Pershing and Gratitude.
You've Heard From Maine.
Gay Klanklavers.
Fingers Crossed.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Distinguished gentlemen gave a dinner to General Pershing in New York last night. It was a nice dinner, General Pershing's share must have cost 60 cents in the market and $9 delivered on the table. As a dinner it was a success. But as a reward for a general that commanded 3,000,000 American soldiers in a big war, after serving faithfully for many years before that, it was not much. General Pershing is now retired on a salary big enough to get him a small flat in a cheap quarter.

The English do it differently. The imperial government made their general Haig an earl, and gave him a million dollars. Of course, this country isn't rich enough to afford anything like that, but it might do something.

You get the news from Maine with a bang. You were told here yesterday that the vote for senator forecasts the vote for president. The republican senator won by more than 50,000, according to the latest reports.

Four years ago, on September 13, you read in your morning paper: "Republicans sweep Maine by 64,000. The largest previous plurality was about 48,000, given to the republican gubernatorial nominee in 1896."

You also read four years ago the statement by Senator Harding, then running as Coolidge is running today, that the result in Maine made republican victory certain. It turned out that Harding was even more right than he thought he was. He won with 7,000,000 votes to spare.

The Ku Klux Klan will probably hold cheerful "klonkaves" to celebrate the Maine election. The democrat so badly beaten there, for governor of Maine, is Pattangall, the stout gentleman who got up in the democratic convention and denounced the klan, calling it by name most plainly, after the democratic platform had refused to do so.

Thomas A. Edison comes out for Coolidge. He says he will vote for him on account of his "hard sense." Edison, who isn't young, has important things to finish. He believes that Coolidge's election will allow things to run along smoothly, and keep business going. Edison says, "Coolidge was born in an economic environment, and economics and hard sense were born in him."

In New York last night Tammany Hall held 87 meetings "to advance the candidacy of John W. Davis." It would be unfair to Mr. Davis not to let him know that Tammany statemen called those meetings with their fingers crossed. A man running for office wants real news. The real news from Tammany is that there will be a terrifically big vote for La Follette.

Coolidge's friends tell him to aim his fighting hereafter at La Follette and forget about Mr. Davis. When you read how Jacques Coeur lent the French king, Charles VII, money to build his fleet, or read of the wide transactions of the Medici family 500 years ago, you get an early glimpse of the rising power of money.

But that fades away in our day when a casual little fire from Paris says that J. Pierpont Morgan has offered to renew the loan of $100,000,000 to the Bank of France. One hundred million dollars is just one little battalion in the dollar army of the modern American financier. That sum would have been enough to buy Jacques Coeur and all the Medici.

You have always known about "an old fool." Thousands of old fools are busy proving how foolish they can be. The strangest thing is that a young female can sometimes make an extraordinary fool of herself about an old fool.

News comes from Geneva that the beautiful young Hungarian Countess Gabriella Szechenyi shot herself to death because a 61-year-old Austrian archduke named Eugene insisted on marrying a somebody else, a middle-aged widow, with plenty of money. That is a wise thing for a duke to do in these days. But the young countess couldn't understand it.

Stricken in Dentist's Chair. Beatrice, Sept. 10.—Suffering from an attack of heart trouble after extraction of several teeth by the use of laughing gas, Mrs. George Weichel, living six miles northwest of Plymouth, was brought to a hospital here for treatment. Her condition is serious.

Omaha Investors Clear Fortunes in German Bonds

One Makes $33,000 as Market Suddenly Strengthens; Attributed to Dawes Plan.

Several small fortunes have been made almost overnight by Omahans who invested in German war bonds prior to the settling of the reparations question, according to foreign exchange experts of Omaha banks. E. M. Lefang of Omaha, who recently returned from Europe, is one of those benefited by the sudden and startling strength of the market on German bonds. At least three other Omahans whose investments were only a few American dollars are said to have made profits, one as high as $33,000. As a result of this bullish tendency foreign exchange departments of Omaha banks report a lively business. Not so long ago German war loan

5 per cent bonds could be purchased at $4 per million marks. They are now quoted at $2,900 per million marks. Hence the investor of $3 cleared $2,897. German municipal bonds also have jumped from as low as $5 per million marks to $100 per million, and the market is a brisk one, bankers report. The foreign exchange expert of one downtown bank declared that not more than five Omahans owned bonds which had advanced in value so greatly. He attributes the advance to the adoption of the Dawes plan, and to the fact that the German government is seeking to buy the bonds back with gold at, according to Mr. Lefang, about 15 per cent of their value. "The courts of Germany held that where bonds were secured by first mortgages they could not be canceled or paid off with the worthless mark," Mr. Lefang explained. "Late in 1918 I bought bonds worth 100,000 marks. I thought they were practically worthless until I was in Copenhagen this summer, when I was offered $2,800 for them."

Still Found Near Emerson.

ENROLLMENT FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE AND PREPAREDNESS.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 10.—I, the undersigned, am willing to serve in any capacity that I may be able to fill in connection with the celebration of St. Michael's day (national defense test) on September 12, 1924. Such service to be rendered without cost to the government, and will not obligate me in any way to join any branch of the military establishment of the United States.

I wish to be assigned to military unit, welfare or other organization. (Signed) (Street and No.)

STYLE DISPLAYS ON SEPTEMBER 22

Omahans' sport clothes will be laid to rest among the moth balls on Monday, September 22, with the opening of the formal fall exhibits of the men's and women's ready-to-wear division of the Associated Retailers. All retail stores in the city handling ready-to-wear clothing are preparing elaborate exhibits of fall and winter styles. Models will be used by several of the larger stores, and display windows will be artistically decorated. The exhibit will be held on two evenings, September 22 and 23.
