

Morrie Schlaifer Taken Ill--Chicago Fight With Rock Smith Is Called Off

Infection Makes Hospital Patient of Omaha Fighter

Welterweight Must Remain Inactive for at Least Two Weeks; Physician Declares.

Morrie Schlaifer lost a decision to a throat infection Tuesday. As a result the Omaha welterweight's fight with Rock Smith, scheduled for Thursday night in Chicago, has been called off.

Morrie began to suffer from the throat trouble the day following his knock-out victory over Tille Kid Herman.

"Gee, that Herman must have walloped me some," commented Schlaifer to a friend after the fight. "My throat hurts to beat the band."

Schlaifer neglected to consult a physician until Tuesday. The doctor discovered that the fighter was suffering from an infection and immediately ordered his fight with Smith called off.

According to the physician, Schlaifer will have to remain idle for at least two weeks and it may be necessary to remove him to a hospital for treatment.

Until he consulted his doctor Schlaifer had intended to leave for Chicago Tuesday night.

FRANCE WINS FENCING TITLE

Paris, June 30.—The fencing team of France today won the Olympic championship, defeating the team from Belgium in the finals.

Belgium earlier in the day defeated Hungary and France went into the finals when the team from Italy defaulted in protest against the award of a point which was the final touch of the match between Canada, the French star, against the Italian fencer, Boni.

When the Olympic authorities disallowed their protest, they marched off the floor singing their national anthem. They were automatically disqualified from all further fencing competition in the Olympics.

California Student Leads in Canadian Golf Meet

Toronto, Can., June 30.—Laren Upson, University of California student turned in lowest card among 120 entrants for the first 18 holes of the qualifying round of the Canadian amateur golf championship today. He was one lower than the 76 of W. J. Thompson of Mississippi.

Frank Thompson, 1921 champion, was third, with 78, and Stanley Thompson, third member of the same team, tied for fourth with J. B. MacLean of Weston, each having 78.

EDDIE'S FRIENDS

New Speed Records Looked for at Kansas City Auto Race Friday

Kansas City, July 1.—Speed, the lust for which cannot be satisfied in the breast of fans, will pitch at least 16 of the foremost of daring auto drivers into the most spectacular of 1924 contests when the 250-mile national championship classic is held here on Independence day.

The board track, one of the fastest in the country—already is the center of the motor racing world, where champions, past champions and record holders are tuning up their cars for the big event.

The race probably holds the decision in the competition that is being closely fought by the racing demons for the 1924 honors, so speed will be demanded to the utmost.

Joe Boyer, driving his Duesenberg Special, in which he upset the three consecutive victories of the Miller car when he led the field across the finishing line in the big 600-mile race at Indianapolis on Memorial day, will be seen at the wheel at the speedway.

Fighting him for honors is Jimmy Murphy, winner of the recent race at Altoona, when he set an average pace of 114 miles an hour, which is here with his Miller Special.

Harlan Fengler, known as the "baby" of the racing game, yet holder of the speed record of 113 miles per hour, will make it a rather warm afternoon for the veterans. Fengler, besides holding this record, made the veterans regard him seriously when he copped the 300-mile race here last October.

Fengler will be seen behind the wheel of Eddie Hearne's Durant Special, which Hearne sold when he quit the game after the Indianapolis race this year. He is a former local boy and the fans are looking to him to add more honors to his wreath of laurels and will urge him in his effort to break his own record, made last February at Los Angeles.

Fred Comer and Harry Hartz, also of the Durant team, complete the trio of entries in this make of car.

Tommy Milton, veteran of many races, will bring his nerve and Miller Special to help Murphy and others in the Miller team along.

L. L. Corum in a Duesenberg Special, Earl Cooper in a Studebaker Special, Ira Vail in a Vail Special, Ora Habbe in a Schmidt Special and Antonio Mourre in a Mourre Special are among the veterans of past racing fame who will be here to make a complete field of distinguished drivers.

Giving the Tightwads the Air

Man Who Managed Utah Mauler Before Latter Won Championship, Scouting Coast for Prospects.

By DAMON RYUN.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Eastern "ring worms," homemade slang for pugilistic fanatics, have been wondering what has become of Floyd Glotzbach, former chauffeur-husband of Matzenauer, grand opera singer.

They read of Glotzbach's debut as a heavyweight pugilist, of his triumph in a couple of fights on the Pacific coast. Then silence fell.

The writer is able to inform you that Glotzbach has retired from the ring. No doubt he soon discovered that it is much easier being a chauffeur, easier even than being the husband of a great singer, than learning to fight.

Glotzbach was one of "Windy" Fred Winsor's discoveries. Winsor at one time managed Jack Dempsey. That was before Dempsey had gained any fame. Since then Winsor has been looking for the same things in other men that he failed to see in Dempsey.

This small overnight cost "Windy" perhaps $1,000,000. That has been Jack Kearns' end of the Dempsey-Kearns combination, counting in the return Kearns has had from investments made with the money he got through his management of Dempsey.

Winsor disappears at intervals into remote sections of the west coast, California or Oregon, Washington, to bob up later with some large strong young men he regards as a good prospect.

Usually the young man amounts to little pugilistically. That may be said of 99 out of every 100 men picked up as pugilistic prospects.

