

Today

Slowly Breaking.
Coolidge Not Troubled.
And Civilization Goes On—
Eastman's 21 Millions,
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The convention, tired of hearing itself balloting, reading over names and figures, adjourned a little before 4 Wednesday until 8 in the evening. That will give men running things in private rooms, away from the convention, a chance to "see" delegates, and "talk sense."

News of the afternoon was Missouri's break, a majority going from McAdoo to John W. Davis, taking the entire 36 votes to Davis under the unit rule.

John W. Davis' vote rolled up to 129 1/2 votes on the 24th and last ballot of the 308.

Smith had a gain of 68 over the first ballot; McAdoo 438 1/2, a gain of seven over the first ballot.

When the break came in Missouri, William J. Bryan left to consult with McAdoo at the Waldorf hotel, six miles from Fourth avenue. There will be a lot of consulting and arranging done. Bryan will fight the nomination of John W. Davis as he fought that of Parker, perhaps no more successful.

At this time, just before the night session, the opinion of politicians is that both Smith and McAdoo will be eliminated, each being strong enough to kill off the other.

A colorless candidate would suit the powerful element in the democratic party that wants a name first of all, and would be content to let democrats run his office, while republicans run the government.

That kind of candidate wouldn't disturb Mr. Coolidge's peace of mind.

In fact, no candidate would disturb Mr. Coolidge much, judging by conditions now.

Mr. Stone, attorney general, having indicted the biggest oil and gasoline companies, about 50 of them, and the chief figures in the oil scandal, has taken the "oil issue" away from the democratic party and made it a republican issue, and a first-class one.

If the democrats know enough to nominate Senator Walsh of Montana, they could get back their issue. He is the man that made the indictment and the prosecutions necessary. But to nominate Walsh would require two things. First, common sense; second, emancipation of the democratic party from the power that nominated Parker.

There is one pleasant thing about politics. You turn your face away from the cheating and lying, bribing and treachery, to find the real civilization, with which politics has little to do, is steadily progressing.

Three United States flying ships, manned by skillful, courageous men, have begun their daily flights across the continent.

And the executive departments and scientific establishments of the government are in conference at the Navy department, planning a thorough investigation of oceanography.

When there are enough American flying machines in the air and American submarines exploring wealth hidden under the ocean, there will be no more worry about interference from other countries, European or Asiatic. And that will come.

Five year ago, George Eastman of Rochester allowed 6,000 employees of his Eastman Kodak company to subscribe for stock in the company at par. Yesterday the employees got their stock, worth $21,000,000.

They paid just half that price for it, originally, making a profit of 100 per cent. That's a good way to encourage good work and interest workers in their jobs.

Patriotic reformers that favor control of campaign contributions and want to keep predatory wealth out of politics, might begin by building a big hotel or boarding house somewhere for political delegates. In New York already many delegates are hard up, tired of the big hotel bills, ready to listen to almost anything in reason, to get home and away from the expense.

William Jennings Bryan told this writer yesterday that while he accepted the "facts" of the Darwinians, he rejected their conclusions.

"The cow has milk, the cocoanut has milk, the milkweed has milk. I say yes to all that. But when they tell me that the cow, through evolution, descends from the milkweed, I say no."

What will Mr. Bryan say to the maki, fresh from Africa, living at this moment in the Bowery, not far from Mr. Bryan's room at the Waldorf? The maki makes a noise like a wild turkey, has a long tail, red fur, topaz eyes, with an expression like that of a candidate whose delegates are leaving him. It is said to be the link between the monkey and the raccoon.

Except by evolution, how can Mr. Bryan explain that maki, or the blue-faced mandrill, the swine monkeys that came with it? Is it conceivable that a Supreme Being separately manufactured all those queer creatures merely to amuse Adam and Eve in the garden? It seems unlikely, especially as the Supreme Being, being omniscient, knew that Adam and Eve wouldn't stay in the garden long, not half long enough to count the animals.

Japanese are worrying our devoted missionaries, declaring that Americans no longer have the right to preach Christianity in Japan. That's sad, but, of course, it is for the Japanese to decide whether they want to get to heaven or not. It isn't for their amusement that missionaries are trying to have plenty of Asiatic associates in heaven although the United States nation declines to have them here.

BOOTLEGGER GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

Falls City, Neb., July 2.—District Judge J. B. Raper meted out one of the severest sentences ever given to a bootlegger in Richardson county when he sentenced Charles Mackey to a term of from one to two years at hard labor in the state penitentiary on the charges of illegal possession and illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor. Mackey's automobile was ordered confiscated by the court and will be sold by the sheriff.

Improvements Planned for Parks in Shenandoah

Shenandoah, Ia., July 2.—McComb park and other parks in Shenandoah will be made beauty spots. Herbert Skoglund of Omaha and St. Joseph, a landscape architect, has been engaged to draw up plans for park improvement. A definite goal will be set and some work done each year. The slope of McComb park is ideal and the grounds are a pleasing sight as people enter or leave Shenandoah over the Waubonise trail.

Cass County Rainfall in June Almost a Foot

Atlantic, Ia., July 2.—Almost a foot of rain fell in Cass county during June, according to the local United States weather observer, Miss Oza Cunningham. The exact amount of precipitation in June was 11.96 inches.

Girl Sells Pop to Help Babies

Her Dollar Will Buy Wholesale Milk and Cooling Ice.

"I am sending this dollar bill to buy milk for the poor babies who need it. I earned this money selling pop. I have a pop stand at Thirty-ninth and Dodge streets, in the corner of our yard."

Bless you, Grace! The next time we pass that corner we're going to patronize your stand and drink pop till we fairly "bust."

You have learned early that it is a blessed thing to help the poor and helpless. It is a thing that pays big dividends in happiness all through the years.

Money is greatly needed to care for the increasing number of babes and small children in homes of poverty who are in danger through the heat of summer.

You may not have time to operate a pop stand, but you can probably afford to give a dollar or two to this praiseworthy work. Give now, if you can, because the need is great and urgent.

Man, 65, Defeats Bay in Trapeze Bar Contest

Harvard, Neb., July 2.—A. P. Erickson, 65, isn't a-going to let Youth or Time catch up with him. Just to prove it while in playful mood, he entered into an endurance contest with a 13-year-old neighbor boy on the trapeze bar. He "skinned the cat" fore and back, without touching the ground, one time more than the youngster and won on the sixth turn.

Further Slash in Tram Service

South Omaha Period Made 7 1-2 Minutes; Park Line to 5 Minutes.

Further cuts in street car service were announced Tuesday by company officials. These cuts affect the South Omaha line, making the time between cars 7 1/2 minutes instead of 5 minutes; and on the Park line, on which the period between cars will be 5 minutes instead of 4.

Discontinuance of through car service on the Park line to Forest Lawn cemetery also was announced, making it necessary for those desiring to reach the cemetery by street car to transfer at Thirtieth and Potter streets.

Similar cuts in the intervals between cars already have been made on several other lines throughout the city. Street car company officials declare these changes are necessary, due to a falling off of traffic. They point out, however, that the service during rush hours is practically the same as before the cuts.

Callaway.—Frank Cedar who lives in the vicinity of Walworth was arrested, charged with the illegal possession of whisky.
