Movement to Bar Christianity Reported—Women's Organizations Declare Toilet Article Boycott.

By Associated Press. Tokyo, May 31.—Several minor incidents illustrate the growth of the anti-American spirit throughout Japan engendered by the passage of the exclusion act by the American congress.

Three women's organizations of Tokyo have passed resolutions urging women not to buy American toilet articles, while the press reports a movement among students and Shinto leaders to bar Christianity from Japan.

The majority of newspapers continue to fan the flame of resentment. The Yomiuri Shimbun says, "The situation cannot produce war, but we must draw away from America. Hitherto we have always considered America first in any international situation."

The Nishi comments in the same strain, urging economic and diplomatic independence of the United States.

The Geksha organization of the Nishimbashi district in Tokyo, the most prosperous part of the city, has agreed not to buy American toilet articles.

Publicists, journalists and former officials have formed the "Taihei Doshikai" (anti-American association) to carry on a national agitation against exclusion.

Dispatches to the Tokyo newspapers from Osaka indicate that the agitation for a boycott of American goods is gaining ground in western Japan.

"Merry Mabel" Breezes Into Omaha; "First Time I've Been Here," She Says, "But Europe?—I've Seen It Thrice"

Head of Producers' Body Tells of Co-Operative Work in Regulating Supply.

Residents of Minneapolis, St. Paul and vicinity are paying 10 cents per quart for milk delivered and the producers are earning more on their investment than they ever did.

Those are some of the facts related by W. F. Shilling of Northfield, Minn., president of the association, who arrived in Omaha Saturday to address the Interstate Milk Producers' association at the courthouse.

Shilling told the milk producers that what has been done in eight years in his territory, can be done here, through business methods.

Omahaans are paying 11 cents for milk delivered and the complaint of the milk producers supplying this district is that the distributors are not paying them a "living wage" for their products.

Control of surplus milk by manufacturing it into butter, cheese, condensed milk, milk powder and other byproducts, is one of the features of the success of the Twin City association, said Shilling.

The association has a membership of 6,100 farmers, with paid up capital of $600,000, surplus of $200,000, and 15 plants, owned and operated at a valuation of $500,000.

During the last five years this organization has increased the consumption of milk 250 per cent in the Minneapolis-St. Paul territory.

Co-members of the association have a cooperative agreement to sell their milk at the best price obtainable and they do not send into Minneapolis or St. Paul any appreciable amount of surplus.

Each member is required to take $50 stock for every four cows, paying on the basis of 5 per cent a month from the sale of milk.

Shilling also said a strike by the milkers was never thought of. "Just get together and apply business sense to your affairs and you will find that the solution rests with you," he said.

It was some time after Miss Normand reached her suite before she was ready to be interviewed.

"It is the first time I've ever been in Omaha," Miss Normand confided. "But speaking of Europe—I've been there three times."

She and her companion, Miss June Brew, repaired immediately to a suite on the first floor.

The suite was formerly occupied by Eugene C. Epley, owner of the hotel, and is a choice one. A large sign in the entrance hall of the suite informed Miss Normand that "All Omaha Loves You, Miss Normand."

A few minutes later six packages of Egyptian cigarettes were delivered at the suite. They were of an expensive, cork-tipped variety.

"This," said Steve O'Brien, Miss Normand's manager, "is Mayor Dahlman's." "I'm glad to know you, mayor," replied Miss Normand.

The party then departed for a specially built automobile which was to convey Miss Normand to Hotel Fontenelle, led by a squad of police, which included Sgt. W. D. Carney.

Major Dahlman followed, still carrying his flowers. Having reached the entrance of the hotel, Mayor Dahlman excused himself and, the bouquet of roses in his arms, Miss Normand made a sensational entrance into lobby, where she announced: "I like this hotel."