It is an interesting game Winsor pursues, more interesting than searching for gold in the hot hills with a burro carrying your belongings.

Winsor has just reappeared in San Francisco after a brief absence, with a couple of new prospects.

They are "The Timber Wolf," 21 years old, weight 208 pounds, height 6 feet, 3 1/2 inches, and Jack McCann of Bismarck, N. D., who is 20 and weighs 180 pounds.

He has had 10 fights, winning eight by knockouts, drawing in one. You always read of these new prospects having knockouts and wonder who it can be they knock out.

The San Francisco boxing writers good naturedly "kidd" Winsor and his prospects.

But it is not safe to laugh at him too much. He is persevering and perseverance generally brings results.

One of these crude young men may one day be the heavyweight champion of the world. Winsor has just as much chance to find the next champion as anyone else—more, because that is his pet hobby.

Winsor learned a lesson at great cost to himself with Dempsey, for Dempsey was just as crude when Winsor had him as any of the young men he is bringing in now.

TENNIS BODY PLANS FOR STATE MEET

Lincoln, June 30.—A series of matches for the out-state trophy award may be the feature of the 1924 Nebraska tennis tournament which will be held on the University of Nebraska courts here August 4 to 9 according to announcement today by Gregg McBride, secretary of the state association. The series will be run off in addition to the regular tournament play, he said.

Teams of four players representing clubs outside of Lincoln and Omaha will compete for the cup, according to the tentative plans.

The state junior tournament will also be held in conjunction with the senior tourney. The age limit for the juniors this season will probably be raised to all boys who have not reached their 18th birthday January 1 of the year of competition, Mr. McBride said.

A large entry is expected for the tourney this year, according to the secretary's announcement.

London—A 72-hole golf match for stakes amounting to approximately $2,500 has been arranged between Walter Hagen, who won the British open Friday, and MacDonald Smith, San Francisco professional, Americans, and George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, Britishers.

NO INFIELDER in organized baseball ever played a complete season without making one or more errors. Two outfielders can be named who played the full schedule through without making an error. Schrahl, playing the outfield for the Albany club of the New York State league in 1918, accepted 152 chances in the 151 games that constituted the schedule of that circuit without making an error. Milligan, playing the outfield for the Hannibal club of the Central association in 1912, participated in every game the team played, 116, and accepted 232 chances without the sign of an error.

WESTERN NET TOURNAMENT OPENED

Indians, June 30.—Favorites toyed their way to easy victories in the opening round of play in the western tennis championships here today, the eight seeded players all winning in straight sets.

Cutler Gets Autographed Baseball From Hornsby

Ray Cutler, well known amateur baseball fan, is a proud possessor these days as a result of receiving an autographed baseball which is signed by practically every member of the St. Louis Cardinal team, including the great Rogers Hornsby himself.

The great Rogers Hornsby, including the baseball was sent to Cutler by "Dode" Pezdirtz, Omaha boy, who plays third base for St. Louis City in the Tri-State league. Pezdirtz obtained the trophy for Cutler when the Cardinals played an exhibition game in St. Louis City several days ago.

Elizabeth Ryan Nearly Defeats Suzanne Lenglen

American Star Performs Task of Winning One Set From French Girl—Helen Wills Wins.

Wimbledon, June 30.—One hour of keen excitement at the Wimbledon tennis championships this afternoon will be remembered long after all else that occurred in the eight days of play is forgotten. In that hour Suzanne Lenglen, the world's champion, came as near defeat as she has ever been on an European court since her victorious start blazed forth immediately after the war was over.

In Miss Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of California, Miss Lenglen found an opponent this afternoon worthy of her mettle. Not only did Miss Ryan, who is playing as an American, win a set of the idol of France—an accomplishment only two other women, Mrs. Molla Mallory and Mrs. Chambers, ever achieved—but for a time she had the 20,000 excited spectators thinking she might capture the match.

Fails to Do.

This she failed to do, however, though there was excitement up to the last moment ending in another victory for Miss Lenglen, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

Another notable match today was that between Miss Helen Wills, the American champion, and Mrs. Coigate of England. The American girl had the contest well in hand from the beginning and won, 6-1, 6-0. She has developed a finished game, particularly with regard to playing at the net. Today she had hardly to extend herself, so accurate was her racquet work.

Miss Ryan, weary under the strain of trying to overcome the incomparable strategy of Miss Lenglen, Suzanne, however, was never greatly perturbed, nor so called upon as her less strategic opponent to run herself almost to exhaustion.

For five years the British have longed to see someone, no matter who, give Miss Lenglen a real struggle, and the crowd that packed the stadium today will long remember what a fight Miss Ryan put up.

Only One Competitor.

Only one competitor now stands between Miss Wills and her hoped for match with Miss Lenglen in the finals for the ladies title. To meet the French champion at Wimbledon, however, Miss Wills must first dispose of Mrs. Satterthwaite, who, in a hard match with Mrs. Shepherd-Barrow today, won out at 6-4, 10-8.

It is assumed, of course, that Miss Lenglen, as usual, will defeat Miss Kathleen McKane, her opponent in the women's doubles. As Miss Wills demonstrated continued improvement in speed, stroking and strategy this afternoon, there is more confidence now that she will win her way to the finals, though few are so optimistic as to expect her to dethrone the French woman at their first meeting.
