

Amplifiers Will Be Used for Dawes' Lincoln Address

Transmitters to Magnify General's Speech All Over Stadium—Many Omahans Planning to Attend.

Four microphone transmitters and a cluster of 16 horns will insure audibility to every seat in the stadium at the University of Nebraska Friday night when Charles G. Dawes will deliver a campaign address.

Persons who are within one-fourth of a mile of the stadium will be able to hear the speaker. The equipment is similar to the system used at the republican and democratic national conventions. The speaker may use an ordinary clear tone and be heard distinctly beyond the stadium. If the speaker varies his tone a man in a control room adjusts the equipment to meet conditions. Two of the microphone transmitters in front of the speaker are connected to the cluster of horns which radiate the sound waves to all parts of the stadium.

Broadcast Plans.
The other transmitters are connected with radio stations in Omaha, Lincoln and Hastings. It will be possible for a person in Reno, for instance, to hear Dawes at practically the same time as an occupant of the stadium.

H. E. Sackett and T. W. Bass, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the republican state committee, have addressed letters to all county chairmen and workers, as follows:

"The republican national campaign will be opened at Lincoln, Friday, August 29, by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, candidate for vice president. It has been tentatively arranged that the general shall be met at Burlington station upon his arrival at Lincoln at 10:15 a. m., and escorted to Lindell hotel, where the republican state headquarters are located.

Address at 8 P. M.
"Providing you come in an automobile, we ask that you decorate your car with American flags. Dawes will begin speaking at 8 p. m. His address will be preceded by an especially arranged musical program, which will begin at 7."

Many tickets are being sold for the special train which will leave Omaha over the Burlington Friday night at 6:15 and will return promptly after the meeting.

Could Dietz and members of the Omaha committee request that those intending to go on the special train indicate their intentions early by obtaining tickets at republican headquarters in Hotel Rome or at the Burlington offices.

COOLIDGE-DAWES TOUR IS PLANNED

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 26.—The buzz of political conferences and gossiping became distinct in this hamlet today as President Coolidge gave over some of his vacation hours to brief visits with party spokesmen, and listened to other voluntary reports from visitors from all sections whom he received.

Arrangements were made by Tilson at the conference with Earl Kinsley, national republican committee man from this state, and some other state leaders this morning to open a tour which will follow the Lincoln highway from coast to coast with a meeting here September 9. The expedition, to be known as "The Coolidge-Dawes speaking tour," will visit 200 cities on the 5,600-mile course, members of the party traveling in six motor cars under the direction of A. W. Jeffers of Omaha, Neb.

The following states will be visited: Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon and Washington.

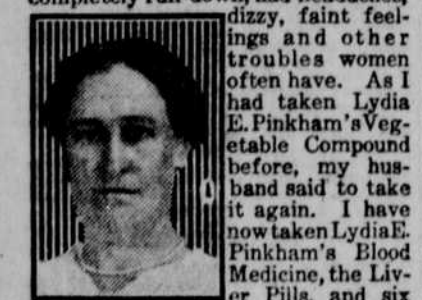

GIANT DIRIGIBLE ON TEST FLIGHT

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Aug. 27.—The giant dirigible, ZFS, built here for the United States, left at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon for a flight of several hours over Lake Constance. The start was perfect, the dirigible taking a westerly course over the lake and then turning south toward Switzerland. There were four naval officers and one army officer on board.

WOMAN WEAK, DIZZY, FAINT

Found Relief in Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Always Recommends It.

