

Get Out and Vote, M'Mullen Urges on Campaign Trip

Republican Candidate Cites Many State Interests Which Need Attention.

Arnold, Neb., Oct. 4.—Adam McMullen, republican candidate for governor, ended the second week of his campaign here tonight. Following his speech, Mr. McMullen drove to North Platte and then took a train to Kearney to meet the Coolidge-Dawes caravan. He will return to North Platte Sunday evening ready for an invasion of the Fifth congressional district next week.

Warm receptions and optimistic reports have been received by Mr. McMullen at every town visited in the last week. The interest taken in his campaign was clearly indicated by the large reception committees at the various towns who met him and in certain instances these committees have accompanied him during the entire day's trip. The McMullen party left Kearney this morning and visited the following towns on the Union Pacific: High Line, Riverdale, Amherst, Miller, Sumner, Eddyville, Oconto, Callaway and Arnold.

A delegation of Kearney republicans escorted the party to the county line. At Riverdale nearly the entire population of the town was on the street to shake hands with Mr. McMullen. At Sumner the band was in the street playing when Mr. McMullen arrived.

The Sumner band includes two members of the American Legion and seven members of the C. F. Radcliffe family. At this town F. A. Millhouse, A. E. Humphrey, Broken Bow; State Senator Charles Allen of Cozad; M. H. Brown, Gothenburg, a candidate for the legislature, and C. J. Weldon met the party.

At Miller Ted Young introduced Mr. McMullen. At Oconto Ir Young was in charge of the meeting. A delegation from Callaway, including S. C. Waldron, R. D. Bryson and E. H. Young, met the party at Oconto and conveyed it to Callaway. Mr. McMullen continued to urge voters to take more interest in politics and turn out at the polls in November. He cited the many state interests which need their attention and study.

"You must watch the development of your waterpower and see that it is developed for your benefit. You have more roads to build. You must decide in what manner you wish to pay for your good roads," Mr. McMullen said.

Lincoln Voter for Coolidge

Supporter of Old Abe Just as Strong This Year for Silent Cal.

Kearney, Neb., Oct. 4.—K. O. Holmes, a pioneer resident of Buffalo county, and also a pioneer merchant of this city, recently saw an article in The Omaha Bee about Arthur P. Wood, an octogenarian who cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln, and expects to vote for Calvin Coolidge.

Mr. Wood's own history, and the history of his ancestors, so closely paralleled that of Mr. Holmes that he could not help speaking about it.

Mr. Wood has voted 40 years in Omaha, while Mr. Holmes has voted 33 years in Kearney.

"There are some remarkable parallels in the life path of Mr. Wood and my own life path," said Mr. Holmes after reading The Bee's story about Mr. Wood.

"He has always voted a straight republican ticket for state and national officers. So have I. Mr. Wood's father was an abolitionist of Belmont county, Ohio. My father was an abolitionist of Belmont county, Ohio. His father was a stockholder in the underground railroad in said county. Likewise was my father in the same county, an active official of a through line for slaves Canada-bound, as was also my grandfather in a much-used line from Eliza's ice floes at Cincinnati to the shores of Lake Erie. Although not stated it is a safe guess his grandfather were the same uniform. Mr. Wood is a Quaker, but has joined the Presbyterians. I have a birthright in the Quaker society, but have not strayed from the 'friends' to any other denomination.

"As Mr. Wood is my senior by five years he can with pride claim to have cast his first vote for president for Abraham Lincoln. He has the start of me there, but while I could not vote in 1860 I did the best I could and stumped southern Iowa for Lincoln in company with Iowa's war governor, Samuel J. Kirkwood. My first impression of Lincoln was received at Galesburg, Ill., during the Douglas-Lincoln debate. As a late arrival I found a seat on the edge of the platform and my hand was just where old Abe's foot came, as he routed the Little Giant by the same sound 'common sense' logic that points Coolidge's way to the White House today.

"Mr. Wood expects to vote for Coolidge and Dawes November 4, 1924. I hope to live to vote that day, too, and see no reason why I should not continue to parallel friend Wood's safe way."

Democrats to Fight Officer's Promotion

Reports that Admiral John K. Robison, chief of the bureau of engineering of the Navy department, is slated for promotion to a rear admiral on the permanent list were followed by announcement from democratic national headquarters that a fight will be made on his confirmation in the senate.

The basis of the opposition is the fact that Admiral Robison was one of the experts whose opinion former Secretary of Navy Denby relied on in connection with naval oil reserve policies.

Omahans to Go to Waterways Meet in Chicago

Plans to Develop Navigation of Missouri River to Be Discussed at Big Banquet.

Plans to develop the inland waterways of the midwest including the Missouri river will be formulated at a banquet and meeting to be held in the Rainbow Gardens, Chicago, on Monday evening. R. C. Druesedow, who has been instrumental in putting across the plan for Nebraska and western Iowa will head the delegation of 10 Omahans and Nebraskans who will attend. More than 2,500 places have already been reserved for the meeting, according to Mr. Druesedow. Speeches at the banquet will be broadcast by radio. Ex-Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago will be chairman of the meeting. Last August Mayor Thompson sent a boat from Chicago to the South Sea Isles to test the probability of a boat traveling from Chicago to any port in the world. The plan for the inland waterways development will include the Ohio, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Missouri rivers. The meeting will be a non-partisan affair, said Druesedow. More than 200 congressmen will be present including Congressmen Rainey, Hull and Senator Randall of Louisiana.

DEN DECORATED BY LOCAL FIRM

One of the outstanding features of the Ak-Sar-Ben ball was the attractive decorating of the den executed by J. L. Brandeis & Sons under the direction of W. G. Colling, head of the interior decorating department. All construction work was hidden under southern amaranth and the sea of green was tasseled with green and blue bulbs of light. The colors of the costumes worn by the court were assembled to correspond with the scheme of decoration.
