The horses got away well and, sixteenth out, it looked very much as though Go Foin just about had things on ice. Then Jockey C. Gross forgot his business and let the flying Alleden come up and just nose him out in the final stride. My Daddy was easily third best.

Kansas City Auto Classic to Be Hard Fought Kansas City, Mo., June 23 .- The hardest battle ever fought at the Speedway is predicted when the star racing pilots of the United States face the starter at the Kansas City Speedway July 4. Up to now the little 122 inch, one man cars have broken all speed records, having done an average of 116 miles an hour for 250 miles. This means that at many times during the race at which this record was made these little cars were traveling better than 120 miles per hour, or more than two miles per minute.

There will be a number of favorites in the July 4 classic. Harlan Fengler, the Kansas City driver, who holds the world's speed record, is expected to break his own record even though he has been out of racing since an accident hat sent him to the hospital pre lous to the Indianapolis Memorial Day classic. Fengler is now in Kansas City getting his car ready and will be the first of the drivers to get into practice on the local race course.
