15-Day Term
for Speeding

Young Motorcyclist Nearly Faints at Sentence; Girl Victim, 9, in Bandages at Hearing.

Mrs. Dorothy Bartell, 19, wife of F. Bartell, United States mail service, pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding and was sentenced to jail for 15 days by Judge Dineen Saturday morning.

She was pursuing her husband on his motorcycle Thursday afternoon when she struck Ethel Halperin, 9, 1425 North Twentieth street, at Twenty-third and Michigan avenue. The little girl, her face bandaged, was in court. Mr. Bartell was not present.

Nearly Fainted.
The young defendant said she had heard her husband was going out with other women. When he left the house that afternoon she leaped on $20,000 Accident Suit.

P. Joseph Meehan filed suit in district court against Clyde Osborn, owner of the Sprague Grocery company, Twenty-fourth and Sprague streets, asking $20,000 for the death of his son, Joseph Meehan, 12, who he says was crushed against a tree by the defendants' truck January 15 at Twenty-first and Pratt streets and died half an hour later.

his motorcycle and started to trail him, though she knew little of how to ride the machine.

"Your jealousy is no excuse for reckless riding," said the judge.

Mrs. Bartell nearly fainted when she heard the sentence and was assisted to the matron's department.

Another Fined.

Harry Jensen, Twenty-eighth and Evans streets, was fined $7.50 in police court on a charge of speeding. Motorcyclist George and Baldwin were looking for a man reported to be burning about in a stripped car with the top out open and pursued Jensen. He "stepped on it" and stopped only after his car threw a tire, they said. Jensen said he didn't know they were officers.

When W. B. Hoagland failed to appear to answer a charge of speeding in police court Saturday, Judge Dineen ordered a capias issued for his arrest.

BOY SHOT TO DEATH
BY LIFE-LONG PAL

Burlington, Ia., May 30.—Ned Kirkpatrick, a high school boy of Birmingham, Ia., was shot and killed this afternoon by Hady Waltman, a life-long pal, with whom he was camping on an island in the Des Moines river. The boys were walking through the woods, when Kirkpatrick handed Waltman an automatic pistol he was carrying. Waltman, believing the gun was empty, aimed it at his companion and pulled the trigger. There was a report and Kirkpatrick fell dead.

Tram Jumps Track.

An Omaha-bound street car jumped a switch at Broadway and Eighth street Friday night, the front truck going toward Omaha and the rear up Eighth street, resulting in a tie-up of traffic for 45 minutes.

Fremont Society

Fremont, Neb., May 31.—The Fremont Country club held its formal opening Friday, Memorial day, with a round of events that began with some spirited matches on the golf course and ended with a dinner-dance in the evening. More than 100 members, with guests, attended.

A two-ball mixed foursome started the activities and in the afternoon a flag handicap match attracted a large number of golf enthusiasts. The Fremont course, said to be one of the sportiest in the state, will be the scene of many interesting matches, according to plans now under consideration.

In addition to the improvement of the course this season, the local club is constructing a swimming pool. A number of showers have been given recently in honor of Miss Edna Beuhritz, who is soon to be married to James Hollingsworth of Los Angeles. The latest of these events occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wiley, with 18 guests present. Little Pearl Adette Wiley presented the gifts from the various guests to the bride-to-be.

A $30 breakfast party Thursday morning at the Hotel Pathfinder was one of the unique social events of the week. The following were the hostesses: Misses Frances Springer, Frances Barch, Sophia Christensen, Mrs. Harry Rump and Mrs. Rose Dolezal. The tables were attractively decorated with a rainbow color scheme. Dainty dolls, attired in the same shades, were at each plate. The guests included: Misses Dorothy Bell, Elizabeth Haas, Stella LaMonde, Emma Glebe, Elizabeth Forester, Ruth Wintersteen, Alma Barnett, Letta Martin, Wilma Jeffers, J. Thies and Mesdames W. H. Crawford, Fred Richards, Jr. and Claude Lambert.

A farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kuehm, who left Thursday for California, was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kuehm Wednesday evening for 18 guests.

Miss Sylvia Ginzlich of Harrisburg, Pa., arrived this week for an extended visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Sidner. She was accompanied by Helen Cramer, who will make her home with the Sidners.

Tuesday afternoon the ladies of the Fremont Country club will hold the first of their weekly afternoon parties. One of the features for the coming season will be a hostess and entertainment for the Kensington guests. Bridge will help complete the programs at each gathering. Mrs. John Monnich will be chairman of the Monnich club next Tuesday. The opening will be as hostesses: Mesdames John Hein, Edward Hein, H. S. Murphy, Harry Webb, George Staats and W. R. Adams. Mrs. T. L. Mathews will preside as hostess for the Kensington. Luncheon will follow.

Girl, 18, Rides Horse
700 Miles to Capital

By Universal Service.
Washington, May 26.—Having ridden 32 days on horseback over a distance of more than 700 miles, Miss Gwendolyn Lazer, 18, arrived here today from her home city of Belleville, Canada.

She traveled in the pioneer way, on horseback with a loaded revolver in her pocket. A descendant of those early Americans who migrated to Canada, she has come to bring President Coolidge an invitation from the citizens of Belleville to attend the 140th anniversary of the founding of the city.

American Dead

Impressive Rites Held at Paris—General Mangin Reviews Parade.

Paris, May 30.—The spectacle of 500 French war orphans bearing American flags marching past the United States military cemetery at Suresnes to the tune of the old revolutionary anthem, "Les Girondins," the chorus of which is "to die for one's country—this is the most beautiful fate the most worthy of envy," was the most touching part of the Paris celebration of the American National Memorial day today.

The youngsters were reviewed by no less a person than General Mangin and, as the band struck up the stirring old song, they marched erectly with shining faces with a demeanor even more military than that of the French infantry regiment, cavalry detachment and marines platoon, which were detailed to honor the American dead lying in the lofty cemetery perched upon a hill top, from which the Arc de Triomphe and the Eiffel tower loom up hazily and almost insignificantly in the distance.

Despite the sultry weather, the ceremony was attended by a large crowd of Americans and French persons. C. A. Airwin of Denver, whose son is buried at Suresnes, made a moving address, after which a chorus of 48 young girls from the normal school of the Seine department sang the Apotheosis, by Berlioz. Father Heinrich of Pittsburgh recited the invocation.

Sheldon Whitehouse, counselor of the American embassy, representing Ambassador Herrick, briefly recalled that the spirits that went forth at Chateau Thierry and the Argonne are one with those of Gettysburg and Santiago. General Mangin, in a brief soldierly speech, recalled the role of the American expeditionary forces, mentioning that six American divisions were ready to attack under his orders in the Lorraine November 1918, an attack which he said "the premature armistice unfortunately stopped."

Rev. Frederick W. Beckman, dean of the American pro-cathedral, concluded the ceremonies with prayers, after which taps were sounded and the cemetery's flag was lowered.

Boy Confess Crime

Two Sons of Millionaires Reveal Details of the Fatal Kidnaping.

thrust a gag in his mouth, strangling him. Prosecutor Crowe charged. They shifted the blame upon each other, however, when asked who struck the blow, the state's attorney said.

In giving in part the details of the kidnaping, State's Attorney Crowe said the boy was struck with the child as they sat in the rented automobile and then a gag was thrust in the boy's mouth, which strangled him.

Hid Clothing.
The clothing, Chief of Detectives Hughes said was hidden in one spot and the shoes in another.

The clothing, the typewriter on which the ransom letter was typed, and the automobile, all will be in his possession by tonight to be held as evidence, Prosecutor Crowe said.

