

Helen Wills to Meet Kathleen McKane for Wimbledon Tennis Championship

American Star Has Easy Time in Semi-Finals

England's Leading Woman Player Takes Place of Suzanne Lenglen—Williams, Washburn Win.

Wimbledon, July 2.—Miss Helen Wills, California girl and America's champion, went into the finals of the tennis tournament today by defeating Miss Phyllis Satterthwaite of England, 6-2, 6-1. She will meet Miss Kathleen McKane, England's first ranking woman player, in the final match tomorrow.

Mrs. Satterthwaite's old-fashioned underhand drives were no match for the modern and more versatile game of the American champion. Miss Wills, to the disappointment of every one, will not find Miss Lenglen facing her in the finals, due to the French woman's default. She will meet Miss Kathleen McKane of Great Britain.

Miss Wills started cautiously today, contest with a base line duel, and the games went with the service until the California girl crashed through the British woman's service to take a commanding lead. Miss Wills after that came forward opportunely for finishing smashes, winning the first set, 6-2.

Miss McKane went into the final round by the default of Suzanne Lenglen, French star and winner at Wimbledon for the last five years. Her doctor advised her to withdraw.

R. Norris Williams II and Watson M. Washburn of the United States entered the men's doubles and semi-finals by defeating C. H. Kingsley and J. F. Masterman, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4. Francis T. Hunter and Vincent Richards, Americans, entered the semi-finals by defeating Max Woodman and J. P. Wheatley, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

HAWAIIAN GOLFER TO ENTER TOURNEY

Honolulu, July 2.—Francis I. Brown, golf champion of the Hawaiian islands, returned to his home yesterday from a golfing expedition to Europe and announced his intention of entering the American amateur championship tournament at the Merion Cricket club, Haverford, Pa., next September.

Center Street Juniors Win.

The Center Street Juniors, a team composed of boys under 15 years of age, defeated the Eleventh Street Juniors Monday by the score of 4 to 2. Krebs and Longo featured with the stick for the winners. The Center Street team has the following lineup: Ravitz, first base; Longo, pitcher; Kaiman, shortstop; Swoboda, third base; Sofio, catcher; Ingers, second base; Tibers, right field; Krebs, center field; and Keiser, left field.
