

98-Acre Field of Wheat Yields $3,200 Profit

Average Production of 45 Bushels on Farm Near Wymore Best Record in Gage County.

Wymore, Neb., July 30.—On the farm operated by Rudolph Husa, about five miles southeast of Wymore, a 98-acre field of wheat, where threshing has just been completed, returned 4,420 bushels of grain, an average of slightly over 45 bushels an acre. All reports of higher yields in Gage county have been on much smaller fields. The Husa land lies near the Blue river, being second bottom land, between farms owned by James Marek and C. B. Rodgers.

It is one of the fields which was covered with a heavy crop of wheat, ready for harvesting, last year, when the terrific hail storm of July first, chopped it completely to the ground, brushed the wheat, pounded it into the ground, and chopped up the straw. Last fall the field came up green from the seed the hail planted. This was not allowed to stand, however, Husa plowing it, with the chopped up straw, under in the fall, and sowing new seed. While the condition and fertility of the ground, and the kind of seed, had considerable to do with the unusual yield of this field this year, it is claimed that the perfect season is what made it, rather than any effect that the hail storm had.

After paying all expenses, Husa will make a profit of $33 an acre, or a total profit of approximately $32,000 from the 98 acres this year, a better return than normally is received from this acreage in any two years. George Hilder, southeast of Wymore, threshed the wheat on this field the last week.

Edgar, Neb., July 30.—Another grain crew and engine arrived here from Wymore Monday night, and will be put in service between Edgar and Holdrege to assist hauling the heavy grain shipments, which are now starting to move. This line of railway has had but tri-weekly service for freight shipments in the past, but the railway has found that the volume of business is too heavy to be daily service will be operated through the grain rush.

Callaway, July 30.—Farmers are intending to start threshing within a few days. It is expected that the field of grain will be good. Some fields are expected to make close to 50 bushels an acre.

Beatrice, Neb., July 30.—Showers in this section of Nebraska last night and yesterday. The moisture will aid Gage county's bumper corn crop which is in the making. Most of the corn is in tassel, and with one or two more good rains the best crop in years will be produced in the county.

Alpha Graf, farmer a few miles north of Beatrice, reports a yield of 25 bushels of wheat to the acre from 130 acres. The yield is the best Mr. Graf has ever produced on his farm.

Harvard, Neb., July 30.—Hail, which accompanied a general rain, practically ruined the corn crop over a small area southeast of Harvard.

Nebraska's farm will produce 17,220,000 bushels more of winter wheat this year than in 1923, while the crop for the entire country will be 29,789,900 bushels less than last year, according to government crop estimates. Four states, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, will share in the increased production of winter wheat while the other wheat-growing states harvest much smaller crops than last year. The July 1 estimate of the government shows substantial increases in these four states are estimated on July 1 over the June 1 estimate. Nebraska's winter wheat crop was estimated at 41,429,000 bushels harvested last year, but this was increased to an estimate of 46,349,000 bushels by the July 1 estimate.

Condition of winter wheat in Nebraska is reported to be 80 per cent, or exactly equal to the state's 10-year average, while for the United States the condition July 1 was 77.9, as compared to a 10-year average of 80.9.

Spring wheat production, according to the government estimate, also will be 15,940,000 bushels less than in 1923, although there was an increase of 13,630,000 bushels indicated July 1 over June 1. The spring wheat crop for the United States last year was 213,401,000 bushels, and the estimate this year indicates a crop of 197,461,000 bushels.

With a smaller crop for the country, though greater in Nebraska, higher prices for wheat are sure to follow and many thousands more dollars will find their way into the pockets of Nebraska farmers from this source.

Reports received from McCook, Kearney, Falls City, Hastings, Columbus, Beatrice, Norfolk, Grand Island, Lexington and Broken Bow are unanimous that the future outlook is nothing but encouraging for agriculture of the middle west.

Cotton Blossom Singers
Camping at Shenandoah
Shenandoah, Va., July 30.—Traveling in their "highway home," a large automobile with the conveniences of home, the Cotton Blossom Singers from the Piney Woods Country Life school, Braxton, Miss., are camping in the tourist park at the Shenandoah fair grounds and giving concerts in towns nearby. Five girl students, E. Roy and Laurence C. Jones, founder and principal of the school, are making the trip.

Jones, who is one of the first negroes to be graduated by the University of Iowa, Iowa City, formerly lived at St. Joseph, Mo., and Marshalltown, Ia. The vocational school is located in the Piney Woods of southeast Mississippi and is supported by voluntary contributions. The poor colored boys and girls must learn a trade while taking a common school English education.
