Norris Now Keeps Silent on Charge He Stole, "Smack"

Senator From Nebraska Re tires Within Senate Chamber and Refuses to Discuss Incident.

By T. C. POWELL, Washington, May 25 .- Following when Mrs. E. A. Edmundson of Decatur, Ala., chided him about being by a 16-year-old girl near Muscle Shoals, Senator Norris retired to the senate chamber and remained there all afternoon, steadfastly refusing to be called from the chamber to further discuss the incident which had aroused his ire in the morning. Senator McNary of Oregon, how ever, issued a statement in behalf of the senior Nebraska senator, describing the incident as trivial and only made serious by Senator Norris' an ger. The Oregon senator stated that the incident could not be harmful unless, as Norr's intimated, it was brought to light before the senate ag ricultural committee in an attempt to discredit Norris in his fight agains the Ford Muscle Shoals offer.

In the afternoon, Senator Norris talked for two hours against accep tance of the conference committe report on the tax bill which struck out his amendment calling for pub licity on tax returns. In final vote on acceptance of the report Senator Howell voted to accept the report while Senator Norris voted agains acceptance.

"I suppose many will take advan against the bill, which in many respects is a good measure," Senator

As for the kissing incident, it is not known whether the senator will ignore it in the future, treat it as a ke, as every one else here appears to do, or issue a statement and attempt to prove it was premeditated as he charged in committee this

The incident is said to have occur red during an inspection trip made to Muscle Shoals by Senator Norris and others several months ago.

Safety First

When any automobilist trusts blindly to his brakes and uses no other precaution, he is due for a bump that will jar him clear to his nerve centers. When he doesn't know enough to slow up when approaching a crossing, or the end of the traffic line in front, he not only endangers himself but everybody in his vicinity. If his brakes bust, as brakes will do at times, he is on his way to the happy hunting grounds and he will take a few citizens with him. But Sammy Jay wasn't shocked. The truth is, Sammy was no better than Chatterer himself. He had helped to drive Chatterer out of the Old Orchard for wholly selfish reasons. He hadn't cared a flirt of his tail about saving those eggs for the ones they belonged to. He wanted to Wear's pony. But the youth's reply save those eggs for himself. Yes, sir, that is just what he wanted. He had followed Chatterer to the edge of the Green Forest, all the time crying, "Thief! Thief! Thief!" Then when Chatterer had disappeared Sammy had silently flown away.

When he was off by himself Sammy Jay had chuckled. "It couldn't be better." said he. "No, sir, it couldn't be better. I had been hoping that Chatterer would try to get some of those eggs in the Old Orchard. I 3 DEAD, 2 HURT, hope he'll try again. I shall keep sharp watch over there.
