Science Miracles.
Fliers and Camels.
Rockefellers in Japan.
Polo for Mr. Coolidge.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Science beats fiction, magic, spiritualism and many of the miracles. Science can perform its miracles every day in the presence of a crowd. Miracles of witchcraft, spiritualism, etc., require special light, special conditions.

Men in a flying machine can't hear each other. The roar of the motor prevents. But with a motor roaring a full mile above Central park in New York, a flyer talked into a transmitter.

Starting a new religion today, and trying to attract attention would require miracles most sensational.

England sends troops, battleships, cruiser flying machines, bare-legged Highlanders to the Sudan. That's a rich country, supplying raw materials, and wise Britain won't lose it. The Nile flows through the Sudan and Egyptians think they should control the Nile. But, with her flying machines, England will have her way.

The old days are gone when savages in the desert could defy civilization. Flying machines beat camels in crossing deserts.

The Rockefeller foundation, distributing some of the Rockefeller millions, will spend $5,000,000 on a health institution in Japan. This enterprise, which may soften Japanese bitterness, will carry on in Japan work that the Rockefellers have begun in China, fighting disease, teaching people to take care of themselves.

Fighting disease at its source is useful to the whole world. Plagues that strike Europe and America often have traveled from the east. Cholera and "Spanish" influenza, for instance.

Another work Mr. Rockefeller is doing, without perhaps thinking seriously about it. By decreasing Asia's death rate he is increasing the world's percentage of Asiatic population.

That $5,000,000 Rockefeller institute in Japan may be represented by five million extra soldiers in a war of the east against the west 100 years hence.

However, the Rockefellers, father and son, both deeply religious, probably feel that they can go safely ahead doing what they can to save human life, leaving the rest to divine wisdom.

Whether providence plans to keep Asiatic and European populations balanced or not, it is certain that some disasters in Asia are above the helping powers even of the Rockefeller pocketbook. You read now of horrible floods in China, "thousands of villages under water, 10,000,000 facing famine." All the Rockefeller money could not wipe out the effects of that single flood.

How many lives were lost by drowning, no one knows. Chinese statistics mean little. When they give China's population as 400,000,000, they mean 400,000,000 people of an age to work or be taxed. They pay little attention to the financially useless, very old and very young.

The great god Demos is influenced by little things. President Coolidge will show political wisdom if he denies the rumor that he is to watch a polo game with the Prince of Wales.

That expedition would cost votes with farmers, who have trouble enough getting their plows, harrows and mowing machines over the ground, without chasing a wooden polo ball over it.

Wearing a solemn black coat and black hat in the White House, is the wisest things President Coolidge can do from now until next November.

Seven young men are locked up in New Jersey for holding up a young man and woman in an automobile. They beat the young man into insensibility, assaulted and horribly maltreated the young woman.

You share the indignation of the public prosecutor who describes "misguided old women carrying layer, sponge and angel cake to the men in jail." It will disgrace "Jerry justice" if those young men, after conviction, escape with less than life imprisonment, without possibility of commutation.

As to the old women "carrying angel cake" to the young criminals, they would make interesting subjects for the specialists in the Loeb-Leopold case.
