Bishops Favor Further Power for Provinces

Bishop Beecher Protests Episcopal Resolution; Woman's Auxiliaries Hear Reports.

A resolution to increase the powers of the province was introduced Monday afternoon by Bishop G. G. Bennett of Duluth at the sixth provincial synod of the Episcopalian church, meeting at Trinity catedral.

The motion evidently met with the favor of all the bishops with the ex ception of Bishop G. A. Beecher of western Nebraska, hTe Nebraska pishop assailed the resolution as "radical and reactionary." He pleaded with his brothers to be guided by Bishop Bennett's resolution provided that if the provincial synod approved and endorsed the suggestion of the provincial councils on enlargement of powers, that the president of the provincial synod, Bishop Harry Longley, place six suggestions before the general council of the church at its convention at New Orleans in 1925. Vote on Six Suggestions

The suggestions were voted upon separately. There was one dissenting vote to the suggestion of the desirability of larger provincial initiative in church extension. Discussion and voting upon the second provision that the distinction between diocese and district of the province be obliterated was postponed until Tuesday.

restoration of the canon giving the province the right to receive appor tionments in bulk and to distribute them among themselves.

The suggestion that the provinces be authorized to nominate to the house of bishops the name or names of candidates was passed. The reliev ing of the congestion of the general Widow of One Victim Is A council by the committal to the synod some of the legislative duties favored unanimously

The sixth suggestion also was passed. It fead: "In all national commissions organized on a provincial basis, the provincial representative should be appointed by the province." Drive About City.