With the boys on their hands, they had next said in an attempt to disguise it beyond recognition, and then stripped it of clothing in the lonely spot where it was taken, Prosecutor Crowe asserted. Even

By International News Service.
Chicago, May 31.—Detectives to day pronounced the conception and commission of the kidnaping and murder of Robert Franks one of the most ingenious in history.

They disclosed further details of the carefully laid plans, asserting that Jacob Franks was to have been directed to take the $10,000 in ransom money with him on a train leaving Chicago. As he passed through a certain town he was to have been ordered to throw the package from the train in front of a certain large sign.

The kidnapers were to have been waiting in a high-powered automobile to seize the money and flee with great speed.

either had been provided by the kidnapers, he said, as a precaution to overpower resistance.

While the boys were telling yesterday somewhat glibly, yet apparently frank stories of their movements on the school of their past activities, the police were almost won to their side. The boys frankly said the circumstances looked bad against them.

However, the state's attorney's men were examining their rooms and personal papers and effects. They found a letter Leopold had written to Loeb referring to a quarrel they had had. The letter gave signs of their brief legal instruction.

"I still want you to feel that we are on an equal footing legally," Leopold wrote, "and therefore I purposely committed the same tort of which you were guilty."

Relatives and friends of the two families vigorously declared their disbelief that the boys had confessed, long after State's Attorney Crowe had announced that the mystery had been solved.

Loeb declared the solution of the case had depended entirely upon the spectacles found near the spot where the boy's body was discovered in the railroad culvert. After a thorough investigation it was discovered the spectacles' frames were made in Brooklyn and that the prescription for the lenses was identical with a prescription for glasses sold to Leopold by a Chicago optical concern. Then Leopold was arrested.

Visited Scene.

The youth frankly said that the glasses were like his and that he had visited the scene 50 times or more on his ornithological studies.

Young Leopold's room is filled with specimens of birds and fowls of many kinds.

In all his rambles, almost daily, Leopold was watching for birds, alert for some unusual specimen or some new habit of a feathered subject. He has written many articles for ornithological publications, was considered a brilliant student and had this year been the student of law.

Loeb, too, was rated a good student. The wealthy Loeb family is very well known. Leopold's family, less rich and less well known, nevertheless has prominent. The homes of both families were great houses in the wealthy Hyde Park district on the south side, immediately north of the University of Chicago.

Father Stunned.
Leopold's father, Nathan Leopold, sr., on the verge of collapse apparently, and accompanied by Jacob Loeb, wealthy insurance man and former president of the Chicago school board, and uncle of Richard Loeb, went to the state's attorney's office accompanied by an attorney this morning. Neither would say anything, although the lawyer said they had come "to find out what it is all about."

Leopold, sr., appeared to have aged over night, the state's attorney's aides said.

The two prisoners were not there, however, having been taken away to recover the clothing and other evidence of the crime.

Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, said it was difficult for him to conceive that the two boys—or any other human, had kidnaped and killed the little fellow. He said he had just slept for the first time in 36 hours when awakened and informed of the alleged confessions.

"It is difficult to understand," he remarked.

Relatives of both youthful prisoners refused to believe the story of the state's attorney.

"That's a lie, that boy cannot be guilty," said Nathan Leopold, sr.

Can't Believe It
Ernest Loeb, brother of Richard Loeb, also received the information given out by the state's attorney with incredulity.

"It cannot be so," he asserted. "We know exactly where Dick was every hour of this particular Wednesday."

Loeb is the son of Albert H. Loeb, millionaire vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Leopold's father is a very wealthy box manufacturer, said to be especially well known in lake shipping circles.

Starts to Break Down
State's Attorney Crowe said young Loeb started to break down at 1 a. m.

The beginning of the break of both youths was said to have occurred when the state's attorney told Leopold that the Leopold family chauffeur had told them that young Leopold's car was in the garage the night the Franks boy disappeared. Leopold had said that he and Loeb had been riding around, drinking gin and whiskey that evening and had invited two girls into the car and that they had reached the Leopold home about 10:30 o'clock that night.

