

In prospect, it was up somebody's sleeve. Nebraska gave Smith two more than formerly and gave one to Ralston which he did not have before. The votes were taken from John W. Davis and Senator Walsh of Montana.

Oklahoma Bolts. Oklahoma made the expected departure from McAdoo and cast her 20 votes for Senator Owen, the senior senator from that state. It was a favorite son diversion to give the delegation a chance to look around. It was promptly challenged by a delegate and the poll was deferred to the end of the roll call.

The North Carolina delegation vote for McAdoo was in the face of a demand of the Davis adherents there for a poll. John G. Dawson of Kinston, chairman of the state central committee, quieted the movement and went outside the hall to look around. The Davis people in the Tarheel delegation pocketed their sentiments for the time anyhow, and continued to follow the unit rule for McAdoo. They said a lot about what they would do later, but they agreed that nothing would be done "until John gets back from the show." It developed that Dawson, having seen enough of one kind of a show, went out to see another.

Smith Gets Another. Alaska took one from McAdoo and gave it to Smith. It was only one vote, but the Smiths got the majority much racket as if it had been 40. Anyway it eliminated McAdoo from the Alaska votes.

On recurring to Oklahoma, the 20 were cast again for Senator Owen, the challenge was renewed and the roll was called.

McAdoo votes were there, but under the unit rule the votes went for Owen. The total for the leaders on the roll stood this way: McAdoo, 415.5; Smith, 311.5; Davis, 211.5.

Loss of 21 for McAdoo, gain of 21 for Smith and a loss of 21 for Davis.

At the state's 20 into the Davis ballots. Governor of the delegation, de would never get back to Davis.

Having received the news, the secretary all the roll," chanted the now familiar "24 for Oscar They were off again for Davis.

Walsh took a vacation the 27th ballot and the secretary in the chair. Having been a presidential contender himself, the Ohio war horse looked over the tug of war with a good deal of interest.

North Carolina, which had been voting its 24 for McAdoo, broke on this ballot and gave 12 to John W. Davis. The remainder went to McAdoo as usual.

Smith Forces Parade. Oklahoma kept with Senator Owen and the announcement of the vote gave 20 complimentary in their descriptions of the recipient that Senator Owen modestly shrunk away into the anterooms.

South Dakota took the one she had been giving Chairman Walsh and gave it to Governor Ritchie of Maryland.

Wyoming made the switch forecast by giving five to Smith and one to John W. Davis, Senator Ritchie, from whom they went, did not look a bit disappointed and the Smith crowd got such noisy satisfaction out of it as if the whole six had been deposited. Massachusetts and Pennsylvania standards flew down the aisle and escorted the Wyoming standard into a quickly formed procession which picked up adherents as it moved.

The first marching demonstration of the night was on. McAdoo Confers With Ritchie. While all the rumpus was in progress in the convention hall there were things going on outside. A closed cab rolled up on one of the side streets. William G. McAdoo stepped out of it and entered a hotel just across the corner from the garden. There he met Governor Ritchie of Maryland and the two men went into conference. While they talked, the rip roaring demonstration for Al Smith in the hall across the street was floating out of the garden and must have reached them.

In the demonstration in the hall, there was a tussle around the Canal zone standard when some Smith people tried to take it into the procession.

There was no real fight however and the procession rushed on with the standards of 13 states which gathered about the New York delegate space.

After they had a play spell, Chairman Walsh began to signal the demonstrators to get back to their places by banging that celebrated pavel with the flying head. He banged it gingerly this time and the lead stayed on. The marchers obediently went back to their places; the band stopped the inspirational gallop.

The call of the states finally went on to the finish without developing a tussle.

Policeman Recover U. S. Embassy Flag Cut Down by Japs

Reported Stolen by Member of Tokio Patriotic Society—Government Expresses Regret.

By International News Service. Tokio, July 1.—The American flag cut down and stolen from the United States embassy grounds today was recovered tonight by the Akasaka police, who found it hidden in a tent. According to the police it was stolen by a member of anti-patriotic society and an arrest was predicted for tomorrow.

