RIVER WASHES AWAY ROADBED

Peru, Neb., June 12.—For the past three days the Burlington railway has been forced to abandon train service north of this point and south of Nebraska City on account of the Missouri river undermining and caving the roadbed in for many hundred feet at Barney, just north of here. Barney is a blind siding, but the railway has been forced to keep a watchman there continually for the past two months on account of the cutting of the river. The road has spent thousands of dollars in keeping up the protection work against the ravages of the current in the river during the past five years, and several times has been forced to move the track further west until recently it reached a point directly against a high rocky bluff on the west. It became necessary three days ago to cut the track and pull it away to save it from being lost, and the shelf where it formerly laid is now cut away by the current and a new track is being built over and around the bluffs. It will take two weeks to restore service through to Nebraska City.

Storm at Cozad Worst in Old-Timers' Memory

Cozad, Neb., June 12.—Old timers assert that the electrical storm here Monday night was the worst seen here since the town was founded. Several explosions in the air were deafening and the impact shook the houses as would the drive of a tornado. With this electrical storm there came a heavy rainfall of more than an inch. Farmers had just finished replanting corn and beans and started with the haying. On many farms the alfalfa was in the swath. To this the rain has done immense damage. There was some hail with the rain.

The fire was discovered by Father Mandeville of Valparaiso, Neb., Roman Catholic priest, who was returning home from Lincoln. He roused several persons and notified the fire department at Lincoln. Early estimates place the loss at between $25,000 and $30,000. The barber shop and residence of H. W. Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran until it gave him back his health

Naturally Mr. Carter—whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter: Gentlemen: I am 42 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had to resign a clerical position because of rashes of blood to my head, some of which caused me to fall to the ground. I took an outdoor laboring job and tried for the first time skeptically I admit, your Krumbed Bran. The result has been wonderful. I began to be normal after I had been on the Bran about three days. No more enemas, no more Old Dr. S.-and-S.'s Pills, Epsom salts by the ton, etc., and infinitely! You have the most wonderful product for constipation I have ever seen or tried. Yours very gratefully, L. T. Carter, 294 Nineteenth St., Brooklyn, N. Y. — Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, does not irritate the intestines like drugs and pills. It acts exactly as nature acts. Eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money. You will like the exclusive, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed. Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Sold by all grocers. Made in Battle Creek.

40,000 to Attend Citizen Camps

4,700 Youths From Seventh Corps Area to Get Free Training.

Brig. Gen. Halstead Dorey, in charge of the citizens' military training camp at Fort Des Moines in August, left Omaha Tuesday for Des Moines to oversee preparations for the camp. Nebraska, at present, is ahead of other states in the Seventh corps area in military camp enrollment. The allotment for this area has been raised from 2,700 to 4,700, according to Maj. M. A. Pallen, adjutant, 89th division. Forty thousand boys will be enrolled in the camps in the United States this year, against the 20,000 in 1923, said the major. Forty-six Central High school students have enrolled and 41 Technical High school students. The citizen military training camps are provided for by the national defense act of 1921. Army officers state that the appropriations are far too small to accommodate the number of boys who wish to attend the camps. The ultimate purpose of the camps is to train 50,000 American boys each year so that 2,500 second lieutenants may be selected for the reserves annually. Four Omaha officers have been named by Major General Duncan as instructors at Fort Des Moines. They are: First Lieut. William Boyer, 3324 City street; Capt. Ira A. Jones, city hall; Second Lieut. Alvin H. Goesser, 2419 California street, and Capt. George M. Carey, Omaha.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

The useless thing to you may be a thing of greatest use to me. —Mrs. Hummer.

Mrs. Hummer Hunts for Cobwebs. "Good morning, Peter Rabbit," squeaked a small voice so close to one of Peter's long ears that it made him jump with startled surprise. He was over on the edge of the Old Orchard at the time. "Good—good morning," he stammered, looking all around and blinking his eye as he vainly tried to discover who had spoken to him. "Have you seen any cobwebs this morning, Peter?" squeaked the little voice, and again it seemed to be right in his ear. "What are cobwebs?" asked Peter, continuing to look around him with a foolish expression on his face. "Spiderwebs," was the prompt reply squeaked into his other ear. "Oh, those things," I'm not interested in spiderwebs. Who are you, and where are you and why can't I see you?" "How can you expect to see me if you don't look at me?" was the prompt retort. "Why don't you look up instead of looking all around in the wrong places?" Peter promptly looked up. Even then he might not have seen the tiny speaker had she not lifted one wing to smooth the feathers under it. Of course you have guessed who it was. It was Mrs. Hummer. She was sitting on a twig not far above Peter. When she had squeaked in his ear she had darted down for that purpose, and then back again. "Oh so it is you!" exclaimed Peter. "I didn't know who it was talking to me. What under the sun do you want of spiderwebs, Mrs. Hummer?" said she. "I cannot finish that nest the