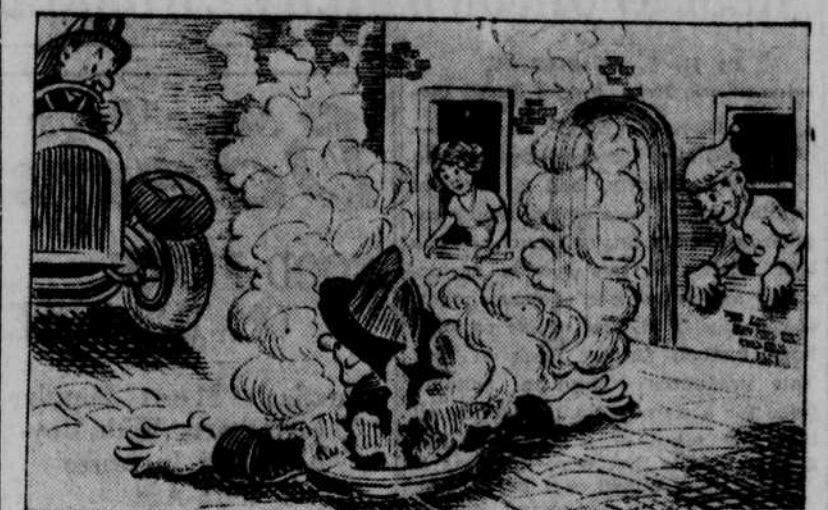

Bridgport, Connecticut.—"I was completely run-down, dizzy, faint feelings and other troubles women often have. As I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before, my husband said to take it again. I have now taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, the Liver Pills, and six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets. I am feeling very good now and shall continue taking them for a while. I have been telling my cousin about the medicine and she wants to take it, too. I always recommend it."—Mrs. HENRY G. BRIDGPORT, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 6, Bridgport, Conn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Smith's experience is but one of many. In a recent newspaper canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 121,000 replies were received, and 98 per cent. reported they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Brave Fireman Lends to Midnight Pandemonium by Coal Chute Descent

The solemn hour of midnight had gone into recorded time and the first hour of the new day was indicated on various timekeepers of Drake court, where slept many toilers. The wild and weird cry of "Fire!"

band, registering indications of oncoming danger. Another voice was heard; a man's voice calling for help. Chief Dineen and several firemen rushed to the scene of the male voice in distress and discovered Junior Captain Erick Sandberg of Company No. 12 partly through a coal chute and supporting himself by elbows on the ground level.

Captain Sandberg, in his zeal to check the progress of an automobile, did not observe the open coal chute. The smoke from burning coal below was escaping through the chute and surrounded the captain like a wreath.

WYOMING, DAKOTA BOOST FOR OMAHA

Two more states have joined the Omaha column in the campaign for the American Legion national convention in 1925.

Commander Leo Bozell of Omaha post No. 1, now at the Grand Island state convention, received a telegram Wednesday from the state convention of the Wyoming legion stating that body is unanimously in favor of Omaha for the 1925 meeting place.

State Adjutant Frank O'Connor has received word from the South Dakota state convention that it also has decided to back Omaha in the campaign.

Iowa has already signified its intention of boosting Omaha for the convention.

New Battleship Starts Forward on Test Cruise

Superdreadnaught West Virginia Undergoing Official Navy Trials—1,400 Make Up Crew.

Rockland, Me., Aug. 27.—The superdreadnaught West Virginia, the last capital ship of America's battle fleet that can be completed for the next 16 years under the agreement for limitation of armaments, began its trial tests in Penobscot bay today. These tests will last two weeks and will be the most extensive ever given an American warship.

A standardization trial under light displacement, one of three standardization tests, was the first of the runs made for the observation of the naval trial board today. Similar tests at mean and maximum displacements will be made later. It is the first time all three tests have been given.

The West Virginia, although in dimensions outranked by Japanese and British battle ships, now built or building, is in some respects a more powerful fighting machine. In action it can take a position 20 miles from an enemy, and with its battery of eight 16-inch guns, drop eight tons of steel and explosives on their decks. It is electrically driven, designed for 21 knots speed and has a fuel capacity for 10,000 miles.

Capt. Thomas J. Senn is its commander, and it has a crew of 1,400 men.

MEMBER OF JAP EXPEDITION DIES

New York, Aug. 27.—Lieut. William Manning, the last survivor of Perry's expedition to Japan, died at his home in Brooklyn today. He was 90 years old.

