While Missouri's return was being celebrated, Oklahoma's poll showed a return to McAdoo, but the anuncement of that would furnish the fire for another demonstration. The hand helped out the celebration by blaring "What's Become of Hinky 'Dinky Parlevous."

The last line of it goes "We know there are a lot of men who wish they were back in the army again." women were in full charge

the McAdoo demonstration. During the parade Senator Walsh

Montana relieved Senator Walsh of Massachusetts of the celebrated gavel with the flying head. The permanent chairman had shed his white flannels and gone back to the austere black cutaway rig.

Somebody started the "We want Smith" chant and immediately it was ringing from all corners of the garden. It swamped the McAdoo demonstration so far as noise was concernied. John Keegan of St. Louis demand ed the poll of the Missouri delegation when he finally could make himself heard and his demand was seconded by Frank H. Farris of Rolla, Mo., a McAdoo man.

Two States go to McAdoo.

The McAdoo people had the major-ity of the Missouri delegation in the poll

Mayor Jackson's vote in Vermont went to McAdoo on this ballot, the other seven going to Smith.

A California matron, who had been waving a collection of little flags at every mention of McAdoo, suddenly discovered that some one had slippe a Smith banner on the top of the staff and that she had been waving an emblem of the New York governor. She indignantly tore off the Smith streamer and destroyed it into tiny bits.
