BRYAN PLEDGES FARMER RELIEF

In the center of the football field at the University of Nebraska memorial stadium, Governor Bryan made his speech of acceptance, following the lead of his party's standard bearer, John W. Davis, who a week ago chose the open for launching the democratic campaign at Clarkburg, W. Va.

Says Honesty Needed. Governor Bryan definitely opened his campaign with a promise to the progressive farmers and wage earners that the democratic party would stand as a unit in seeking a solution of their difficulties.

The vice presidential candidate praised his party's platform, as broad, strong and progressive enough to justify the support of those who believe in equality before the law and declared the democrats have presented a program of progressive policies "for which the party stands as a unit, without the intervention of faction, bloc or section."

Honesty, efficiency and economy in government were declared by the nominee as the need of the hour. He dwelt particularly on agriculture and charged the republicans with changing the farmers' condition "from prosperity to adversity."

Dwells on Farmer's Need. He dwelt particularly on agriculture and charged the republicans with changing the farmers' condition "from prosperity to adversity."

Discussing war, Governor Bryan declared the democratic party would endeavor to secure world disarmament by international agreement and seek also an international referendum on the subject.

War propaganda, mobilization, demonstrations of civilians and industrial resources, he deplored as a great economic waste, misleading and unnecessarily inflammatory.

Labor must be dealt with humanly, Governor Bryan asserted, adding that the democratic party "has always been the laboring man's friend, not to secure his vote but because the nation cannot progress unless he progresses."

Strict public control and conservation of natural resources, development of Muscle Shoals, recovery of the country's oil reserves and other parts of the public domain "which have been fraudulently or illegally leased or otherwise transferred to private interests" were advocated by the nominee. The democratic platform pledged itself, he added, to "respect and enforce the constitution and all

Butler Confident G, O, P. Will Win

Coolidge Prospects Grow Better Each Day, National Chairman Says.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—William M. Butler, national republican chairman, in a statement today, said his reports showed a steady and consistent improvement in the republican campaign and that he had found that President Coolidge's own issue, "common sense," appeals to many.

Mr. Butler, in indicating republican hopes and expectations, said "Maryland looks very good" and "Kentucky I can also speak of with confidence. In Kentucky we will win a senatorial seat."

In New York and New Jersey villages and towns, he said, Coolidge-Dawes clubs are being organized to obtain pledges for a solid republican vote for each entire community. He said he questioned messengers who brought these reports as to what sort of communities and people who have signed these pledges and received the reply "the men who go to work at 7 and the women who hang out their own clothes on Monday morning."

These clubs signing up entire villages, the statement indicated, is part of a desire to make the Coolidge vote "a standard for the future."

In the northwestern states, the statement continued, I am referring to Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, and let us say Wisconsin, I think the average observer will agree with me that recent agricultural developments have not injured our prospects.

HOUGH SPURNED BY HIS FATHER

(Continued From Page One) when I woke up. I went to a farmhouse near Clarinda and got some eggs and milk, because I thought I had been poisoned by the liquor. I found my car over a hill from the farmhouse, but the men and my wife were gone.

"I also found that the men had robbed me of about $48 and my marriage certificate. I drove around a while looking for Lillian, then went to Oakland, I left Oakland Thursday to go back to my father's home at St. Charles, S. D.

"I borrowed a gun from Mrs. Will Chambers of Oakland, but when I got to Cushing I pawned it for $2."

Claims Purchased Auto. Hough admitted he learned of the girl's death at Denison, where he read of the finding of the body in a newspaper.

Answering all questions put to him with a bare "yes" or "no," Hough kept at sea police and detectives who tried for hours to get a confession from him.

State Agent H. M. Long and Deputy Sheriff Paul Parrish of Taylor county arrived here at 8 last night and with local police and detectives questioned Hough all day.

He said he purchased the Buick touring car at Herrick on July 30, paying $300 for it. The machine had been stolen from Dr. Sager, a Norfolk dentist, but the theft was not reported until July 31. Hough says he did not get a bill of sale for the car, and that he believed it was "hot" when he bought it.

