

Twelve-piece Orchestra Furnishes Music

The Caterpillar, a new thrill-producing device, is being introduced in the west for the first time at Krug park, where it has been given a place among the established attractions.

This latest novelty consists of a light circular track on which a continuous series of 24 seats revolve about a center shaft. The track has a number of small undulations or dips and after the machine has made one or two revolutions a movable canopy or tunnel momentarily covers the seats, causing it to look like a great green caterpillar crawling around the track.

Just as the trick covering submerges the occupants, two big blowers beneath the track are thrown into operation, which introduces another element of surprise to the riders.

Free Sea Swing Being Operated

The sea swing which was established in the pool several seasons ago, but which was not in use last season, has been put in shipshape and is being operated continuously this season.

The sea swing or water carousel works on the same principle as the merry-go-round. When it is revolving at full speed, the bathers, swinging on ropes, are alternately flying through the air and skimming on the surface of the water. It is very thrilling and affords the greatest enjoyment to bathers.

Water Slide Is 30 Feet High

A water toboggan or slide towering 30 feet in the air is the newest device installed to furnish thrills and fun for its patrons.

This huge slide was made in the east and was erected the week prior to the opening of the pool.

Krug Park pool has more devices for entertaining bathers than any other pool, which is partly responsible for the fact that its patronage is so large.

The lights on the giant dipper and on the aeroplane ride can be seen at a distance of 15 miles.

Gay Colored New Suits Furnished

A colorful aspect will be given the pool this season as the park has stocked its suit department with thousands of beautiful all-wool bathing suits of various colors and designs.

An inferior grade bathing suit is provided at the majority of public pools, but the park management is going to furnish its patrons with as classy and expensive suits as they would purchase for themselves.

Boat Ride Always Standard Attraction

The boat ride is always one of the most popular of what are known among amusement people as the standard attractions at a park. Called by various names throughout the United States, such as "Swanee River," "The Old Mill," and similar titles, the "boat ride" through a constructed cavern is one of the pleasures of an amusement park that is good for a steady business throughout season after season.

Krug Park has a boat ride, "Swanee River," that is one of the best in the country. Wonderfully decorated caverns greet the eye of the passenger as the boat propelled by a stream of running water from the giant paddle wheel, wends its way from a dark stretch into an opening with constructed scenery such as one might see in a real trip down a real river.

Strange and fantastic fish and sea monsters cause shrieks followed by laughter, a sudden plunge into utter darkness followed by a quick turn into the light makes the ride a novelty each time.

Park Management Maintains Lost and Found Department

Throughout a season many articles are lost on the grounds. Persons who lose articles of jewelry, gloves, pocketbooks and trinkets would do well to report the loss to any attendant on the grounds.

Many valuable articles have been returned to the owners through this department.

Patrons should leave their name and address at the office when they turn in articles found on the park grounds.

Krug Park Briefs.

A landscape gardener beautifies Krug Park each spring. He is hired by the season to care for the flowers, shrubbery and plants, and their neat appearance testifies to the amount of work expended on them each year.

The parking of thousands of autos of visitors at the park each season calls for the services of several expert traffic regulators.
