All for Labor.
The Real New Year.
First Test Monday.
Turn Down the Brim.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

All politicians on Monday preached downtrodden labor. John W. Davis warned labor to "shun the will-o'-the-wisp lure of dreams."

The chief will-o'-the-wisp is the candidate who promises everything before he is elected and forgets all about it after he is elected.

Shunning dreams is not wise. The telegraph was once new and cautious investors said it was a dream. They would have got 1,000 for one had they invested in that dream. That's true of nearly everything important that happens in this world. Be sure the dream is foolish before you make up your mind.

The president, shooting at La Follette, says we don't need any foreign ideas of government, "we had better stick to the American brand." That's sound, except that La Follette was born in America, and incidentally the brand of government under which we live was borrowed by Jefferson and others from the French philosophers—not from the French philosophers—our government is foreign; we did not discover or invent freedom.

The president says: "We don't want a corporation government, we don't want a bank government, or a labor government, or a farm government."

On that proposition the president has what gamblers would call a "50-50 break." We haven't got a labor government, or a farm government, that much is sure.

Wheeler of Montana, as was to be expected, is the fighter of the campaign, and has picked out General Dawes for attack. He referred to him as "the general of the Minute Men in the fight against organized labor."

General Dawes, perhaps, will think of something interesting to say in reply.

Men and women, young or old, with ambition left, should remember that a new year has begun. The new year of success does not begin on January 1, in the middle of winter. It begins now, with summer ended, vacations over, schools open, everything under way.

He who begins carrying out his good resolutions and working hard now, instead of waiting until next January 1, will have a start of four months on the others, and that's a good start.

On Monday, in Maine, where the Ku Klux Klan is strong, comes the first 1924 election test. President Coolidge is supposed to have taken politicians' advice to "lay off" the Klan until after this election in order not to injure the republican candidate for governor.

News from Europe predicts civil war in Ireland. There has been enough war there already, but apparently it is not ended. Thousands of Orangemen gathered to announce that they would fight to the death "any slicing of their territory" by the Irish Free State. The south of Ireland declares that it will have its own.

An American horse defented the French horse on Labor day, and the prince of Wales, who was present, relieved anxious minds. Some of our earnest thinkers wear Panama hats turned up in front; some turn them up on both sides; some on one side only.

The prince arrived, wearing the Panama turned down all the way around. A careful reporter tells you that within five minutes after his arrival every proud American in that part of the race track set aside for the "better class," had his hat turned down all the way around also.

If you ever bet don't bet on foreign horses racing for the first time in this country. All things being even, a horse that has not spent six months getting used to the climate runs under a handicap of 20 per cent.

The anniversary of the great Japanese earthquake came and went quietly. Millions that superstitiously expected another earthquake and moved into the fields to be safe, are back at home, feeling foolish.

They don't feel as foolish, however, as did earnest Christians of the year 1,000. They figured it out carefully that the world would end in that year. It seemed a very appropriate time. They sold their real estate for whatever it would bring to others less credulous.

Then, dressed in white, they climbed a hill, that they might attract the angel Gabriel's attention and get an early start. Presently they climbed down and found other men enjoying their real estate.

Two morals in that. First, don't be superstitious. Second, if you every get a good piece of real estate, hold it.

Farmers will be interested to know that the Argentine republic spends $5,000,000 for 39,000 tons of galvanized iron sheets to keep back devouring locusts. The sheets will be given to the farmers, free, and they will be compelled to put them up, digging a ditch where the locusts will accumulate and be destroyed.

The United States Steel Products company supplies the steel. Here we'd call free steel for farmers socialism.

Widely-Known Doctor Dies at His Home in Fairmont

Fairmont, Neb., Sept. 3.—Dr. S. F. Ashby died Tuesday. He was a pioneer citizen of Fairmont and was well known throughout the state and to the medical profession. He loved children and was broad in his charities.

Doctor Ashby was a member of various Masonic bodies. He maintained a great interest in development of his community, particularly parks. He was 59 years, 11 months and 22 days old on the day of his death.

General Dawes, perhaps, will think of something interesting to say in reply.

Child Welfare Booth at County Fair for Maimed

Rotary Club to Sponsor Clinic for Crippled Youngsters; All Service Free.

The child welfare committee of the Rotary club of Omaha, under the direction of Dr. E. C. Henry, will be in charge of a tent at the Douglas county fair at Waterloo on Friday, September 12. Dr. Henry explains that crippled children brought to this tent will be given expert examination and advice and that privacy will be observed.

This will be in connection with the program of the Rotary club for crippled children. The county fair board has arranged for the use of the tent. There will be no charge for the examinations and advice.

Co-operation with doctors is part of the Rotary plan. There will be no conflict with other organizations doing a similar work.

Thirty-Five Cripples Found. Dr. Henry's committee recently sent a nurse out to make a survey and within two weeks she found 35 crippled children.

The scope of the work will not be limited to operations. It was explained that in some cases braces will correct the physical defects, and in other massages may be necessary.

"We hope to give these children opportunities for education according to their particular needs," Dr. Henry said.

Cleveland Set Pace. The Cleveland Rotary club organized a movement for the help of crippled children. That club assigned several trained nurses to cover the county in automobiles. We hope the people of the county will take an interest in our special day at the county fair on Friday.

Wrangle Blamed for New Post of Foreign War Vets

Dispension Over Financial Policy Leads to Withdrawal of Members From St. Mihiel Chapter.

B. A. Hegeman, a former commander of the St. Mihiel post, Veterans of Foreign Wars stated that a new post was established here because of the constant wrangling over the financial policy of the old post.

Edward Cline, commander of the old post, whose charter the new organization hopes to revoke, stated that the move was made because of jealousy among certain members who sought to make the post cater to professional men.

Officers of the new post, to be known as post 1,251, are: W. F. Bryan, commander; Leo Crosby, senior vice commander; T. J. Mostyn, junior vice commander; William Hegeman and William Olson, trustees.

The new chapter has 24 members, according to Bryan. There are said to be 72 active members in the original post although 210 are on the official roster. Most of them, according to Cline, are in default in dues.

Department Commander William Atkinson of Kearney and Senior Vice Commander Edde of Fremont were present during the meeting of the new post.

The Modes of Autumn as Depicted in the

New Fall Dresses and Coats

Paris-Decreed Fashions Are Evidenced In Subtle But Definite Changes

The new season enters—the new dresses and coats have arrived—autumn fashions are no longer a matter of conjecture. Many women will feel greatest response for the simple frocks of fall, others will find contentment in the richness and beauty of the new wrap, whether it be of fur or fabric.

The Coats--
$19.75 to $95.00

Simple of line, fashioned of materials as smooth and soft as suede, are the coats of fall. They are all shorter—they must show just a little of the frock. Rich trimmings of fur, beautiful in their downy softness, blend harmoniously with the deep, colorful shades.

The Dresses--
$16.75 to $79.50

In silhouette they are slim, straight and beltless. In detail they are simplicity itself—simplicity achieved through trimness, youthfulness, slenderness and briefness. The tunic effect is in evidence, its plainness relieved by buttons or luxurious fur trimming.
