complete line of sizes. STREET FLOOR

Our Finer Coats and All Our Suits
Reduced 33 1/3%

New lusterless twill coats with their trimmings of braid and their narrow bandings of summer furs, these, at $69.50 and more, may be had at one-third reduction. Every suit, no matter what its price, is subject to one-third discount. THIRD FLOOR

White Collared and with white cuffs, too, are the linens which are well made and smartly styled for almost any out-of-door occasion. There are three different styles in white and colors, including gray. Sizes 16 to 46.

Fox Scarfs The fur most worn in the east; specially priced—$29.75 THIRD FLOOR

For the Hair Halo Bandeaux The "Halo" bandeau of silk is knitted with band across the forehead and web effect over the head. The "Halo" is an ideal arrangement for tennis and other sports, for it relieves one of flying hair, and is very becoming. Nine shades. Each 50c STREET FLOOR

Children's Waist Union Suits Only one undergarment need be worn when buttons and garter tops are taped on as in these practical little suits. Knitted or made of pajama checks for boys or girls. Sizes 2 to 12 years. Suit 85c STREET FLOOR

Our Finer Coats and All Our Suits
Reduced 33 1/3%

New lusterless twill coats with their trimmings of braid and their narrow bandings of summer furs, these, at $69.50 and more, may be had at one-third reduction. Every suit, no matter what its price, is subject to one-third discount. THIRD FLOOR

Last Day of the Rodeo

GUARANTEED CLOTHING CO. L

16th and Dodge

Saturday--A Sale of 400 CRISP, NEW Wash Frocks

$5

Secured Through a Most Exceptional Purchase

The instant you set eyes on these beautiful dresses you'll want two or three. They are doubly appealing because of this extremely low price.

Linens Tissues Voiles
Normandy Voiles Novelties

In point of value giving we believe these dresses to be the best ever offered in Omaha. All colors, all sizes, all styles. Be here early Saturday.

Wash Dresses—Second Floor