

Only Crime Is in Getting Caught, Leopold Asserts

Franks Slayer Has No Sorrow for Victim's Family—Loeb Gave "Tips" to Reporters.

(Continued from Page One.) It revealed that Leopold had inquired of instructors in criminal law at the University of Chicago what would be the consequences of a crime like the abduction and killing of young Franks. He showed, too, that he had planned suicide by means of poisoned headache medicine as a way out of the dilemma which he foresaw would be his portion if he ever reached the shadow of the gallows. This was revealed in one of his conversations with Gortland, the latter testified. Contemplated Suicide. On another occasion Leopold told Sergeant Frank Johnson, another witness of the day: "If I knew that Loeb was going to preach, I could have killed myself and taken a couple of coppers with me." This remark was made when police researchers found two heavy automatic pistols in Leopold's study. Johnson also told of a remark which he said was made by Leopold when the policeman had momentarily released his prisoner's arm. "If I thought you fellows would shoot to kill, I would try running," were the words ascribed to the defendant. That the possible consequences of his crime was upon Leopold's mind was further indicated by testimony given by E. W. Puttkammer, a professor of criminal law at the University of Chicago, and by Max Wester, a graduate student and tutor. Inquired as to Penalty. Professor Puttkammer said Leopold, under the guise of seeking instructions preliminary to an examination, used the Franks killing as a basis for an academic discussion of criminal intent. The professor said he was asked by Leopold what the status would be if a kidnaper accidentally killed his victim, did it with malice aforethought or abducted him only for the purpose of "taking liberties" with the victim. The professor answered these questions by pointing out that kidnapping, like murder, was a death penalty felony in Illinois. Wester testified that Leopold had inquired whether kidnappers who kill their victim would be guilty of murder, and that he had assured him they would be guilty.

PROGRESSIVE HEAD JOINS LA FOLLETTE

(Continued from Page One.) same would be true if we'd endorse Norton," Taylor said. No reference was made at the meeting to the letter sent to J. L. Beebe by Governor Bryan asking that J. N. Norton be given the progressive nomination for governor following the withdrawal of Bryan as the progressive nominee. In fact, there was much talk that Beebe and Green would junk the program of the progressive party altogether and throw its entire strength behind the new La Follette party to be born at Grand Island August 19. One of the first proposals was that the machinery of the progressive party be used in getting the names of La Follette and Wheeler on the ballots. This plan was spurned after Mike Harrington of O'Neill pointed out that the progressive party had nominated J. J. Thomas of Seward as its candidate for United States senator. Bollen Addresses Meeting. "Every mother's son of us wants Norris as badly as we do La Follette and Wheeler," Harrington declared. "I'll never consent to a move that might endanger Norris." F. P. Bollen, who delivered a speech yesterday before the democratic convention at the democratic candidate for railway commissioner, appeared before the La Follette followers as the progressive candidate for the same office. After Bollen had concluded speaking W. J. Taylor sprang to his feet. "I wonder how many are here as true friends and how many are with us for selfish purposes," Taylor said. "Let every man who is going to vote for La Follette and Wheeler stand up." Bollen kept his seat. "Those who did not stand up, get out," Taylor said. Bollen left in a few minutes. Committee Named. "Who will you support for president?" he was asked as he withdrew. "That's none of your business," Bollen snapped. When the meeting adjourned a committee composed of one from each congressional district with Wiley, a member of the railroad brotherhoods as chairman, was appointed to make arrangements for the Grand Island meeting. Committee members are: Otto Mutz, Lincoln; Anson H. Bigelow, Omaha; Otto Ulrich, Winslow; F. J. Woods, Barneston; L. H. Lawton, Fallsdale; Mike Harrington, O'Neill. Canada Wheat Jumps. Winnipeg, Man., July 25.—Wheat futures on the Winnipeg exchange went to new high levels today as the result of a 5-cent boost of prices on heavy purchases by United States interests. The close was from 4 to 4½ cents above Thursday's.

Thomas Demands Munny Judge Who Will Harry Wets

Prohibition Agent Insists Eugene O'Sullivan Be Disregarded by Bryan in Choice.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Lincoln, July 25.—In the correspondence always lying haphazard on Governor Bryan's desk is a letter from Elmer E. Thomas, federal prohibition agent for Nebraska, requesting the governor, in the name of prohibition forces in Nebraska, to name a successor to the late Municipal Judge John Wappich, who will be in sympathy with prohibition enforcement. The Thomas letter states bluntly that any attempt by Governor Bryan to please Eugene O'Sullivan, Omaha criminal lawyer and the delegate to the national convention who nominated Bryan for president, in naming the Wappich successor will be accepted by prohibition forces as a surrender to the "wet" element in Omaha. O'Sullivan, according to report, has been promised appointment of a municipal judge suitable to him as payment for his work for the governor in New York. The same demand for a law enforcement sympathizer on the municipal bench has been made by F. A. High, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league. High, in a statement issued today, charged that the municipal court bench, by failure to mete out heavy jail sentences to bootleggers in Omaha, had forced law enforcement officials to take their cases directly into federal court and clog that court with work that should be handled by the municipal bench. High Protests Vacancy. "A year ago I called on Governor Bryan to remove two of Omaha's municipal judges and presented evidence to show they were not enforcing the prohibition law satisfactorily," High said. "He ignored my plea and one of the judges is still on the bench. The least the prohibition forces can ask is that in selecting a successor to Judge Wappich Governor Bryan choose a man who can handle much of this police work and save the federal courts from their heavy burden of criminal cases. The only reason a majority of liquor cases are tried in federal court is because officials can't rely on the municipal courts to impose the heavy jail sentences necessary to stamp out bootlegging. Vacancy Since April. "Governor Bryan has stood with the 'wet' element in Omaha for a year in refusing to take action on our request for removal of two judges. It is high time he did something for the prohibition forces in Nebraska." The vacancy on the municipal bench in Omaha has been open since April. Governor Bryan has steadfastly refused to make an appointment despite the fact that the court work is too heavy for the judges to handle and they have issued statements saying it was impossible to carry on the work with dispatch until they received more help.