The little fellow was killed by a blow on the head and then strangled," State's Attorney Crowe declared.

"A chisel wrapped with tape was used to strike the blow."

The chisel was found by Herald and Examiner reporters about four blocks from the school which the Franks boy attended.

Acid Used.
State's Attorney Crowe added that ether was to be used if the boy had not been killed as he was. This, he said, was all explained in the confession.

Leopold and Loeb accused one another of striking the blow with the chisel.

Leopold was entirely calm as he made his confession, Mr. Crowe said. "Leopold was nonchalant," he added.

The discoloration on the boy's lips was caused by acid, State's Attorney Crowe declared. Similar acid, he asserted, was found in Leopold's room.

The acid, he declared, was intended to disguise the slain boy in order to prevent identification.

Both youths were together the night of the kidnaping and after the killing when Mrs. Franks, the mother, was called to the telephone by a man who told her her son had been kidnaped and was safe.

The following day, Mr. Crowe said, young Loeb telephoned from a drug store to the Franks home, directing the method of delivering the $10,000 ransom.

Had Withdrawn Ransom.
Mr. Franks, the grief stricken father, had withdrawn the $10,000 demanded from the bank and had it in his home, wrapped and sealed as directed by the special delivery letter received the morning of May 22, the day after the kidnaping. He was

Pershing Urges Preparedness

General Says Nation Should Learn From World War.

Pasajic, N. J., May 30.—General Pershing carried his message of preparedness for national defense into New Jersey, making that the theme of two addresses in the state, delivered in connection with Memorial day exercises.

At Camp Merritt, during the day, General Pershing spoke at the dedication of a monument to the men who died there during the war. The nation would merit shame, he said, if it did not draw from the sacrifice of these lives a lesson in the need to provide American youth in future with the means of adequate training for any war that might come.

Speaking here tonight at the dedication of the soldiers' memorial of the city, General Pershing said: "It is especially given to the soldier to realize fully the price of liberty. Those to whom we pay tribute here today volunteered their services in the full vigor of their youth. They left their homes encouraged by loved ones, marching to battle under patriotic inspiration. Usually untrained for the tasks and duties of war, the fulfillment of their obligations required the greater stoicism and determination. Their achievements must serve as an inspiring example to future generations of Americans."

Foreign Office

Thomas Flynn, President, Announces Intention of Inaugurating New Department.

Thos. Flynn, president of Hayden Brothers, leaves today for an extended business and pleasure trip abroad, he will be accompanied by Mrs. Flynn and his brother, Mr. John Flynn of South Omaha.

It is Mr. Flynn's intention to combine both pleasure with business on this trip, and his itinerary calls for stops at all of the principal European cities, including London, where the international industrial exposition is now being held, and where purchases for the firm of which he is president will be made.

While importations of numerous lines of merchandise, handled by Hayden Brothers, have been purchased through this firm's New York resident buyer, Mr. Flynn states his intentions of establishing foreign offices abroad to care directly for future European purchases.

Insistence Clear.
"I am absolutely innocent of any connection with this distressing affair. My conscience is clear, but I am making no fight. I want to give all the aid and co-operation possible and if they find me guilty I would say 'punish me.'"

Questioning of young Leopold and Loeb continued from late yesterday until dawn. Authorities sought an explanation regarding two bottles found in Leopold's room and said by them to contain poison and a tightly rolled bundle of newspaper, fashioned like a club and tied with a rope. Such an instrument, the police said, could be used to render a frail person unconscious.

No effort will be made to gain the release of Leopold by legal proceedings until the authorities have had a reasonable time to complete their investigation, Nathan Leopold, sr., said last night. He said he wished to do everything to aid the authorities in making a thorough investigation so that all shadow of doubt might be removed from his son.

"My position and the position of my son," he said, "will be that of doing nothing to obstruct the effort of the police and the state's attorney to run down every clue which will in any way bring the guilty party to justice."

Investigators relaxed efforts on other angles of the case while they questioned the boys.