Lieut. Manning, who had been retired from the navy for several years, fought in the civil war under Farragut, taking part in the battle of Mobile bay.

At the age of 16, he went on the Perry expedition.

Former Rail Head Dies.
Pasadena, Cal., Aug. 27.—E. J. Chamberlain, former president of the Grand Trunk railway, died today after a long illness. He had been a resident of this city for a year, coming here after his retirement from active duties. He was 70 years old and leaves a widow and a brother, F. E. Chamberlain. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Since time began, into this day, No meanness ever was known to pay. —Old Mother Nature.

Meanness Doesn't Pay.
Sometimes meanness may seem to pay, but in the end it never does. No, sir, in the end it never does. The one who does a meanness may for a while think it pays, but sooner or later he will find it doesn't pay. It was meanness, nothing but pure meanness that led Reddy Fox to try to get Buster Bear driven out of the Old Pasture. There was no reason for it whatever.

Buster Bear was back in the Old Pasture.

For two days after he had been so badly stung by the wasps Reddy Fox had remained in his house. He had felt too miserable to go out. He had time to do a lot of thinking. At first he had wished with all his might that he hadn't thought of getting Buster Bear into trouble with those wasps. But as he began to get better he changed that wish a little. Instead of wishing that he hadn't got Buster into trouble, he wished that he himself had had sense enough to keep far enough away from the scene to have avoided getting into trouble himself.

By the time Reddy was able to go out again he had stopped wishing. Now that his own aches and pains were over he tried to make himself believe that after all his meanness had paid. "It was my own fault that I got stung," thought Reddy. "Yes, sir, it was my own fault. Another time I wouldn't get stung. But anyway I did what I wanted to do; I got Buster Bear driven out of the Old Pasture. I guess it will be a long time before he returns. It was a smart trick I played if I do say it. Buster hasn't the slightest idea that I had anything to do with it. I guess now he will stay in the Green Forest where he belongs."

These thoughts were very pleasant to Reddy as he trotted along an old cow path through the bushes of the Old Pasture. He was proud of his own smartness. He was quite puffed up with pride. It was foolish pride. Yes, sir, it was foolish pride. Just how foolish it was Reddy discovered a few minutes later.

He was trotting along, still thinking how smart he had been, when his keen ears heard a sound off at one side of the old cow path that caused him to stop abruptly. He cocked his head on one side with his two sharp, black ears pricked up. Such a queer expression as swept over Reddy's face as he listened to those sounds. They were familiar. They were familiar.

Softly, carefully Reddy crept through the bushes toward those sounds. At last he could see the cause of them. Sitting up and stripping big, delicious looking blueberries from a tall bush was Buster Bear. He was a picture of happiness and contentment. He was grunting and whining with pleasure. He appeared to have forgotten that there were any little people with stings like red-hot needles.

The truth is, Buster Bear had not suffered from the stings he had received nearly as much as Reddy Fox had suffered. Buster's skin is thick and tough. Besides, he was used to stings. More than once for the sake of honey he had stood all the stinging that Honey Bee and her friends could give him.

Reddy Fox sneaked away. Yes, sir, he actually sneaked away. He had suffered the pain of all those stings for nothing. Buster Bear was back in the Old Pasture. Meanness never pays, Reddy knew it even if he wouldn't admit it.

School begins TUES. SEPT. 2nd Give your child a fair chance!

The laws of Nebraska provide that tests for defective eyesight be made by teachers or school nurses in all schools during the first month of each school year, and that parents be notified if any corrective treatment is necessary.

These tests are, of course, very simple, so if you receive a notice that your child's eyes need treatment you may feel sure that he is seriously handicapped. You should have his vision corrected without delay.

But many children with almost perfect vision may have defects that cause red eyes, headaches, etc. These faults are not so readily detected but will surely cause your child to be backward in his studies, may even seriously affect his health.

You can not know that your child has normal vision unless his eyes have been examined by an eyesight specialist.
