

CHAPTER XVI-Continued.

ly that almost before the frenzie Don Miguel had realized the situation THE NEBBS

(Continued from Yesteragt) CHAPTER XVI-Continued. At a hundred yards the Arabella's forward guns, which had meanwhile been reloaded, fired again at the been reloaded, fired again at the bowspiri into splinters, so that for a moment it yawed wildly to port. Don Miguel swore profanely, and then, as the helm was put over to swing it back to its course, his own prow re-plied. But the alm was too high, and, whilst one of the shots tore through the Arabella's shrouds and scarred its manmast, the other again ship was found almost between the Spaniards, its bows in line with theirs and coming steadily on. At last the signal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of bott ship. But even as he placed it to hsignal for the broadsides of botto should have been to an experienced sea fighter: he had delayed too lorn and Captain Blood had outmaneuver ered him. In attempting to fire now and Captain Blood had outmaneuv. ered him. In attempting to fire now upon the Englishman, the Milagrosa and her consort would also be firing into each other. Too late he ordered his helmsman to put the tiller hard over and swing the ship to larboard, as a preliminary to maneuvering for a less impossible position of attack. At that very moment the Arabella seemed to explode as she swept by. Eighteen guns from each of its flanks emptied themselves at the two Spanish vessels. The Milagrosa and her consort would also be firing into each other. Too late he ordered his helmsman to put the tiller hard over and swing the ship to larboard, as a preliminary to maneuvering for a less impossible position of attack. At that very moment the Arabella seemed to explode as she swept by. Eighteen guns from each of its flanks emptied themselves at the two Spanish vessels.

point-blank range into the hull of the two Spanish vessels. The Milagrosa staggered slowly ahead. Don Miguel was bawling orders wildly, and peering ever and anon through the curtain of smoke that was drifting slowly astern, in his anxiety to ascertain how it might have fared with the Hidalga. Suddenly, and ghostly at first, through that lifting haze, loomed the of its red hull became more and more sharply defined as it swept nearer with poles all bare save for the spread canvas on its spirit. Don Miguel had fully expected she would, the Arabella had gone about under cover of the smoke, and sail under cover of the smoke, and sail Don Miguel de Espinosa uttered an inarticulate cry of rage, and his hand ing now in the same direction as the swept to his sword. But even as his fingers closed upon the hilt the oth-er's closed upon his wrist to arrest Milagrosa, was converging sharply the action.

New York -- Day by Day--

don for the voyage home and the him. clink of ice is heard in cocktail shakers before dinner. cried Theoretically # is a dry ship but here and there are a few damp spots. Yet there is no midnight roystering in the lounge, and passengers retire ear-by. They are getting all they can out of the voyage in the way of exercise and fresh air. Across from the barrier between the barrier between the barrier between the barrier between the barrier barri

THE OMAHA BEE: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1924.

his ship alone in the tepid dusk and the growing golden radiance of the reat poop lantern in which a seaman had just lighted the three lamps. About him all was peace. The signs of the day's battle had been effaced. A group of men squatting about the main hatch were drowsily chanting. That he should ever meet Arabeila

Directed for The Omaha Bee by Sol Hess

SLIDER

MONEY RENROD

MY NAME IS KETCHAM IM FROM THE TELL HIM I LL BE NELLS BELLS - THESE TELEGRAMS RIGHT OUT . PROBABLY TAX DEPARTMENT ALBANY . WED STATE MISTAH GOOGLE . N SEPTEMBER WHEN DO WE ARE COMING IN THICK AND FAST A FRIEND OF ROYS TO HAVE YOUR CHECK FOR $ 801 74 LIKE A GEMMAN HERES THE LATEST FROM ALL STANT FO OR OCTOBER WHO WANTS TO FOM AWBANY IS FOR A MISTATE YOU MADE IN YOUR STATE AWBANY RON PALMER UP IN ALBANY HE KNOW WHEN WERE 1984! HEAH AN HE TAX RETURN , 1923 LEAVING 13055 3 WANTS US TO PACK UP SPARKY AND KICK IN! CWAVES YO ER . HOLD OUR NEXT PARE AT THE COMPANY STATE CAPITAL =: ROY S A GOOD SCOUT . IF HE WANTS 同角八 ILL DROP INTO PACK UP MY LAUNDRY. YOUR OFFICE 'N ALBANY AND SEE SUNSHINE .. WELL ONCE DEBER

