Tryouts for Movies May Be Had in Your Home Town

Miss Potts Presents Pupils in Dance Recital at the Brandeis Theater.

Girls need not go to Hollywood to try out for the movies. The movies will move to their subjects. Directors of a film producing company in Hollywood were in Omaha recently and took motion pictures of Miss Faustine Potts, dancer and dance instructor. The pictures will be sent to Hollywood and it is possible Miss Potts will receive an offer for an engagement as a result. She is not planning to go into screen work, however, for her ambitions lie in Omaha, where she is training young dancers. The movies of Miss Potts were to have reached Omaha for a showing at the Brandeis theater Monday night, when her annual recital was presented to the public. Failing to arrive, they will be shown some time later at a local theater. Miss Potts will leave for Chicago June 10 to attend a dance convention. She will spend the remainder of the summer in study in New York.

Splits Mother's Ring for 2 Brides

Harold Payne Has Half of Mrs. Peabody's Ring Covered With Platinum for Bride.

When Harold Payne leaves for Kansas City he will have the conventional platinum wedding ring in his pocket ready for the finger of his bride-to-be, Miss Nell Penobdy. The ring, however, has a very interesting tradition, for though it is the most modern example of the jeweler's craft, on the outside, within is the golden circle which has bound in matrimony the bride's parents and grandparents. One-half the original ring has been cut away, to be hidden under platinum later for the sister of Miss Peabody, who is to be married later in the summer, after she has served as maid of honor to Miss Nell on Tuesday, June 3. Miss Dorothy Payne sister of the groom, will serve as bridesmaid. The young couple will return to Omaha June 18, to their new home at 1324 South Forty-sixth street, which has just been completed and furnished.

Clef Club

Frank Newland was chosen president of the Omaha Clef club Monday night at their annual election. Mr. Newland is a charter member and has served the club in many offices previously. Included in the board of directors are Louise Zehlske, Miss Mary Munchhoff, Mrs. Harvey Milliken, Dr. R. Mills Sibley, Albert Beck and Vernon Bennett. The board chooses a secretary-treasurer, and the president names the standing committee heads. June 10, at Elmwood park, the retiring officers, headed by Cecil Berryman, will close their year with a picnic.

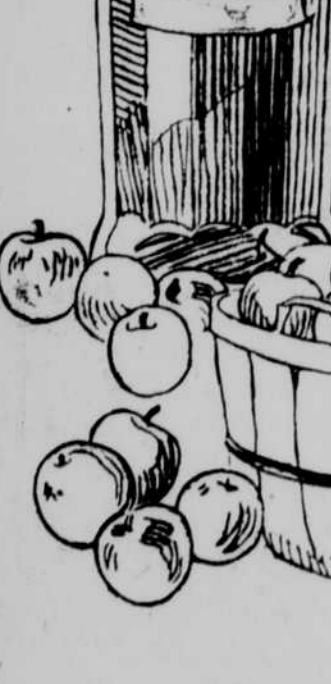

U. of O. Notes

The Phi Delta Psi sorority of the University of Omaha in their spring election, chose Martha Thornton as president, Thelma Wood, vice president; Florence Jones, treasurer; Edna Carnal, secretary, and Dorothy Olson, sergeant-at-arms. The active members were entertained by the pledges at the home of Mary Tyson Thursday. Three Phi Delta pledges, Mary Tyson, Josephine Annabel and Elsie Young were initiated Saturday afternoon at the home of Gwendoline Cheek. A buffet supper was served after the ceremony. The afternoon of May 30, the Phi Deltas will have a regular meeting at the home of Martha Thornton, and a picnic at Elmwood park. May 31 they will give a theater party with a slumber party afterwards at the home of Mary Tyson. June 4 will be the big annual Phi Delta Psi dance, which will be given at the Lakoma Country club this year.

Former Omahan En Route to Convention in Scotland.

The arrival of Mrs. Nettie P. Pritchard Kayser, former Omahan on Thursday from her home in San Diego, Cal., is interesting to many of her friends in the First Methodist church here, for Mrs. Kayser is en route to the World's Sunday school convention in Glasgow, Scotland, sent by the First Methodist church of San Diego, the board of Religious Instruction of San Diego, and the County Council of Religious Education. Mrs. Kayser will give a luncheon Friday for Mrs. Kayser and with Mrs. T. L. Combs she will be hostess that afternoon at tea. Mrs. Kayser will leave for New York Saturday. She will tour Europe this summer, and visit the Holy Land.

The apples from which Heinz Cider Vinegar is made are as fresh and sound as the lettuce you select with such care for your salad. We use the whole apple. All of the juice of the first pressing is the basis of Heinz Vinegar, and then slow aging and mellowing to develop the perfect flavor and aroma. And the quality of the vinegar is as important in your salad as the quality of the lettuce.

Black Satin Triumphs for Afternoon Wear

Black Satin Triumphs for Afternoon Wear

Black satin in its various forms is the chosen favorite of the mode for afternoon wear. It is used to make slender, formal coats, three-piece costumes and those simple one-piece frocks that no woman can do without. I have used heavy, dull finish black satin for the unusually smart coat in the sketch today. This coat, in addition to its slim, distinguished lines, has charming surprises in the form of delicate embroidery and soft pleatings. Narrow strips of gold and black embroidery accentuate the long, slender lines and give interest to the sleeves. This glint of gold is a striking note against the black and a nice contrast to the ermine collar. Another feature that adds grace without detracting from the effects of distinguished simplicity is the narrow box pleating in the lower part of the sleeve. This runs into a wide, soft cuff. A coat of this kind in addition to being unusually chic has its practical side as well. The color and fabric are serviceable and it is formal enough in appearance to be used as an informal evening coat. It is an ideal wrap for instance to wear over a black lace frock to a dinner in a restaurant. This slender coat is made of soft, black satin embroidered in black and gold, and trimmed with an ermine collar.

Your Problems

By Martha Allen

Why Won't He Propose?

Dear Martha Allen: I have been going with a young man for almost two years. We like each other and always have a good time together. He often says things that make me think he will marry me, but he has never just out and asked me. What shall I do about it? DOROTHY.

My advice to you would be to say nothing. If you really care for the young man, and he cares for you, he will ask you to marry him in due time and you will accept. Maybe it is just a little hard for him to "say the word." You can judge by his conduct what his intentions are better than I can guess at this distance. Perhaps he thinks you are too young to be engaged. Or, maybe, he is trying to ascertain your feeling before putting himself on record.

You can bring matters to an issue by suggesting that you quit going together, saying that you don't care to continue yourself to one friend at your age, etc. This might spur him on to ask the fateful question.

But I don't like those tactics, myself. It makes a man feel he is being pushed, and sometimes it turns him against a girl. Your brother, or your parents could help you out if they would be very tactful about it.

He is in the wrong, clearly, not to make his position known, but there are so many reasons, and many of them good ones, which might restrain him, that I do not feel like condemning him.

My Dear Marie: Don't you know that most of us are just nice, average, dandelion folks. No one gets particularly thrilled when we come along. No one praises our simple efforts to do our bit and make life as bright as we know how. We are accepted without much comment because we are so average, as to be taken for granted. But we haven't look down on ourselves because we aren't "cherry blossoms."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Podhalsky of Wahoo announce the birth of a daughter, May 26, at Omaha Maternity hospital.