Under the back seat of the "death car" when it was found were a pair of men's gray pants with blood on them. Officers stated that gasoline had been used apparently to partially remove the blood. Hough said he had not worn the trousers for over a year.

Powder Puff Found. A number of hairpins, a dark hairnet, a powder puff and a woman's Jersey sweater, similar to the one worn by the slain girl when she left home, also were found in the car.

Coolidge Real Dirt Farmer

President Rakes Hay on His Father's Farm in Vermont Hills.

By GEORGE E. DURNO. International News Service Staff Correspondent. Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 18.—President Coolidge set out today to establish himself as a real "dirt farmer." A hay field was his setting. Two hand-made wooden rakes furnished the inspiration.

There wasn't much work to be done, for most of the hay was gathered. Col. John Coolidge, the president's father, had thoughtfully left a small patch, however.

"I thought maybe Calvin would like to try his hand at it," the old man explained.

The rakes were presented to the president and his father soon after breakfast by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, who had made a special trip to Plymouth for them.

Aside from the hay raking, the president's third day of vacation in the Vermont hills was without particular incident. The daily pilgrimage to the grave of Calvin, Jr., dead just five weeks, was made. But in other respects Mr. Coolidge meticulously observed his intention of getting complete rest and relaxation.

Sunday was spent quietly on the Coolidge farm. The president and his party attended the little country church. A short automobile ride was taken. The president and his family listened to a sermon by the Rev. John White on the need of a return to simplicity and greater faith in religion.

BABES NEED MILK ON COOL DAYS, TOO. The danger of a cooler day in the midst of heat is that people will imagine the poor babies don't need aid from the Milk and Ice Fund.

One little life flickered out yesterday which might have been saved if the pure, nourishing milk had been supplied soon enough. Many hot days—and nights—are still ahead, and more than 100 helpless babes in poor homes are absolutely dependent on the money which may come to the fund for their subsistence.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS. Appetite Overcomes Caution. His little better is that fool who permits appetite to rule.

Never had the blueberries in the Old Pasture been bigger. Never had they been sweeter. Never had they been more plentiful. Never had Buster Bear enjoyed him self more. Next to honey, Buster Bear likes sweet, ripe blueberries. Buster was making a pig of himself. Those berries were the kind known as high-bush blueberries. Some of those bushes were high enough and big enough almost to be small trees. Buster sat up, or stood up, to strip those berries from the bushes.

Now of all people of the Green Forest there is none with greater caution than Buster Bear. Buster's eyes are rather small for his size and they are not the best of eyes. There are many eyes in the Green Forest better than the eyes of Buster Bear.

But his ears and his nose are of the best. He depends on these more than he does on his eyes. And it is seldom that he forgets to keep them busy.

But this morning appetite had overcome caution. Buster could think of nothing but filling his stomach with those delicious blueberries. It takes a lot of berries to fill the stomach of such a big fellow as Buster Bear. Buster was stripping those berries from the bushes into his mouth as fast as he could. He wasn't at all fussy. He didn't mind getting some green ones with the ripe ones. He didn't mind getting some leaves and an occasional tiny twig. Once in a while he grunted with satisfaction.

The merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind were dancing about up there in the Old Pasture. They carried every tiny sound that they could pick up. They carried every scent that they could find.

ARMS RELEASED TO CORPS AT CANTON

(By Associated Press. Pekin, Aug. 18.—Threats of an armed conflict by the merchants' volunteer corps of Canton against the forces of Dr. Sun Yat Sen were withdrawn today when Dr. Sun Yat Sen released a large consignment of arms aboard the Norwegian steamer Hav, to the volunteer corps, known as the fascisti of China.

The fascisti organization carried its appeal and threat for the release of the arms to diplomatic channels, asserting that it had legitimate premises to import arms.

The merchants' volunteer corps of Canton, according to Associated Press cables from the orient last night, controls 50,000 armed men, it asserts. It has a membership of 200,000 and is the outgrowth of political turmoil in south China.
