

Speedy Hearing for Boy Slayers

Justice Caverly Declares Unusual Nature of Crime Demands Swift Justice.

Chicago, May 31.—A speedy trial for Nathan Leopold, jr., and Richard Loeb, was indicated today by Chief Justice Caverly of the criminal court. Speaking the judicial stand point, he said:

"This murder is no different from any other murder. I shall urge that the case go to trial as speedily as possible. Within 30 days justice should be served.

In connection with Chief Justice Caverly's statement that a speedy trial, for the two youths would be recommended, it was recalled that the Illinois statute makes kidnapping for ransom a crime for which capital punishment may be inflicted.

The statute says that any person convicted of kidnapping for ransom shall "suffer death, or punishment by imprisonment in the penitentiary for life or any term not less than five years."

The typewriter on which the ransom letter was written to Jacob Franks, demanding $10,000, and the rented automobile, in which the killing occurred, also will be obtained and held as evidence, Mr. Crowe said. The automobile was the same make as Leopold's own car, which was in the garage the night of the kidnaping.

Leopold had declared he used his own car and the statement of the Leopold family chauffeur that the young man's car was in the garage and not out of it on May 21, the day of the kidnaping—that led to the break in the prisoners' stories, Prosecutor Crowe said. The story they told of planning to kidnap a son of Julius Rosenwald or some other rich man apparently was based on their belief that the rich philanthropist had a young son. Mr. Rosenwald has no such son, however, but they admitted, Mr. Crowe said, that they first merely had talked of kidnaping some wealthy man's son for ransom.

Mr. Crowe declared the entire kidnaping and killing had been executed according to a carefully pre-arranged plan.

The boy was killed in the rented automobile on a heavily traveled street and within a few blocks of the spot where he was lured into the car. He resisted them and was struck on the head with the chisel and then strangled, Mr. Crowe said.

The kidnaping statute makes it possible to place the boys, when indicted, on trial for two capital crimes. If murder were not proven the kidnaping charge still would provide the death penalty.

To Resume Flight Sunday at 3 A. M.—Will Be in China Monday.

Tokio, May 31.—The American fliers now at Kasumigaura are planning to hop off tomorrow at 3 a. m. on the next stage of their expedition around the world. They had hoped to fly today, but it was found impossible to complete overhauling of their three planes in time.

The fliers will head first for Koshimoto, on the southern end of this island Honshu, and then will go on, if possible to Kagoshima, at the extreme southern end of Japan, the same day. The stop at Koshimoto will be shortened as much as possible; present expectations are that its duration will be only that necessary for re-fueling the planes.

The fliers hope to make the 600-mile jump across the China sea Monday, reaching the Asiatic continent at Shanghai Monday evening. From Kaurigaura to Koshimoto is 350 miles; thence to Kagoshima is almost as far, so that the fliers' program calls for 1,200 miles of travel within 40 hours or so.

Spirit of Vengeance Not Rampant in Heart of Father of Girl Bitten by Dogs of Winspear Triangle Neighbor

The laws of the Winspear triangle will supersede the laws of the city of Omaha in the case of Vern Festers, 8, who was terribly bitten about the legs and back by three dogs belonging to Frank Shaw, a neighbor of Andy Festers, father of the girl, who lives at Seventh and Burt streets.

So said Mr. Festers when called on Saturday by Detective Harry Buford, who wanted him to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Shaw.

The homes in Winspear triangle are all of the humblest and the inhabitants of this strip of reclaimed bottom land are poor in worldly goods. But the civilized spirit of vengeance is not rampant.

"I don't want to have him arrested," said Andy Festers. "He didn't want his dogs to bite Vern. I reckon we can fix this thing up among ourselves."

Festers was delivering a newspaper to the Shaw home as she came home from the Cass school Thursday, when the three dogs attacked her. Mr. and Mrs. Festers drove the dogs away when they heard her screams. Police Surgeon Plance dressed the wounds and said they are quite serious, though he hopes to save the limb.

"I didn't think they would bite me," said Vern. "Most dogs are nice and friendly."

The dogs, at any rate, any police, will be killed.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Read How Mrs. Walsh Was Helped by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mannington, W. Virginia.—"I took the Vegetation Compound when having the turn of life. I had been sick for seven years. I would get a little better, then I broke down again. It would be hard for me to describe how I was for I was a perfect wreck.

"I was so weak I would think I couldn't ever get a meal ready. My work was a burden to me. I was not able to do my housework half of the time. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has given me strength and health. The hot flashes left me and I got better of the numb spells. That summer I could do my housework and worked in the garden a good bit. I tell all sick women what your wonderful medicine did for me, and will always recommend it. I am known to all my neighbors, and you can publish this statement because it is true."

Firm, Plump, Fresh

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever-increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1858, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.
