This is Baby Health Week

Your baby! What a world of love and affection is wrapped in its warm little body! Zealously you guard its health through incessant care and watchfulness. To you, as to every other mother, your child's health and care is of the greatest importance.

Only a mother knows the responsibility of a baby's care. Every nursery need, every toilet and clothing need must be selected with a knowledge born of experience and instruction. To buy preparations of a doubtful or unknown character at a "price" is to imperil the health of your baby; to buy articles unsuited to each particular need is to invite discomfort and dissatisfaction.

This week has been designated "Baby Health Week." Every Registered Druggist whose name appears in this advertisement will devote this week to the instruction and use of baby drug and toilet needs. It will be a time when your druggist, with his broad experience and knowledge, will gladly acquaint you with the newest and best in every drug store need for baby's health and comfort.

Visit your druggist this week. His experience and knowledge will save you money and discomforts—and possibly the health of your baby. His service to you is measured only by your wishes for his help.

The following articles and preparations are sold and guaranteed by your druggist. Buy your baby health needs of your druggist and "know" that you are getting standard quality products.