"What do you intend by me?" the Spaniard inquired at last, his voice hoarse. Captain Blood shrugged. The firm lips smiled a little. "All that I intend has been already accomplished. Your boats are being launched. You By O. O. M'INTYRE. On The Atlantic, Sept. 24.—There semms to be less drinking on Amer-ican ships than those of the French and British. Of course, there are a few who stock up in Paris and Lon-don for the yoyage home, and the

"Ye don't mean, sir, that you'll let that Spanish scoundrel go free?" he

"And who the devil may you be? Captain Blood asked, with a marked

SEE HGGS AND MAGGIE IN FULL PAGE OF COLORS IN THE SUNDAY BEE

Drawn for The Omaha Bee by McManus (Copyright 1924)

" TERCHT BLAN

Across from me, however, was afford the desired explanation. He Across from me, however, was one fellow who had been hitting it up since leaving Cherbourg and his sup-ply ran out. With an aching head and despairing groan he sang out this morning: "Easter and not an egg in the house!" His woe was abject. The Leviathan is really a floating botel So far it hasn't seemed at all hotel. So far it hasn't seemed at all like an ocean voyage. The ocean is as remained unresponsive and forbiddha placid as a quite mill pond, but there to the point of scorn. Observing this, he turned to answer Lord Julian's are rumors today that we are to run are rumors today that we are to run into a storm before morning. Then pea green becomes the favorite shade "But it seems that Miss Bishop has in complexions. shorter memory in complexions. Ship newspapers are as dull as a county treasurer's report. Today we read of an uprising in China, a meet-ing of the reighting the marriage the marriage the marriage the marriage But the solution of the reighting the solu ing of the reichstag, the marriage of the daughter of a French deputy. Marquise de Chambrun. What most of us want to know is. Has Babe of us want to know is. Has Babe Ruth knocked another one? It costs $22,000 a day to run the Leviathan, so an official told me. I understand there is a congressman on heard who complete the source of the complete the comp on board who complains they serve you Captain Blood?' "If you'll escort Miss Bishop aboard too big helpings of food. A fellow that thrifty would fire off a gun on Christmas morning and tell his chil-dren Santa was dead. It was so warm today the steward opened a cabin port hole. I prefer the heat. There is something melan choly about the incessant switch of the sea. It seems a terrifying thing and to be whispering mockingly of Oh, Man! those it has claimed. I could never love oceans. But they are dandy place to throw razor blades.

What the safety razor has done to expose the face of man, artificial silk has done for the legs of women All the ladies with new Paris gown who promenade the decks have knee length skirts and hose so sheer that -well, how bright the moon is these evenings.

I am beginning to think of my home town Plattsburg, Mo., is quite a burg. I met two boys from there on the Rue de la Paix and had tea today with Mrs. Willis Wood, whose husband built the Willis Wood thea ter in Kansas City. She was born and raised in Plattsburg.

I ventured on deck again today with my pet "charley horse" but returned after two swings around with the high, low and middle pouting records. In rounding a turn a stiff breeze carried an especially-made-to-the-head Paris hat to the sharks. I saw it riding maestically away on the boat swells. There is one comforting thing about losing a hat in the ocean. You can't make yourself ridiculous scrambling after it.

As I write there are indications of running into a storm. The ship is beginning to ride high and sink with that shivering and shaking motion that makes you pine for a lamp post at Forty-second street and Broadway.

Mysterious bells are beginning to ring and there is the noise of closing port holes. And pardon if I seem abrupt. I'm going up on deck. Not frightened. Far from. Just scared

Two hours later. It was just alight squall. The sun is out again The waves have subsided and the sugler is sounding the dinner horn I don't think the cooks will have much to do tonight. (Copyright, 1974.)