Foreign Minister Shidehara, to whom protest had been made earlier in the day, called on Charge d'Affaires Caffery and assured the latter the government was doing everything possible satisfactorily to deal with the incident.

By Associated Press. Tokio, July 1.—The nation-wide demonstration against the American exclusion act, which goes into effect today, opened with mass prayer meetings at all the national shrines throughout the country. Crowds petitioned the ancient deities to aid the people in this troublous time when the Japanese race is "insulted" by exclusion from America.

Tokio's principal meeting was at the Meiji shrine. It was attended by thousands of reservists and others. Scores of other anti-American meetings are being held in Tokio alone today.

All the vernacular newspapers printed anti-American cartoons. Despite the opening of the diet, the newspapers make the demonstration the big story of the day. The editorial comment, however, is moderate.

Prominent men interviewed, while expressing general indignation against America urge the people to seek strength by internal co-operation. "Hate Everything American."

Patriotic societies last evening placarded practically every telephone and telegraph pole in the city with the following: "Japanese must never forget July 1, when America inflicted an intolerable insult on Japan. Always remember the date. Prepare for such steps are demanded by the honor of the fatherland when the occasion comes. Every Japanese must remember the following rules: 1.—Alter your mode of living so as to impress the date lastingly upon your mind. 2.—Hate everything American, but remain kind to American individuals. 3.—Deny yourself all luxury. 4.—Never forget national honor for private gain. 5.—Never enter a church supported or guided by Americans or United States missionaries."

By Associated Press. Tokio, July 1.—Viscount Taka-akira Kato, the premier, and Baron Kijuro Shidehara, the foreign minister, spoke at the opening of the business sessions of the lower and upper houses of the diet today. The premier said: "An examination of world conditions reveals that the powers are developing national strength with a view to extending their influence abroad and Japan needs a general awakening of the popular will."

Expressing regret at the passage of the American exclusion act, he said the government would do its utmost to seek a new solution. He promised electoral reform, including universal manhood suffrage; measures against corruption; state economy; national thrift and the discontinuance of former Premier Kiyoura's loan policy for the present fiscal year.

Delegates Lose Fights Against Unit Provision

Walsh Holds State Convention's Final Authority When Missouri and Kentucky Would Split Vote.

New York, June 1.—Two fights against impositions of the unit rule were lost in the democratic national convention today when Permanent Chairman Walsh held that state conventions are the final authority on the question and that their decisions cannot be overruled by the convention itself.

The issue was raised by both Missouri and Kentucky, a minority of whose delegates sought to break away and vote for candidates of their own choosing. Chairman Walsh, by another ruling, however, did permit the Florida delegation to split, but in this case the delegation was not voting as a unit under instructions from a state convention, but the unit rule had been applied by a majority of the delegation.

When the Missouri delegation today changed its vote from McAdoo to Davis, there was a challenge by McAdoo members of the delegation and the question of the unit rule was argued before the convention. The convention of those who wanted the restrictions of the rule removed was that although the state convention instructed for McAdoo, the primary vote did not justify the instructions.

In the case of Kentucky, two delegates from the Ninth district sought to break the rule, claiming they were instructed in their district convention for Underwood, although the state convention later instructed the whole delegation to vote as a unit for McAdoo. Chairman Walsh held with the majority that the action of the state convention superceded that of the district convention.

The Florida vote, which had been sold for McAdoo, was split after the unit rule was broken, in its case, with 10 votes going to McAdoo and one each to Smith and Ralston. In this contest, Chairman Walsh declared that as no state convention gave instructions to the delegation, the individual members were answerable only to their constituents and could vote as they pleased, regardless of the preferences expressed in the Florida primary.

CIRCUS ACTION IS RESCINDED
Council Bluffs aldermen last night rescinded their action of a week ago, when they granted permission to representatives of two large circuses to utilize the sides of buildings in the business district for display of advertising banners.

Arthur E. Rapp, building inspector, appeared before the council last night, explained the efforts which city officials have made for two years to
