

Movies Made by Boy Producer of Omaha Are Shown

Pictures of World Fliers Here, Product of Fred Hamilton, Entertain Continental Club.

Motion pictures produced by Fred Hamilton, 12, son of the president of the Merchants National bank, were shown Friday noon in the ballroom of the Hotel Fontenelle by William and Robert Pixley to members of the Continental club.

These pictures, made by the youngest producer in the west, showed the world fliers during their recent stop in Omaha. Motion pictures of the world fliers taken from the air by William Pixley also were shown. The series shown by the Pixleys included operations performed in a local hospital. The films used are smaller than the ordinary size and are intended primarily for educational purposes.

Various local scenes shown to the club members included Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, Lester Hevn and small daughter, scenes in Elmwood park, curling contests at Miller park.

Next Friday noon Roy Page of the Nebraska Power company's organization will address the Continental club.

Woman Injured by Fall.
Beatrice, Oct. 3.—Mrs. W. L. Leigh slipped and fell from the back porch at her home on East Court street, injuring her spine and tearing the ligaments loose in her hip. It will be some weeks before she recovers from her injuries.

Caravans of Gypsies Traveling Eastward in High-Powered Cars

Columbus, Oct. 3.—The annual migration of gypsies from California to the larger cities of the east is bringing daily caravans through Nebraska along the Lincoln highway. Nomads, who once traveled in covered wagons, now are hurried along in high-powered closed cars of the $3,000 to $5,000 class. Older women and men still cling to the standard costumes of gaudy colors.

Fortune telling is only a sideline now. They are taking orders for cooking utensils, subscriptions for magazines and are peddling from house to house. The average caravan this fall is accompanied by a truck that carries tent and living utensils.

Engineers Make Survey of Electric Company Plants

Columbus, Neb., Oct. 3.—In order to learn how much new machinery is needed to increase the capacity of the light plant of the Northwestern Public Service company here, so that it will be able to handle the rapidly growing demand for electricity, especially in the rural districts, four company engineers are making a complete survey of the properties here. H. M. Robertson, manager for the company, declares that this is part of a general project to be carried on throughout South Dakota and Nebraska along the Northwestern Service company's lines.

Farmers Getting Good Prices for Grain Crops

Beatrice, Oct. 3.—Lyman Bednar, farmer living near Krider, Neb., finished threshing his wheat and oats crops from the stack and received a yield of 40 bushels of wheat to the acre and 50 bushels of oats.

Most of the grain threshed from the stack is being marketed direct to the elevators. Wheat is bringing $1.20 a bushel and oats 45 cents a bushel. Grain dealers predict that it will reach $1.50 a bushel before the first of the year.

Taxes to Be Increased in Shenandoah in 1925

Shenandoah, Ia., Oct. 3.—According to the unofficial figures on the advance tax levy for Shenandoah, taxes will increase 27.8 mills in 1925. The total will be 161.7 as compared to 133.9 for 1924. The taxable property in the city amounts to $950,933. The total millage for Clarinda, the other large town in this county, as given out unofficially at the auditor's office, is 166.1, a reduction from 1924 when it was 200.6.

Married 50 Years.

Beatrice, Oct. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. William Young of Lincoln, formerly of this city, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Thursday at their home in the capital city.

Police Ambulance Spoils Druggist's Snooze, Face Down, on Floor of Shop

Leo Hort, proprietor of a drug store at Sixteenth and Leavenworth street, was so sleepy Friday afternoon that he took 40 winks of shut-eye in a chair beside the stove in the rear of the store.

A customer who came in found him lying face down on the floor, and called police.

When police picked him up to put him in the ambulance, Hort awakened and demanded to know what was going on. He had just been asleep, he protested.

Police insisted that he examine the cash register, and Hort found that it held more money than before he went to sleep. Customers had apparently served themselves and left the money.