Dirigible Flees Before Storm Shenandoah Takes to Air in Effort to Escape Thunder Shower.

By International News Service. Lakehurst, N. J., July 25.—After twice being brought to the ground on its return to the air station here after a successful 500-mile test flight, the navy's big dirigible, Shenandoah, again took to the air shortly before noon in an effort to fly around a storm approaching Lakehurst. The first time the airship was brought down a 14-mile cross-hanger wind made it dangerous to attempt to put the craft in its hangar. The commander went aloft and hovered over the field until daybreak, when the vessel again was brought to the ground. A strong cross-hanger wind was still blowing, however, and the ground crew, augmented by several hundred civilians and air station attaches, held the ship fast for several hours in hopes of it flying down, when an attempt would be made to house the vessel. Decision to take the air a second time was influenced by weather conditions, according to Commander Lansdowne, who explained the Shenandoah would be placed at its mooring mast were it not for predicted thunder storms. He explained the mooring mast "grounds" the ship and makes it more susceptible to being struck by lightning.

GLOBE FLIERS TO COME HERE

(Continued from Page One.) secretary of the Omaha Retail Grocers' association. In his telegram Mr. Elk pointed out that air mail routes is equipped for any service to the fliers and declared that the route is "entitled to the honor of being used on the home flight by the round-the-world heroes." On July 23, before final decision had been made, Major General Patrick addressed a letter to Mr. Elk, received late Friday, which assured the Omaha that his plea would be given "most careful and sympathetic consideration." Patrick's Letter. The Patrick letter says: "Please accept my sincere thanks for your telegrams of July 22 joining in the invitation extended by your city and other organizations to the world fliers to use the regular airway route on their trip across the continent. The itinerary which will be followed by those men during the completion of the last stage of their journey has not yet been definitely fixed, but I can assure you that when the time comes the invitation of Omaha and the advantages it offers will be given most careful and sympathetic consideration." Monster Celebration. The celebration in honor of the fliers here will undoubtedly be one of the greatest ever held by the city. Conservative Omaha men estimate that the presence of the fliers will attract 50,000 Omaha, Nebraska and Iowa persons to the flying field here. But in any event the celebration will be one long to be remembered, and worthy of the great accomplishment of the American fliers.

MRS. CANDLER NOT TO FIGHT DIVORCE

Atlanta, Ga., July 25.—Mrs. May Littlegrain Candler will not oppose the divorce suit filed by her husband, Asa G. Candler, sr., Atlanta millionaire, because of a cash payment to her of $60,000, made prior to the filing of the suit, the Atlanta Journal says in a story published today. "They lit for divorce some months ago, following the arrest of Mrs. Candler, W. J. Stoddard and W. J. Keelin, prominent business men, in a fashionable apartment house here, police claiming they were sitting around a table on which stood a partly filled bottle of liquor. The charges against Mrs. Candler and Mr. Keelin were dismissed after a hearing before the city recorder, but Mr. Stoddard was bound over to the state courts on a charge of violating the prohibition law. The aged millionaire founder of the Coca Cola company brought suit for divorce one year after he married Mrs. May Littlegrain, who was formerly a public stenographer in the Candler building. Cooper Reappointed. Washington, July 25.—President Coolidge this afternoon re-appointed Robert A. Cooper as commissioner of the federal farm loan board.

COOLIDGE PLEADS FOR REVERENCE

(Continued from Page One.) and for our overburdened spirits there is strength in the hills, if only we will lift up our eyes. Remember that nature is your great restorer. "The second is a reverence for law. I remember the town meetings of my boyhood, when the citizens of our little town met to levy taxes on themselves and to choose from their own number those who should be their officers. There is something in every such meeting, in every election, that approaches very near to the sublime. Heritage of U. S. Boy. "I am thrilled at the thought of my audience tonight, for I never address boys without thinking that among them may be a boy who will sit in this White House. Somewhere there are boys who will be presidents of our railways, presidents of colleges, of banks, owners of splendid farms and useful industries, members of congress, representatives of our people in foreign lands. That is the heritage of the American boy. It was an act of magnificent courage when our ancestors set up a nation wherein any boy may aspire to anything. That great achievement was not wrought without blood and sacrifice. Make firm your resolution to carry on nobly what has been so nobly begun. Let this nation, under your guidance, be a finer nation. Resolve that the sacrifices by which your great opportunities have been purchased will be matched by a sacrifice on your part."
